—SWISSAIR—

Swissair's corporate history goes back to 1931 when two smaller Swiss airlines merged. One of them, Ad Astra Aero, was established in Zurich in 1919; the other, Balair, was founded in 1925 in Basel.

Although Swissair is Switzerland's national flag carrier, it is not nationalised. A joint stock company owned 70 per cent by Swiss citizens and 30 per cent by Government and government agencies, Swissair receives no subsidies.

The Swiss have built up such a solid reputation for precision work that Swiss watches, machine tools and measuring instruments have become bywords throughout the world. The same thoroughness and precision go into Swissair's aircraft maintenance and repair programme. A rigorous system of overhauling engines and airframes assures the highest degree of airworthiness at all times. Always and everywhere Swiss airliners are as good as new.
