Focus on Swiss topical affairs

Are you interested in Swiss politics? Whatever kind of information you need, you can find it under www.swisspolitics.org. The new platform of www.swissinfo.org – a companion to the website of swissinfo/Radio Schweiz International (SRI) – offers a complete insight into Swiss topical affairs and offers a broad array of services. In four languages (German, French, Italian and English). With text, images and sound. And interactive.

Why should Swiss politics be dull and dry? www.swisspolitics.org belies this image and delivers a colourful, multilingual portrait of Swiss affairs. The new site of www.swissinfo.org provides access to detailed political dossiers, particularly on current elections and referendums, and parliamentary information hot off the press.

The session is open!

www.swisspolitics.org invites you to exchange ideas. This platform gives you the opportunity to exchange opinions on issues in federal politics. Even better: you can submit and support petitions! And if you want to obtain an accurate picture of the persons representing your interests at parliament, just consult our portraits of representatives.

Democracy and humanitarian tradition

Our sections entitled Democracy and Humanitarian Tradition contain annotated links. Detailed explanations of the content of our Internet site help users to make the right selection. To address the international public of www.swisspolitics.org, most links are available in several languages. In this section you can also find an interactive world map with detailed information on the selected country and its democratic status.

Available 24:7

The hectic rhythm of modern life often makes us miss important deadlines. Our "political alarm clock" reminds you by e-mail or SMS about forthcoming votes! And that's not all: the political information platform of www.swissinfo.org also offers a fast, user-friendly search engine and a newsletter which regularly updates you on all the news from www.swisspolitics.org. Log on now!

swissmusic – Swiss music on the Internet

With its four linguistic regions, Switzerland enjoys a rich diversity of music. To familiarise people outside Switzerland with Swiss music, swissinfo/Swiss Radio International (SRI) has created a new site devoted to the works of Swiss composers and interpreters: <http://swissmusic.swissinfo.org>.

The carefully documented sections of swissmusic allow browsers to listen to the pieces they select or download excerpts. Jazz, pop, rock, folk or classical music are all represented. The events page contains news on the Swiss music scene i.e. concerts, events, new Swiss CD productions etc. The swissinfo/SRI section contains a selection of the best new Swiss CDs. An anthology of great classics is available in the treasury section. Besides the history of jazz, folklore and classical music, <http://swissmusic.swissinfo.org> also offers an exclusive anthology of Swiss pop and rock. The unique information and entertainment site <http://swissmusic.swissinfo.org> is currently only available in English at www.swissinfo.org but other languages are planned in the course of this year.
