The bridesmaids wore lime-green crepe frocks trimmed with dark green feathers.

The reception was held at the Old Folks Hall, Stratford, followed by a dance in the evening.

This wedding was well attended by a large group of friends and relatives from as far away as Hastings and Hamilton and a very enjoyable time was had by all. —L.K.

Laugh a little . . .

Mr Brown was very surprised when a charming young lady greeted him in the street. The lady noticed her error and apologised, "Excuse me Sir, for a moment I thought you were the father of two of my children . . ." Then she passed on and left Mr Brown standing nonplussed. The lady was a schoolteacher.

* * * *

A lady went away on a holiday, leaving her husband behind, as she wanted a very quiet time. After a while she rings up her husband and says: "It is absolutely wonderful darling. Imagine I have lost half of my weight during this month. May I stay a little while longer?"

"Of course", says the husband, "you may stay another month".
