BIBLIOGRAPHIE NAGĪB MAḤFŪZ

Stephan Guth, Bern

Die Forschung zum literarischen (und teils auch zum filmischen) Schaffen des Trägers des Literatur-Nobelpreises 1988 Nagīb Maḥfūz, zu seinem Leben und Wirken, insbesondere auch zu den 'Affären' Awlād ḥāritnā/ḥāratinā und dem islamistischen Attentat auf sein Leben (1994), ist auch nach seinem Tode am 30. August 2006 sicherlich noch nicht abgeschlossen, im Gegenteil: man wird nun bald mit einigen neuen Publikationen zu rechnen haben. Doch wenn es richtig ist, dass mit Maḥfūz' Ableben eine ganze Ära ägyptischer, ja, arabischer Erzählkunst zu Ende gegangen ist – wie einige Literaturkritiker und -wissenschaftler behaupten –, so ist es wohl durchaus angebracht, an diesem Einschnitt (nach der anderen grossen Zäsur, der Nobelpreisverleihung, nach welcher bereits einige Bibliographien erschienen sind) eine weitere Zwischenbilanz zu ziehen.

Die hier vorgelegte Bibliographie berücksichtigt bei den Primärtexten (Erzählwerken) auch die bislang vorliegenden Übersetzungen ins Deutsche (jeweils nur die Erstpublikationen). Für Übersetzungen ins Englische siehe insbesondere Altoma, Salih J.: "Translating Najib Mahfuz: His place in American publications". In: id., Modern Arabic literature in translation: A companion, London: Saqi, 2005, 21–53.

Eine recht umfassende Auswahl bietet jedoch auch bereits die von der Bibliothek der Amerikanischen Universität in Kairo ins Internet gestellte Seite:

AUC Libraries: "Naguib Mahfouz: A select bibliography". <<http://library.aucegypt.edu/guides/mahfuz.htm>> (undatiert).

In der Bibliographie der Sekundärliteratur wurden neben Monographien nur wissenschaftliche oder wissenschaftsnahe Zeitschriften berücksichtigt (einige Ausnahmen bestätigen die 'Regel'). Bei der insbesondere nach der Nobelpreisverleihung ins kaum mehr Überschaubare angestiegenen Zahl der Publikationen kann freilich keinerlei Anspruch auf Vollständigkeit erhoben werden. Während arabische Monographien relativ einfach bibliographiert werden konnten, war es über die gut dokumentierte Zeitschrift für Vergleichende Literaturwissenschaft Alif (Amerikanische Universität Kairo) hinaus nicht möglich, arabische Zeit-schriften zu berücksichtigen, da hierfür umfangreiche und zeitintensive Recherchen an verschiedenen europäischen Bibliotheken und in Archiven vor Ort nötig gewesen wären. Dieses grosse Defizit wird erst eine Spezialstudie über die innerarabische Maḥfūz-Rezeption wettmachen können. Einen ersten und vorläufigen Eindruck mag dennoch bereits erhalten, wer die Bibliographie der ägyptischen Nationalbibliothek konsultiert (s. unten, II.1.a s.v. “Dār al-kutub wa’l-waṭā’iq al-qawmiyya”, oder III. unter “2003”).

Für die Anordnung der Studien wurde eine dublizierende Darstellung gewählt, alle Titel tauchen zweimal auf. Im ersten Durchgang werden sie synchron betrachtet, wobei es mir sinnvoll erschien, hier in kürzere und längere Arbeiten (Artikel vs. Monographien und Dissertationen) zu untergliedern und bei den Monographien ausserdem die einheimische (arabisch-sprachige) und die “externe” Forschung gesondert zu betrachten. (Aus Mangel an arabisch-sprachigen Zeitschriftenbeiträgen – siehe oben – wurde auf diese Unterscheidung in Abschnitt II.2.b dann allerdings verzichtet.) Im zweiten Durchgang wurde nach dem Erscheinungsjahr der Studien sortiert, um eine diachrone Betrachtung zu ermöglichen.

Die Bibliographie soll hier unkommentiert bleiben. Es wird die Aufgabe späterer Arbeiten sein, die Maḥfūz-Forschung als solche zu beschreiben. Die vorliegende Sammlung möge hierzu als erste Grundlage dienen.
