We Swiss are a gregarious lot. Like so many other ethnic groups, we love to get together for singing, playing cards, shooting, yodelling, dancing, playing music or even just for a bit of good old gossiping. Any occasion is good enough to get together for a happy time.

But when it comes to professional contacts, the ties loosen quite a bit. For some reason, in professional life, we tend to go our own ways. Particularly in the larger cities, we do not take too much notice of what our compatriots do for a living. When a job needs doing, we rather consult the Yellow Pages or look up the classified advertisements in the local newspaper, not realising that a fellow Swiss, perhaps not far away might be able to do the job just as well or maybe even better.

Although solidarity is supposed to be one of the main characteristics of the Swiss, other ethnic groups support one another commercially far more than we Swiss do. So your Swiss Society Committee decided to do something to improve the situation.

Under the Swiss motto: "Einer für Alle, Alle für Einen" or "Un pour tous, tous pour un", or even under our new President's own motto "Ask a Swiss first, he can do it", we start a new classified advertisements column open to everyone who has a service to offer. If you are a plumber, taxi driver, painter, electrician, typist, builder, motor mechanic, engineer, computer, programmer, language teacher or a professional in any of the thousands of different activities that make up our modern civilisation, make yourself known to your fellow Swiss compatriots. It does not matter where you are in New Zealand. Sometime, somewhere, another Swiss may well need your professional know-how.

So make full use of our new column. You never know, your services may come in handy to another Swiss and it could just give you that extra bit of business you are looking for. (See page 3 for more details).

NOTES ABOUT THE FIRST ISSUE OF THE NEW LOOK HELVETIA

PRINTING: As a trial run, this first issue was printed on two different types of paper, glossy and matt, to ascertain which type of paper would be more suitable to your new look Helvetia. The verdict is that all future issues will be on glossy paper.

FOLDING: As thrifty Swiss, we did not want to throw away the stock of wrappers that was at hand. So because of the small sized wrappers, the magazine had to be foled in four. As soon as the present stock of wrappers is used up, the magazine will only need to be folded in three, thus improving greatly its final appearance. Please bear with us for one or two more issues.
