Montreal

New Swiss School

On September 13, 1988, a group of Montreal parents of Swiss origin, hosted by the Consul General of Switzerland, Mr. Théodore Portier, appointed a steering committee for the possible foundation of a Complementary Swiss School. The Committee mailed out questionnaires and evaluated replies, prepared budgets, looked for classroom space and wrote the bylaws for the new «Ecole complémentaire suisse de Montréal Inc.».

Classes will begin on Saturday, January 14, 1989, with some 35 children already pre-registered, who will be taught geography and history of Switzerland in both French and German. Additionally, German language instructions will be available for beginners or advanced students. Three qualified Swiss teachers will instruct the grade 1 to 9 Swiss program for these subjects.

For information, please contact Ms. Barbara Enderle at (514) 397-0540 between 10.00 a.m. and noon, or Mrs. Katharina Turcot-Walti at (514) 486-6640.

Looking back

Looking back on 1988 one can only ask where did the time go. Far too many things to do and not enough time to do it. As we made a number of trips to other clubs, Calgary and Kamloops, we short changed ourselves by not replacing these dates with new shooting days. In the end many shooter had to scramble in order to finish his club championship program, including yours truly. Like many other member, I too participate in more than one discipline, rifle, pistol and crossbow. You can see that the Sunday trip to our range makes for a busy day.

Most enjoyable were our yearend shoots: the Consul Cup and the Saushoot. The Consul Cup is a form of knock out shoot, one on one which has produced many a surprise. It has not been won by the same shooter twice, and this year a «B-shooter», Dave Collins, won the final with a perfect score.

The Saushoot has been our close-out event for many years and enjoys great participation, since everybody receives a piece of meat. There is no limit on the number of repeats, and the second score breaks the ties. Many a shooter goes home with some very expensive pork chops. But its a lot more fun than going to the meat store. We were also treated to an excellent supper of «Reh-pfeffer and Spätzli», expertly prepared by a visitor from Switzerland, Mrs. Rose Moser, Restaurant Storchen, Weinfeldten.

1988 was a great year and a big thank you must go to all the volunteers who gave a lot of their free time to make my job a lot easier and enjoyable. Congratulations to our club champions and all those who achieved personal goals. To all I wish much success in 1989.

Mit dem Velo quer durch Kanada

Mit dem Velo quer durch Kanada reiste im vergangenen Sommer der Auslandschweizer Ron Dossenbach. Vom 30. Juli bis 13. August 1988 pedalte der 34jährige, der im kanadischen Windsor lebt, von Vancouver am Pazifik nach Halifax am Atlantik. Für die 5966 Kilometer brauchte er genau 13 Tage, 15 Stunden und vier Minuten. Damit war er um 31 Stunden und 43 Minuten schneller als der bisherige Rekordhalter sechs Jahre zuvor. Dossenbach radelte 18 bis 21 Stunden pro Tag durchschnittlich 430 Kilometer, schlief lediglich anderthalb bis vier Stunden und ernährte sich mit flüssiger Spezialnahrung. Der Lohn für diese Tortur: Ron Dossenbach wird 1990 ins Guinness-Buch der Rekorde eingetragen werden.

Trockener Sommer

Das beliebte jährliche Juni-Picknick von 1988 brachte wie immer die Leute von Stadt und Land auf besonders glückliche Weise zusammen. Natürlich trug die fröhliche Gastfreundschaft der Farmfamilie Hug allerseits zur guten Laune bei. Alle genossen wir auch die feinen Salate und Backwaren aus verschiedenen Küchen. Dieses Picknick gefiel vielen Leuten so gut, dass der Wunsch nach Wiederholung wach wurde, und dies führte zu zwei weiteren Sonntagsgesamtenkünften, diesmal auf der Farm von Familie Schwendemann. Unsere Gespräche drehten sich wiederholt um die Wirkungen der herrschenden Trockenheit. Mit Besorgnis beobachteten auch die Städter, wie verkümmert die Weizenfelder aussahen, und wir verstanden bald, dass jede sommerliche Wolke eine kleine Hoffnung auf Regen auslöste. Dass gegen Ende des trockenen Sommers Wetterwitze zirkulierten, lässt auf den unverwüstlichen Humor der tapferen Landbevölkerung schliessen. Wo es überhaupt Ernten gab, fielen sie sehr mager aus. Es ist ein Glück, dass hier die meisten schweizstämmigen Bauern Milchwirtschaft betreiben und somit nicht von der Getreideernte allein abhängig sind.

