Treaty on Mutual Assistance in Criminal Matters between Switzerland and Australia

A treaty on mutual assistance in criminal matters between Switzerland and Australia has been signed in Berne on 25.11.1991 and will enter into force once the ratification procedure is concluded in both countries. The treaty will render cooperation between both States in the fight against international criminality more efficient.

Switzerland and Australia have signed a mutual declaration of intent concerning the recognition and enforcement in the field of their maintenance, custody and access orders on 29 November 1991 in Canberra.

This declaration of intent will facilitate the conditions under which Swiss decisions will be recognised and enforced in Australia. It covers also the recovery of maintenance included in paternity, separation or divorce judgements.

Henceforth, it will not be necessary to lodge a new complaint (action on the foreign judgement) in Australia in order to enforce a Swiss decision.

Exhibitions

From 10 February to 1st May 1992:

"Switzerland and the Printed Word"
(an exhibition of Rare Books associated with Switzerland)

and the concurrent display,

"Face-to-Face with Switzerland"
(Swiss Federalism in day-to-day life)
Fisher Library, University of Sydney.

Exchange of Trainees

On 13th November 1991 Australia and Switzerland signed an arrangement concerning the exchange of trainees. It gives citizens of both countries (aged between 20 and 30) the possibility to work or study for a period of 12 to 18 months.

The responsible offices are:

Switzerland: Federal Office of Industry, Crafts and Labour

Australia: Department of Employment, Education and Training.

For further information you should contact the Swiss Embassy in Canberra or the Consulate General in Sydney and Melbourne.

A busy time has been had especially on a sunny day in November when the Multicultural Fiesta was held and a good relay team provided bratwurst from the Swiss Club stall to the hungry crowd. In January the Goethe Institut organized a German week which was a great success with varied events. A special event for us was an evening with Franz Hohler and on the Sunday people sampling German food, drinks and handcrafts were entertained by the Swiss Choir.

In April a Schutzenfest will be held, in May a bushwalk, and in June the annual Jass tournament - further details to be supplied later in our newsletter.
