New OSA website

First-class Internet presence

The OSA has taken the electronic plunge from passive showcase to an interactive hub. The society's brand-new Internet page (www.aso.ch) will be available to users from 1 January 2000, providing the latest news on the Fifth Switzerland and offering a wide range of services and tips.

Easy-to-navigate structure

Thanks to a simple navigation technique, users can move with ease between the six main areas: "Information", "Tips", "Camps and Events", "About us" and "Links". An index provides a quick overview of all subjects. Language selection buttons allow users to browse

German, French, Italian or English pages.

"Information" contains useful data and statistics on Swiss Abroad. "Swiss Review" and the "OSA Newsletter" can also be called up on-line; and the Annual Report of the OSA can be downloaded as a PDF file.

"Camps and Events" provides information on events such as the annual Congress of the Swiss Abroad as well as upcoming sports camps and summer camps. Electronic forms allow you to register on-line.

"Tips" contains practical information on social and health insurance, legal issues and education in Switzerland. ■