Unsere Bundesfeier, die wir auf den Abend des 6. August verschoben hatten, wurde durch ungewöhnliche regnerische Kälte beeinträchtigt. Die Teilnehmer flohen ins Haus der Familie Grassmann, um sich bei Kaffee und Kuchen zu wärmen.

Für unsere jährliche Generalversammlung mit Nachtessen im Oktober ist uns das Wetter gewöhnlich gut gesinnt, 1988 war keine

Birthday of one of our Western Pioneers

Oswald Igini: 90 years old

It is with great joy and pride that we celebrate the ninetieth birthday of our lively member, Oswald Igini.

Oswald was born on November 20, 1898, in Oensingen, in the Canton of Solothurn in Switzerland. After a rather eventful childhood, which included the death of his father when he was a mere six years old, his courageous mother brought him and his only sister to Canada in December 1915.

The young man, who came to Canada reluctantly, went on to prosper here in every way. Oswald Igini and his wife Alice, who have been married for 62 years, have 9 children, 16 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

Oswald owns a successful farm in Biggar and no doubt had to adapt to tremendous changes in farming and marketing techniques throughout the years. To this day he runs his farm by himself and as in all the years before, mounted the tractor to take in the harvest this last fall. We were told he also can fix watches and I know he reads in English, German and French. But the most striking thing about him is his highly alert bright mind. His stories, whether they refer to old times where he displays an incredible memory, or whether they are new, they all show his keen interest in the causes and details of events as well as a genuine interest in his fellow man.

Our hearts are going out to congratulate Oswald Igini and to convey our best wishes. He is an inspiration to us all.

Cinéma

«A Corps perdu», de Léa Pool

Vertiges de l'amour

Son dernier film le prouve d'éclatante façon: Léa Pool, cinéaste suisse exilée à Montréal, est bien l'oncle d'Amérique du cinéma suisse.

Par un bienheureux paradoxe, il aura fallu que Léa Pool porte Yves Navarre à l'écran pour affirmer définitivement sa stature d'auteur dans le cinéma européen, ou plutôt mondial, puisque cette Suisse est établie à Montréal depuis 1975. Son «Kurwenal», très légitimement rebaptisé «A Corps perdu», n'est rien d'autre qu'une œuvre totalement personnelle et profondément sincère, bref, un film précieux, de souffle et d'émotion.

Parce que les œuvres véritables se constituent à coups de redites, «A Corps perdu» reconduit les thèmes qu'«Anne Trister», réalisé en 1985, avait empoignés. La mort, la dérive, la nostalgie de l'enfance, l'idéal impossible d'un amour hétéro et homosexuel, enfin, s'y conjuguent dans une cohérence que jamais n'affecte la morbidité. Léa Pool n'est pas quelque sous-Fassbinder, mais une cinéaste chez laquelle existence et démarche artistique sont très intimement liées, et puis, on commençait de le deviner au spectacle d'«Anne Trister», elle est aussi une grande faiseuse d'images.

Si la mort du père inaugurerait la dérive d'«Anne Trister», c'est une double perte qui conditionne le démarrage d'«A Corps perdu». Perte de l'assurance d'abord: au Nicaragua, où il est parti y exercer son métier de reporter-photographe, Pierre Kurwenal (Matthias Habich) rencontre l'horreur et du même coup, la honte. Surpris à fixer sur la pellicule la mort d'un enfant abattu par des militaires, il est traité d'«assassin» par sa mère. Kurwenal ne digérera pas cette embarrassante remise en question... Perte de l'être aimé ensuite: revenu à Montréal, Kurwenal découvre que Sarah (Johanne-Marie Trembley) et David (Michel Voita), l'homme et la femme de sa vie, ont quitté l'appartement qu'ils partageaient, en un trio idéal, depuis des années. Il ne s'en remettra pas... Le décor est posé, les blessures infligées, «A «Corps perdu» a trouvé son sujet: la dérive, la chute, puis, à l'horizon, peut-être, le lent travail de reconstruction d'un homme doucement meurtri: «assésino» et assassiné. Dérive, donc: Kurwenal tente d'abord de refuser l'évidence. Obsédé par les images – ses photographies, toutes signées en réalité par cet humaniste qu'est Luc Chessex – du bonheur ancien, il tente d'ultimes et désespérées (ré)conciliations. En vain, David et Sarah, enceinte de David, ont décidé de vivre en couple, non pas pour se «ranger», mais parce que l'utopie (poolienne?) d'une conjugalité hétéro et homosexuelle leur était devenue impraticable.

