Brief Portraits

The Parties

14 parties are represented in the Federal Assembly (the National Council and the Council of States) for the legislative period 1991–1995. These are briefly presented here, although we do not have space to go into detailed policy matters. The SSA has put together a document kit in which the parties present their own policies, however, and this may be ordered in either German or French by sending an addressed envelope (at least A5 size) to:

Secretariat for the Swiss Abroad
Alpenstrasse 26, CH-3000 Berne

We are not able to include here two groups which are represented in one canton only and are either closely linked to another party (Free List of Canton Berne) or have programmes limited to one region (Ticino League).

International sections

In the wake of the introduction of the postal vote, a number of parties have set up international sections in order to help Swiss Abroad exercise their political rights and to give them an opportunity of joining a Swiss party. The FDP, CVP, SVP and SD already have international sections.

Welcome to CVP International

The Christian Democratic Party has now created CVP International. This addresses all Swiss Abroad who find themselves in agreement with its general philosophical outlook and would like to take part in Swiss politics through the medium of this party. Members of CVP International receive regular information on political and social events in Switzerland and life at home, together with details of CVP policies. You can become a member of CVP International by filling up the form here – or you can simply use it to obtain information about the CVP, its aims and activities.
