New-look "Swissinfo.org"

www.swissinfo.org has recently appeared in its new design, now also in Spanish.

The multimedia information page of Swiss Radio International (SRI) and SRG SSR idée suisse now offers simpler navigation and a clearer structure. The colours have also been slightly adjusted. Every section also includes the day's top story along with other news in brief. The front page provides a summary of the main events. The site is now even more user-friendly and offers topical content.

At the beginning of June a Spanish version of "swissinfo" was launched, containing the same features as the other language versions. Additionally it offers the Spanish radio programme of SRI which can be listened to over the Internet via RealPlayer (available free of charge from www.realplayer.com).

Now you can also call up the Spanish-language version.

The offerings of "swissinfo" are continually being expanded. Now, in addition to the popular SF DRS information programme "10 vor 10", the site features radio and TV programmes in Rhaeto-Romanesh (Schurnal da miedzdi and Teleguard). On the Italian page you can call up Radiogiornale and the individual features of Telegiornale. Sports programmes are also continually being added. Now you can consult the results and league tables of various sports. For some time now the English page has been providing international news from Reuters, and the TSR Meteo programme has been added to the weather section of the French page.

To keep abreast of the latest "swissinfo" developments, subscribe to our e-mail newsletter. You'll find it under "About us".