Kurwenal commence alors de se laisser aller à une dégringolade existentielle que le succès de ses photos du Nicaragua, promises au Pulitzer, rend plus pitoyable encore. Inlassablement, compulsivement, Kurwenal photographie ce couple qui lui échappe, et cette ville de Montréal qui lui est devenue étrangère, zone sinistrée, tant elle était associée à Sarah et David. Ultime garde-fou, la rencontre d'un jeune sourd-muet (Jean-François Pichette) retient encore, l'espace de quelques instants d'oubli, ce noyé à la surface de la vie, avant de ne plus rien pouvoir empêcher. Son reportage déprimé et dépressif achevé, Kurwenal rejoint une maison de repos, comme un enfant perdu, à bout de forces et autistique. L'homme d'action, l'habitué des champs de bataille, s'est mué en interné volontaire, en demandeur d'asile...

On ne racontera pas l'issue de cette régression. Disons simplement que Léa Pool n'a pas de complaisance particulière pour le genre, ou l'esthétique, du pire. Il faut dire plutôt l'intelligence et la beauté de la mise en image du propos. Un exemple peut suffire à illustrer ces vertus. Décidée à donner à voir les tentations suicidaires de Kurwenal, Léa

Matthias Habich, Johanne-Marie Trembley et Michel Voïta

Pool les a signifiées par d'incroyables images d'un espace urbain pétrifié et glacial qui reproduisent très exactement ces vertiges – qu'on dit «mentaux» – accompagnant les grandes et terribles angoisses. C'est très fort et cela fait froid dans le dos. Les comédiens, évidemment, n'échappent pas à ce déferlement de puissance émotionnelle. Matthias Habich, acteur alémanique attiré de Peter Brook, parvient à tout exprimer sans ne jamais se départir d'un jeu «rentré» façon Lee Strasberg, alors que le Veveysan Michel Voïta, qui sonnait un peu faux dans «Jenatsch», trouve ici la première équivalence cinématographique de ses dispositions pour la scène théâtrale. Tout cela est donc fort réjouissant, même si quelques effets de mode s'insèrent insidieusement dans cette œuvre admirablement maîtrisée. On en retiendra un: la rupture de David et Kurwenal devant un aquarium, avec dauphins et orques en prime. Que le roman de Navarre ait exigé ou non cette situation, cette imagerie néo-Cousteau commence vraiment à encombrer les écrans. Antoine Jaccoud

It crowns your coffee with the golden crest which only appears if the pressure is just right. The electromagnetic high-performance pump ensures that the pressure level is always right. And the thermostatically controlled continuous heater raises the water temperature to the perfect level for aromatic coffee at its very best. Both of these components, incidentally, are incorporated in all TURMIX espresso machine models.

The TURMIX coffee grinder Espresso E 20 will grind beans from espresso fineness to coarse with absolutely uniform accuracy. It features a precision setting to 1/40 mm and a grinding unit with extra-hard steel disks. The grinding unit is easily accessible and convenient to clean. The reservoir with the aroma seal lid accepts 250 grams of coffee beans.

TURMIX Espresso TX 50

Because the TX 50 incorporates two completely independent systems, it offers the unique capability of preparing coffee or hot water and steam at the same time. So it does not make a difference whether you want to prepare an espresso and a cup of tea, an Ovaltine and an instant soup, or a hot chocolate and a punch. The TURMIX Espresso TX 50 makes two different beverages at the same time. This feature is particularly remarkable when you are in the mood for a cappuccino. Because the milk crest and the coffee are made simultaneously. So none of the flavour is lost while waiting. And for all beverages which are prepared with hot water, the TURMIX Espresso TX 50 has a special temperature adjustment feature.

It is intended for family though, it perfectly suits small communities' needs thanks to its particular features. It is the most prestigious expression of the technological progress and of our experience: it indeed represents the most advanced piece of technology in this field. The delivery unit can be easily withdrawn and washed in the dish-washer; it can make black coffee simply by pressing a switch. The user has nothing else to do but placing the cup under the spout; a special device picks up the coffee, grinds, doses, loads and delivers it; grounds are then automatically discarded into the ground drawer. Coffee flow can be adjusted through the timer knob to suit individual taste. Completely made of baking painted plate, up-to-date in its content, sound and with an elegant shape, surely it is the machine of the future.
