III. FINANCIAL POSITION

Examination of the accounts of the International Committee of the Red Cross once again shows the insufficiency of its regular receipts which, it should be recalled, consist essentially of contributions of governments parties to the Geneva Conventions and of the National Red Cross Societies, to which the ICRC reiterates its gratitude for their moral and material support.

In 1964, seven countries with a total of 1,490,000 Swiss francs supplied approximately 73% of government contributions. The remaining amount of 550,000 frs. was divided between 52 governments.

International Conferences of the Red Cross have on a number of occasions expressed the wish that National Societies participate in the financing of the ICRC and recommended that they take the necessary steps with their respective governments for them to provide regular financial support for the work of the International Committee. In addition, Resolution No. 11 of the 1949 Diplomatic Conference, which was attended by representatives from most States, recognized the necessity of giving the ICRC such support.

In view of the complexity and increasing amplitude of the tasks entrusted to it, the International Committee of the Red Cross addresses itself more especially to Governments signatories of the Geneva Conventions and expresses to them its earnest hope that it will be possible, at the cost of greater effort, for them to increase their annual contributions.

In appealing to the spirit of solidarity in the face of suffering, which is without doubt the fundamental principle not only of the Red Cross, but also of the whole civilized world, the ICRC turns towards those who have been spared the distress of conflicts in order earnestly to request them to participate financially, which is essential for the accomplishment of its mission.

The annual accounts which closed on December 31, 1964, and which are shown below, have been audited and certified correct by the Société fiduciaire romande Ofor S.A., recognized by the Swiss Federal Council and the Federal Banking Commission.

1. Balance sheet (table I)

In comparison with 1963, the balance sheet shows an appreciable increase in "debtors" and "deficits for relief actions still to be covered," as a result of ICRC activities in Nepal and the Yemen.

On the debit side, the "creditors" entry represents a proportional increase of advances agreed to ensure the necessary funds for the continuation of these actions.

The excess of expenditure over ordinary receipts for the year, amounting to 497,237.92 frs. has been written off by withdrawal from reserve for general risks, which is rapidly diminishing.

2. General account of ordinary expenditure and receipts in 1964 (table II)

In order to show the general organization and action of the International Committee of the Red Cross more clearly, expenditure for 1964 has been classified according to its principal centres of activity.

Amounts shown as expenses are free of all refunds previously placed under receipts and represent the ICRC's real charges. Since then, receipts correspond to financial operations and represent actual cash assets.

In comparison with the previous year, expenditure, adjusted in keeping with the above, has only increased by 8%, in spite of increasing activity, thanks to economic and careful management.

The excess of expenditure over receipts, i.e. 497,237.29, Sw. fr. constitutes the deficit shown on the balance sheet and which reduces the reserve for general risks.

3. Contributions to the ICRC in 1964 from Governments and National Red Cross Societies (table III)

These receipts have been analysed in the preamble.

4. Summary of General Account for Relief Actions in 1964 (table IV)

The appreciable increase of various items in this account, both expenditure and receipts, emphasizes the growing activity of the International Committee of the Red Cross during 1964 in the sphere of relief brought to the victims of conflicts.

5. Summary Estimate of Ordinary Expenditure and Receipts of the ICRC for 1965 (table V)

Estimates of expenditure take into account the rise of the cost-of-living index for the salaries of personnel. In addition, the extension of relief actions and the development of humanitarian law have obliged the ICRC to make certain renewals in its numbers, resulting in increased charges.

The administration has been able to make a reduction of 27% in personnel expenditure, although increased costs for the maintenance of buildings and office equipment must be expected.

As regards receipts, a decrease in the amount of various donations has been estimated. In fact, the International Committee benefited in 1964, following on its Centenary, from exceptional contributions on which it cannot count in the future.

Expenditure in excess of receipts amounts to a figure of more than one million Swiss francs.

6. Balance Sheet and Receipts and Expenditure Account in 1964 relative to special Funds (table VI)

 2. Augusta Fund
 3. Empress Shôken Fund
 4. Florence Nightingale Medal Fund.
