which is built entirely underground. A double-turbine having a capacity of 42,000 h.p. operates a gigantic generator.

Complementary work is still in progress for the harnessing of the waters of streams in the vicinity. Once this job has been accomplished, which will probably be very soon, then the total production of electric power by the Oberhasli power plants will attain 1,225 million of kilowatt hours per year.

NEW PROVISIONS IN THE SWISS LAW ON THE OLD AGE, WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' INSURANCE

The local Consulate of Switzerland wishes to draw attention to certain new provisions as contained in the Decree of the Swiss Federal Council, dated April 9th, 1954, with respect to Swiss nationals residing abroad.

A woman who had lost her Swiss citizenship through marriage to an alien before 1953, but has since regained it by virtue of the new law on Swiss nationality, is at liberty to join the Swiss Old Age Insurance as a voluntary member. The adherence would have to be declared within one year from the date of the reintegration into Swiss citizenship. However, if the reintegration was granted before January 1st, 1954, the term for enrolment expires on December 31st, 1954. (Sec. 8.)

A Swiss woman who has become widowed or divorced after December 31st, 1951, has the opportunity to enrol in the said insurance. Such a person would have to declare her adherence within one year from the date of her husband's death or from the date of the divorce. For a woman who became widowed or divorced between December 31st, 1951, and January 1st, 1954, the term for adhering to the said insurance extends to December 31st, 1954. (Sec. 9.)

A woman who has been insured while still single may continue her membership provided that she signs a new declaration within one year after her marriage. (Sec. 10.)

A Swiss citizen of either sex may declare his or her adherence to the insurance at any time prior to attaining the age of 31 years. (Sec. 7.)

Any Swiss national or "Dual" national interested in this matter may obtain further information by contacting the CONSULATE OF SWITZERLAND, P.O. Box 386, WELLINGTON, C.1.

Farm Exports Declined in 1953

Final figures now available show that during 1953 milk production in Switzerland was higher by 4.4 per cent. than in the preceding 12 months. This surplus was absorbed partly through direct consumption and partly through the manufacture of yoghurt, butter and cheese.

Cheese production rose nearly 7 per cent. in comparison with the previous year. Exports of cheese, however, declined to a considerable extent, whereas those of condensed milk increased by 4.4 per cent. Viewed as a whole, exports of agricultural produce fell 2 per cent. from the 1952 level.

On the other hand, imports of products for the use of agriculture, such as fertilisers, seeds, fodder and machines, increased. They amounted for the whole of 1953 to the sum of SFr. 260,000,000, exceeding the figure for the previous year by approximately SFr. 30,000,000.
