A Message To The Swiss People of New Zealand

Dear Compatriots,

Upon my arrival in Wellington, I would like first to extend to you all my heartiest greetings.

The members of the Swiss Colony in New Zealand are well known to our Federal Authorities as being industrious and successful, as well as retaining a deep love for our fatherland while at the same time having a sincere attachment to New Zealand.

I am looking forward to knowing you all as soon as possible. I want to assure you that I shall neglect nothing to give you all the support which you had from my predecessors, and I know that I can rely on your help in my task of furthering the excellent relations existing between our country and friendly New Zealand.

Yours sincerely,

JEAN-PIERRE WEBER
Charge d'Affairs a.i.

The Swiss Society of New Zealand extends a cordial welcome and best wishes to our newly-appointed Charge d'Affairs of the Swiss Embassy, Mr Jean-Pierre Weber, and Mrs Weber. May their term of office in New Zealand be a pleasant part of their political career and their acquaintances with the Swiss people of this country develop into lasting friendships.
