Entomologica Basiliensis et Collectionis Frey, a new series!

In October 1997, the Frey Collection finally found a home in the Natural History Museum of Basel. This wonderful collection was built up over 5 decades through the enthusiasm and dedication of Dr. Georg Frey. It contains about 3 million beetles. The number of taxa is estimated to be about 90,000 and the number of species represented by primary or secondary types to be 20,000.

Georg Frey contributed a great deal to the knowledge of the Coleoptera through his unceasing devotion to, and support of, all manner of activities that centered on the beetles. The results of studies on his collection were published in a journal that he founded for this purpose, "Entomologische Arbeiten aus dem Museum G. Frey". The first volume was issued in 1950 and the last one (volume 35/36) in 1987.

This change in our journal reflects our wish to continue the great work of Dr. Georg Frey by providing new possibilities for publishing the results of work on the Frey Collection.

This present volume 27 is the first with the new title "Entomologica Basiliensis et Collectionis Frey", in honour of Dr. Georg Frey. His son, Mr. Herbert Frey, is aware of this and has given his encouragement to the project.
