Acknowledgments

We wish to thank the botanists of the Missouri Botanical Garden's Madagascar Program for their assistance in collecting specimens of Abrahamia, in particular Fortunat Rakotoarivony, Nivo Rakotoarivelو, Aina Razanatsima, Tefy Andriamihajarivo, Tabita Randrianarivony and Monique Randriatsivory, as well as Ny Lafatra Ravalomanarivo for specimen and data management. The first author would like to express his special thanks to Zachary Rogers and Peter Phillipson for their valuable assistance and advice on a wide variety of subjects relating to this project. We are grateful to Roger Lala Andriamiarisoa and Barbara Alongi for the beautiful illustrations. We also wish to thank the staff at the Herbier National at the Muséum National d'Histoire Naturelle in Paris for their hospitality and assistance during the first author's visits, and we are grateful to the staff of the two national herbaria in Madagascar (TAN and TEF) for allowing us to examine their specimens. We express thanks to John Mitchell, Susan Pell, and Martin Callmander for valuable comments and suggestions on the manuscript that resulted in its improvement. We are also grateful to Patrick Perret for his attentive reading of the proofs and Laurent Gautier for his assistance with the French identification key. Finally we thank Matthieu Berthod for the expertly done layout of this volume. Field work was conducted under the collaborative agreements between the Missouri Botanical Garden and the Parc Botanique et Zoologique de Tsimbazaza, and the Ministère de l'Environnement, de l'Ecologie, de la Mer et des Forêts. We gratefully acknowledge courtesies extended by the Government of Madagascar and by Madagascar National Parks. This research was conducted with support of the National Geographic Society (grant no. 8818-10 and 9401-13 to AR), the William L. Brown Center of the Missouri Botanical Garden, and the U.S. National Science Foundation (grant no. DEB-0743355 to GES and PPL).
