Driven by poverty and freedom

Switzerland was a nation of emigration for a long period, something which is often forgotten today. Between the 15th century and the first few decades of the 20th century, hundreds of thousands of people left Switzerland due to population growth and economic hardship to seek a better life elsewhere in the world. An exhibition on emigration from Appenzell, staged at two museums, uses individual stories and biographies to show what emigration is all about and how emigrants to all parts of the world attempt to integrate a bit of their old homeland into their new one. "Appenzeller Auswanderung – Von Not und Freiheit" exhibition at the Volkskunde-Museum in Stein and at the Brauchtumsmuseum in Urnäsch. Duration: until 27 October in Stein, until 13 January 2014 in Urnäsch. www.appenzeller-museum-stein.ch; www.museum-urnaesch.ch.
