Retirement

After 34 years at the service of the Federal Department of Foreign Affairs, Swiss Ambassador Rudolf Baerfuss has opted for a slightly advanced retirement, beginning on June 1, 2011. He has left South Africa early May and, with his wife Beatrice, has settled down in Berne/Switzerland.

They look back on an exciting stay (2008 to 2011) in South Africa with a series of high level bilateral contacts, with peaceful elections in April 2009, with the start of the new government and finally the great success of the FIFA Soccer World Cup with the participation of the Swiss National team (by the way the only team to beat the later world champion).

Mr Baerfuss and his wife had the opportunity to meet many of the Swiss compatriots in different regions of this big and beautiful country South Africa and also in the other fascinating countries where he is accredited, namely Botswana, Lesotho, Mauritius, Namibia and Swaziland. The retiring couple sends warm greetings and best wishes to all the members of the Swiss colonies in these countries and thanks them for their welcome, their support and their friendship. They take lovely memories back to Switzerland.

Ambassador Baerfuss wishes to extend his sincere thanks also to the superb team at the Embassy in Pretoria, to the efficient Consulate General in Cape Town and to our dedicated honorary consular representatives in Durban, Gaborone, Port Louis and Windhoek.

Upon the arrival of the new Ambassador, the Embassy is headed by newly arrived Counsellor Heinrich Maurer, Deputy Head of Mission, as Chargé d'Affaires a.i.

Welcome to all Swiss abroad who now receive consular support from the Swiss Embassy/Consulate-General in South Africa

In the last Swiss Review (March 2011), you were advised that the consular section based in Harare which used to service Swiss Abroad living in Zimbabwe, Zambia, and Malawi, had been closed, and that these people would in future receive consular services from South Africa. Similarly, last year, the facilities in Angola and those in Mauritius were closed, and again the Swiss Abroad living there are receiving consular services from South Africa.

As your two Auslands-schweizerrat Delegates from Southern Africa, Rolf Schudel and the author of this article, Peter Muller, we welcome all Swiss Abroad who have "joined" the consular district of South Africa. We are here to serve you, and to make appropriate representations to the relevant authorities in Switzerland whenever or wherever you encounter problems in your rights, privileges, duties and opportunities as a Swiss citizen or dual-national living in the 11 countries comprising Southern Africa, which are now all serviced from the consular district based in the Embassy and Consulates-General in Pretoria and Cape Town. The eleven countries are: South Africa, Mauritius, Mozambique, Malawi, Zambia, Zimbabwe, Angola, Namibia, Botswana, Swaziland and Lesotho.

This is an open invitation to all readers of the Swiss Review to contact us at any time in regard to anything that may be troubling you in your liaison with Switzerland as a Swiss citizen or dual-national living abroad. Our contact co-ordinates are to be found in a "boxed space" elsewhere in these local pages. We look forward to hearing from you.

Lots of feedback

The feedback from you over the past twelve months has increased tremendously, and we wish to thank you for this. Amongst the major topics troubling Swiss in Southern Africa are the following: opening and maintaining bank accounts, exorbitant bank charges unilaterally levied by some Swiss banks on foreign address bank clients, lists of banks not levying such charges, registering and problems with the Swiss AHV/IV, maintenance and payments with the Swiss Medical Insurance Scheme (KVG), professional apprenticeships in Switzerland, university studies in Switzerland as well as military service possibilities.

In many of the cases or queries brought to our attention, we have been able to clarify the situation or even assist successfully. Sometimes, this is not possible. For instance, the closure of consulates and consulates-general has seriously inconvenienced some Swiss living in Southern Africa. The appointment of Honorary Consuls-General is not an adequate substitute for this, as they have such very limited powers themselves, that they can merely act as a local conduit for problems, and possibly as a local physical presence that Switzerland as a country is still around and very discreetly visible at the official level.

Closures of consulates

These closures have not only taken place in Southern Africa, but world-wide. Important countries for Switzerland such as Germany and Hungary, to mention only two both in the EU and in Western and Eastern Europe respectively, have protested very vociferously against important closures in cities such as Hamburg and Budapest to no avail. According to the Dept. of Foreign Affairs (EDA) in Bern, these closures are being made as part of a rationalisation and economy drive. It is no surprise that the EDA always appears to make "savings" at the expense of the Swiss Abroad. Three years ago, for instance, this magazine Swiss Review was "axed" from 6 to 4 issues annually in a totally unilateral, non-communicative manner by the EDA, by reducing the budgetary allocation

Report of the Ausland-schweizerrat (asr) Spring Session In Brunnen

On Friday 8th April, the ASR, which as you know is the Parliament of the Swiss Abroad, met in Brunnen, Canton Schwyz, at the Hotel Waldstätterhof, where you also find the Auslandschweizerplatz, beautifully situated as the start or end of the historic "Weg der Schweiz" on the lakefront in Brunnen.

It was a day showing off Switzerland at its best! A warm sunny Spring day, with the snow-covered alpine peaks in the background, and in the foreground a crystal clear Urnersee, framed by flashes of brilliant floral Spring colours. A day to remember, not only because of the climatic and scenic beauty, but particularly also because the ASR was celebrating the 20th anniversary of the establishment of the Auslandschweizerplatz alongside the Hotel Waldstätterhof in 1991.

The Auslandschweizerrat has 130 members including the Inland-Swiss contingent. Some 75 attended this historic meeting from all corners of the globe. President Eggly welcomed one and all, and then proceeded to deliver his report on ASR and

e-consulate and m-consulate

One of the main points of concern was, and is, the indiscriminate closure of consulates and consulates-general world-wide. While the e-consulate (electronic consulate) as well as the m-consulate (mobile consulate), are programmed for the future, and there is a drive to appoint Honorary Consuls world-wide, this can only be a poor and inadequate substitute for a fully fledged consulate with full local competence and authority, staffed by trained professional staff, who can expedite business speedily, and act as friendly advisors and "ambassadors" for Switzerland. It should also be remembered that many people, particularly many elderly Swiss Abroad, do not yet have a PC or access to one.

Ambassador Brügger from the Dept. of Foreign Affairs (EDA) then delivered an address on this matter of "closures". Needless to say, the debate following his speech was robust and often highly critical of the EDA's policy and actions. Ambassador Brügger assured the meeting that he had made a note of all the points raised, and that he would transmit same to the powers that be at the EDA. While this at least showed Ambassador Brügger's "goodwill", the author of this article, based on his past experience of dealing with the EDA, does not expect that anything much will change.

The progress of e-voting

Thereafter, Mrs Weber from the Federal Chancellery (Bundeskanzlei) in Bern addressed the meeting on the progress of e-voting (electronic voting) project. Assuming that the Federal Council (Bundesrat) approves the request in June 2011, it should be possible for some 20'000 voting-registered Swiss Abroad world-wide from the cantons of Aargau, St. Gallen, Graubünden and Basel-Stadt, to vote electronically by internet in the forthcoming general election in October this year. This is certainly a positive step forward and will go some way towards alleviating, or even eliminating, some of the negatives of the postal-vote that has been used since 1992. These were factors such as postal delays and non-delivery, as well as failure on the part of some Swiss Abroad to sign the enclosed Voting ID (Stimmrechtsausweis). Regarding the security aspect of e-voting, Mrs Weber assured delegates that this was receiving top priority, and that the programme had been tested and received the stamp of approval by the ETH in Zürich.

Other interesting items on the agenda were the ASR annual report, accounts and budgets for 2011.

The next ASR session is on 26th August 2011 followed by the annual ASO congress in Lugano. We heartily invite you to attend if you are in or near Switzerland.

Peter Muller, ASR Delegate for Southern Africa

It is hard to believe that we are virtually halfway into the New Year and that all the World Cup Hype is also already a year old and a thing of the past.

Our AGM in April was attended by 25 members with quite a large number of apologies. The Committee has been re-elected unanimously, bar the Treasurer who tendered his resignation prior to the AGM. So – once again we are in dire need of a Treasurer and would thus welcome anybody who would be able and willing to assist with this important function, which we just cannot be without. All the painstaking and hard ground work to reinstate an up to date version of Pastel Software among many other things has been done by the outgoing Treasurer and it is now really a case of overseeing and maintaining this level of book keeping for our Club. We are even prepared to remunerate the person who would be able to assist, as we are convinced that there must be book keepers out there who may be retired, but would still like to keep “their minds occupied” with some really straight forward Treasurer tasks and possibly earn a bit of extra cash on the side?
