The Association in brief

The Association for Financial History (Switzerland and Principality of Liechtenstein) was founded in 1990 and initially concentrated on aspects of banking history. In 2000 it broadened its scope to include the insurance industry, and is now dedicated to comprehensive historical and archive-related examinations of the financial sector in Switzerland and the Principality of Liechtenstein.

The Associations aims are

- to promote research into financial history in Switzerland and the Principality of Liechtenstein;
- to support research into relevant subjects;
- to make the results of financial historical research available to academia, financial institutions and the general public by means of publications, lectures and events;
- to help financial institutions keep hold of their valuable documents, manage their information and build up their archives;
- to promote contact and dialogue between financial specialists and historians and to encourage cooperation with researchers into financial history in other countries.
