A young man entered a grocer's shop in the Spitalstrasse Lucerne, where he purchased several articles. When the proprietress of the shop, a Mrs. Mathilde Lustenberger, turned her back to the customer in order to get some of the goods, he suddenly attacked her, trying to choke her, and also wounding her with a knife. Although badly hurt, the woman was able to call for help, upon which the aggressor decamped. He was later on arrested and identified as Pius, Gottfried Küng, of Küssnacht. (Rigi). [A.T.S.]

The Grand Council met in solemn session at the beautifully decorated town hall, where the President of the government of the canton of Berne, Mr. Dewet Burri, in his opening address referred to the historical significance of this event.

Amongst the distinguished guests attending the sitting were noticed Federal-Councillor Feldmann (Bernese), two former Federal-Councillors hailing from the canton of Berne, namely R. Minger and E. von Steiger, and a number of high ranking military commanders under whom Bernese units are serving, headed by army-corps commander Corbat.

M. R. Vuillemin, (Tramelan) Vice-President of the Council, spoke in French, reviewing the relationship between Berne and the Jura in the past; referring briefly to the separatist movement, he said, concluding his speech: "Je suis convaincu que c'est vers une entente digne de l'esprit suisse, que c'est vers un heureux et clair avenir que nous marchons ensemble, nous, citoyens de cet Etat, quelles que soient notre origine, notre langue maternelle et notre confession. Que Dieu bénisse notre canton et ses deux peuples uni! Qu'il bénisse l'alliance entre nous et tous les Confédérés! Qu'il protège notre belle et chère patrie, la Suisse! The Swiss Federal Railways have sent a modern ornamental wall clock of superb craftsmanship as a gift to Indian Railways on the occasion of the Indian Railway Centenary on April 16. The clock was presented at a ceremony in New Delhi on March 6 by Dr. Max Graessli, Swiss Minister in India, and was received by Mr. O. V. Alagesan, Deputy Minister for Railways & Transport, on behalf of Indian Railways. The Swiss Minister expressed the admiration of Switzerland, and particularly of the Swiss Federal Railways, for the remarkable progress made by Indian railways during the last century. The Deputy Railway Minister, reciprocating the sentiments expressed by the Swiss envoy, added that India considered the gift as a token of the friendship and affection in which she was held by Switzerland.

(including also baggage, mail, and express parcels) at fr. 372,792,000, a drop of 3 per cent. Total receipts for 1952 were fr. 733,458,000 (against fr. 715,483,118 for the preceding year) and total working expenditure fr. 519,847,000 (fr. 501,112,402). The working surplus for 1952 therefore was very slightly lower than for 1951.

The decline in freight receipts is attributed to a contraction in imports and to road competition and to a drop in coal traffic in transit from Germany to Italy, though fruit and vegetable transit traffic from Italy and Spain increased. The rise in working expenses was due to increased material prices and staff expenditure.

The presence and exploitation of oil deposits in Switzerland were the subject of a question in the National Council or Second Chamber of the Swiss Parliament. The Government replied that the matter was being carefully examined by them though experimental borings so far had been fruitless. Drillings made in various regions — namely, in cantons Vaud Fribourg, Lucerne, Ticino, gave no decisive results except in Ticino, where one boring was now supplying small quantities of methane, and in Canton Vaud, near Yverdon, where a drilling carried to a depth of over 4,000ft. struck small deposits of oil very inferior in quality.

A return of cold weather, with snow again covering the lower regions of central and eastern Switzerland, has made the fate of thousands of migratory birds, already arrived from southern countries, precarious. The Swiss ornithological centre at Sempach has broadcast an appeal to the public to feed, in particular, the thrushes, starlings, larks, and various sorts of waders, as these birds cannot find their usual food.

SWISSAIR OUTPUT IN 1952.

In 1952, the total returns of Swissair have risen to 67.5 million francs. Compared with 58.3 million francs in the previous year, this represents a 16% increase. This increase of total returns is, however, off-set by considerable additional expenditure, as a result of the increased cost of material and personnel. More than 3 million francs have been spent in 1952 for training purposes. In view of the expected delivery of three additional long-distance aircraft, it was necessary for Swissair to set aside large sums in advance.

The tendency of a certain stabilising in the rise of traffic, which can be clearly seen from last year's aviation statistics, could also be confirmed within Swissair. In comparison with the very rapid development in previous years, our national airline has shown a slight slackening of transport results in 1952. It can even be stated that the figures for flown kilometers dropped by 1.5%. This can be explained as being due to flying difficulties, caused by the American oil strike in May and June last year, the cancelling of flights on certain routes in Europe and Persian Gulf territory, as well as a considerable shortage of crews. However, thanks to the operation of larger aircraft, the offered kilometers could be increased from 34.3 million in 1951 to 38.1 million, or an increase of 11.2%. There has also been considerable progress in all other traffic and business results. There has been an increase of 9.3% in freight transport, 35.6% in mail, and 3.8% in transported passengers. The comparatively small increase in passengers transport can be explained by the decrease of the travel allowance for English tourists, and to the reduced number of lines to the Near East, due to the political situation there. The distribution of ton/kilometers rendered on the three Swissair networks, Europe, Near East and U.S.A. shows that the oversea flights to New York result in nearly one third of the total transport performance of Swissair. The total, therefore, is divided as follows:
