NEUJAHR-SONNE

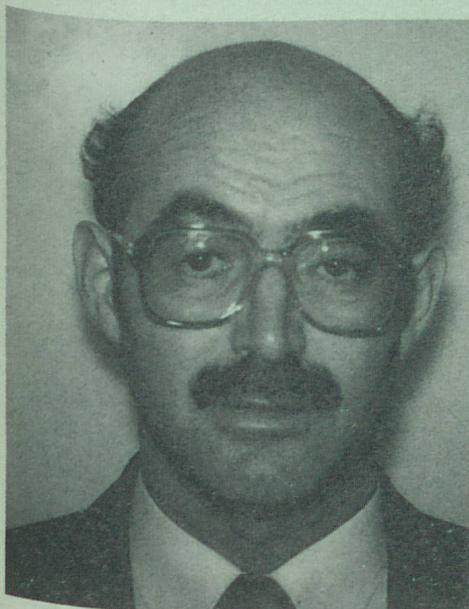

Sonne im Alltag.
 Sonne durchdringt Nebel.
 Sonne schenkt Freude und Hoffnung.
 Sonne wärmt Herzen und Hände.
 Wir wünschen allen viel Sonne im neuen Jahr!
 Was man aufschiebt, schiebt man ab.
 Wo Grenzen sind, wird gerne geschmuggelt.
 Druckfehler fallen oft mehr auf als Denkfehler.
 Nur der stille Weiher widerspiegelt die Sterne.
 Die Sonne scheint immer – auch wenn man sie nicht sieht.
 Wer sich im Alter wärmen will, muss in der Jugend einen Ofen bauen.
 Begabungen sind Geschenke, die ausgepackt werden wollen.
 Manche Hähne glauben, die Sonne gehe ihretwegen auf.
 Wer heute nichts tut, lebt morgen wie gestern.
 Wer die Ohren zuhält, hat die Hände nicht frei.
 Die Sonne scheint auch durch kleine Fenster.
 Nicht das Viele ist gut, aber das Gute viel.

Best wishes for Christmas and a happy, prosperous New Year to all our readers.

PUBLICATIONS

BLUE GUIDE SWITZERLAND (Blue Guides Series)

The fourth edition of Blue Guide Switzerland, a very comprehensive guide in English, has just been published. Entirely re-written after being out of print for several decades, it runs to 345 pages and covers the country in detail in 46 routes. It also includes a number of specially commissioned introductory articles on Swiss history, ecology, mountaineering etc., and town plans and illustrations. Although its dramatic landscape is described, the emphasis is on Switzerland's cultural heritage, and the numerous remarkable museums which may be visited are fully covered.

The guide, edited by Ian Robertson, who was supported in his research by the Swiss Council for the Arts Pro Helvetia, is published by: A & C Black (Publishers) Ltd., 35 Bedford Row, London WC1R 4JH. Tel: 01-242 0946.

STORIES FOR CHILDREN by Peter Bichsel

Peter Bichsel's "Kindergeschichten", translated into English by Michael Hamburger, the fine translator of so many a Swiss author's works, has been published by Marion Boyars Publishers and is available from: Stephen Brockbank, c/o Marion Boyars Publishers Ltd., 24 Lacy Road, London SW15. Tel: 01-788 9522. (ISBN 0689-3 Paper) at £4.95.

"Beneath the apparent simplicity of these stories lies a fund of wisdom. We read of the man who isn't entirely sure that the world is round and decides to find out for himself; the man who invents a new language by calling everyday things by different names; the man who goes into seclusion, invents such things as the telephone, and emerges only to discover that he has been pre-empted at every turn.

Peter Bichsel's work has won him great acclaim in German-speaking countries and he has been a winner of the prestigious Gruppe 47 prize.

Swiss-Style opening for Flats

A new sheltered housing scheme for the elderly in Marylebone had a Swiss-style opening on October 21, 1987.

Glarus Court, Stalbridge Street, a joint venture of Westminster City Council and a private developer, was officially launched by Junior Housing Minister Marion Roe.

The scheme is named after the Canton of Glarus in Switzerland and the opening ceremony had a Swiss flavour. People in Swiss national costume joined the celebrations, and Swiss food was served.

The Swiss link was first formed three years ago during Westminster's Quatercentenary celebrations, when the people of Switzerland dedicated the glockenspiel, in Leicester Square, to the City of Westminster. The City Council established close ties with Switzerland and an informal twinning of the 23 Cantons with the wards of Westminster was arranged. The Church Street ward, in which the new sheltered housing is situated, was twinned with the Canton of Glarus.

Glarus Court comprised 19 flats overlooking a central courtyard and gardens.

Built by Tay Developments Limited in a barter arrangement with Westminster Council, the scheme includes a communal lounge, kitchen and laundry facilities and has a resident warden. Each flat is linked to the 24-hour emergency intercom system, used in all Westminster's sheltered housing.

The scheme was designed by London architects Lazenby and Smith.

Switzerland's Jollyball (Pin-Ball Machine)

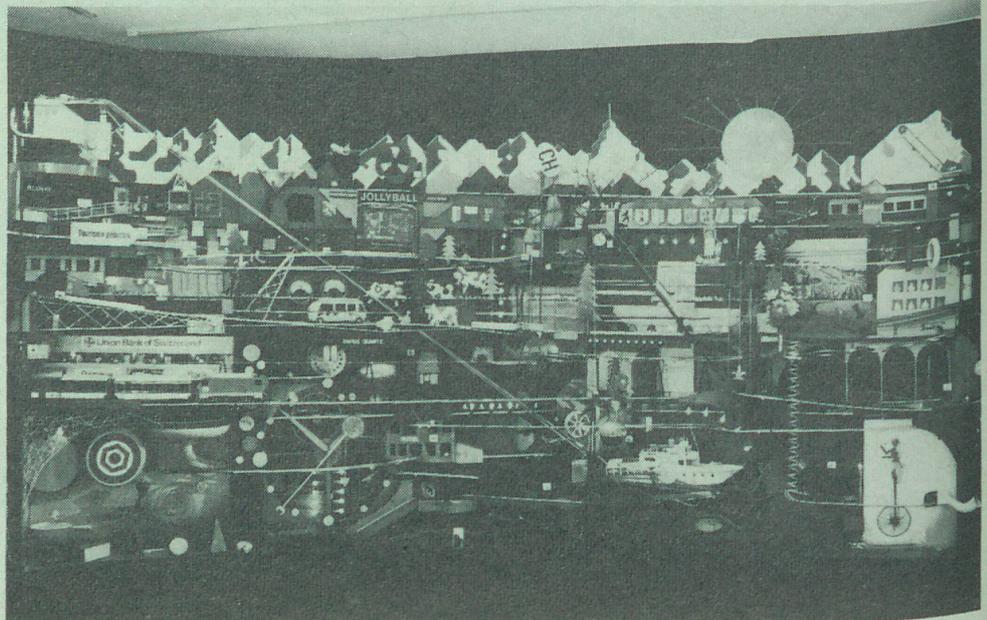

The Swiss National Tourist Office is being entered in the Guinness Book of Records for the construction of the largest Flipper (Pin-Ball Machine) in the world. This automatic toy machine measures 4.80m x 2.20m x 1.70m.

A steel ball - representing a tourist to Switzerland - will travel through this country and experience its manifold attractions in a lighthearted way. Like any self respecting tourist, the ball is hoisted up to snowy summits by funicular. From there, it skitters around 52 meters of track, past a tunnel, and into a train. It then scoots past mountain scenery, triggering tinkling cow bells and alpine horns. The "Tourist" Ball transfers to a yellow postal coach that sets off with a tootle. After a stir through cheese fondue, a spin through clockworks, a sample of chocolate, a boat trip and a discreet visit to a bank, the "Tourist" is ready to tumble into the warm welcome of a Swiss chalet.

This amusing spoof of a trip through Switzerland has been constructed by Charles Morgan, 36, an Englishman from Romford living in Vevey in the French part of Switzerland. He put an entire year's work into this venture.

Switzerland's Jollyball Machine will be exhibited in Great Britain at: Swiss Centre, London 8th-31st December 1987.

Association of British Members of the Swiss Alpine Club News

Alpine Meet – August 1987

The Annual Alpine Meet was held at Champex during August. Some 80 Members and their Guests attended, several allowing themselves the luxury of a whole month's holiday. Activities ranged from swimming and boating to walking and climbing. The Meet "headquarters" was in the Chalet en Plein Air where all came together for the evening meal. The weather was variable, without a settled period but with plenty of sunny days here and there, but during the last week of August it was just plain bad with floods, landslips etc. None the less there were few days on which it was not possible to be out and about. Climbing was restricted by the weather and the snow conditions, but some 50 ascents were made. Walks varied from a gentle amble around the lake, to energetic scrambles and chain climbing en route to the mountain huts above the Val Ferret and to the Tour of Mont Blanc.

UK Activities

Other summer and early autumn activities included the popular Scrambles Meet in June at which we were pleased to meet Mr. Welti from the Swiss Embassy in London, a "get-fit" Meet in the Lakes in July, the regular October Buffet Party at Patterdale, now in its tenth year and as popular as ever, and the Alpine Meet Reunion, an entertaining slide show at the Alpine Club, London. Scottish weather is often unreliable, but the Spring Meet in the Western Highlands was lucky.

1988

The Alpine Meet for 1988 is planned for Sass-Fee. UK activities will be similar to those in 1987. A party from the SAC Diablerets Section plan to visit North Wales and the Lakes (Patterdale) in August. The ABMSAC hopes to welcome more Swiss visitors and UK residents to its Meetings and outdoor Meets. Please make contact through the SNT0 in London.

Best wishes to all our friends for 1988.

Swiss Rifle Association trip to Montana & Kandersteg

Since the ex-secretary of our Association – Brian Kett – retired with his family to Crans-Montana three years ago, our Club has enjoyed friendly matches with the Societe de Tir Montana. Last year, Montana visited us at Bisley Camp and this year, it was our turn to visit their mountain resort for a return match.

We were picked up from our hotel at 8.30 a.m. on the 1st August and drove in convoy to Montana Village where the match took place. The Montana Club fielded a strong team – too strong for our shooters, who were somewhat handicapped by having to use borrowed rifles and a rather un-accustomed range. Even the stimulus of 'Coffee Schnaps' half way through the morning failed to rally the Auslandschweizer! However, undaunted, at 11.30 a.m., we set off once again to a delightful lakeside restaurant, owned by a Montana Club member, to enjoy a glass or two of the local wine and to toast their victory. The hospitality of our hosts included a picnic lunch – Raclette – cooked on barbecue fires in the woods surrounding the Lac de Chermignon. This was followed by the prize giving ceremony, when everyone in the London team was presented with two commemorative glasses. This delightful day came to an end about 5 p.m. to enable everyone to prepare for the 1st August celebrations in the evening.

The next day, feeling somewhat fragile after the previous night's revelry, our intrepid shooters set off into the next valley to the charming village of Kandersteg to enjoy a small bore match with the Kleinkaliberschuetzen of Kandersteg. The disappointing results were more than made up for by the friendliness shown to us by everyone and the warm welcome and hospitality extended by the staff of the Hotel Bluemlisalp.

Swiss Club Bristol

Earlier in the year we were invited to the home of Frieda Grimes for a "gemütliches zusammensein" and to be shown how to make a Zuger Kirschtorte. Frieda is quite an expert at creating the delicious Zuger Kirschtorte, which we have all had a chance to sample at previous functions, and we had great fun watching her demonstration. In May a get together at Holy Trinity Church Hall, where George and Charles, friends of Anne Gowland's took us on a conducted tour of Switzerland with the aid of Charles' beautiful slides. It was a most enjoyable evening during which we also held a Bring & Buy sale and a raffle.

In July we went on an evening cruise on the river Avon around Bristol's floating harbour with its attractive new developments. Saturday, 1st August - once again we met at Wotton-under-Edge, home of Harry and Frieda Grimes. This time an afternoon walk took us to the Tyndale monument (he translated the bible into English), where we enjoyed some spectacular views before returning to the Grimes' beautiful garden for a picnic and jolly get together!

Special Birthday Greetings

Congratulations to Emil Krapf who will be 95 years old on 8th December. Wishing you many happy returns of the day.

It is with deep regret that we announce the death of Anna Gowland on 11th August 1987. Anna died peacefully after a long illness at the age of 73. She was a very active member of the Swiss Club Bristol and for many years enjoyed running the Bring & Buy stall at our functions.

The New Provisions of the Swiss Civil Code

How do they affect Swiss Nationals living in England?

The changes to the Swiss Civil Code which will come into force on January 1st 1988 are very relevant to most Swiss nationals living in this country.

The provisions of Swiss law regarding matrimonial assets and successions apply to all persons whom English law regards as DOMICILED in Switzerland. It is important to realise that the notion of domicile according to English law is very complex and totally different from the notion of domicile according to Swiss law. It must not be confused with residence.

Although every case is different, in practice it is likely that most Swiss nationals who were born in Switzerland and have come to England as adults, while retaining strong links with Switzerland and intending to return to live there eventually, have retained their Swiss domicile. To them, the provisions of the Civil Code on matrimonial assets and successions do apply, at least as far as English law is concerned.

As far as Swiss nationals are concerned, succession to immovable property (house, flat) situated in Switzerland is also governed by Swiss law, regardless of whether their domicile is Swiss or English.

One of the most important points to take into account is the fact that while English law allows almost total freedom to the testator to dispose of his or her assets, this is not the case under Swiss law, where the testator's spouse and children (even if they are adults) are entitled to a fixed portion of the estate.

Swiss nationals who have acquired an English domicile may elect (in a will) to have their succession governed by Swiss law.

All Swiss nationals, even if they are domiciled in England, may make a valide WILL in Swiss form.
