ART FOR ALL at www.azple.com

A-Z public limited editions (azple.com for short) is a web-based exhibition platform and a Do-It-Yourself publication service, serving the arts and the public. It is created with the common purpose of "Art for All" and "All for Art."

Azple.com explores the possibilities of combining internet interactivity and art exhibitions by collaborating with different networks of artists and offering specially commissioned artwork to the public for free. With this very democratic approach, azple.com aims to challenge not only the question of the original and the value of art but also the growing predominance of the art market which makes it impossible for most people to privately own artworks. All you need to get and collect an edition from azple.com is a computer with Internet access, an Adobe Reader, A4 paper and a printer to materialize the artwork from the virtual space.

Azple.com is published tri-monthly. The editions will be online on the 20th March, June, September, and December of every year. The inaugural issue of December 2005 featured French-born artist Annelise Coste, and for the year 2006, we have a line-up of internationally known artists: March 2006: Iranian-born photographer living in Zürich, Shirana Shahbazi; June 2006: British artist, David Shrigley; September 2006: Aleksandra Mir from Sweden; and December 2006: Sarah Sze from the USA.
