An ongoing, evolutionary entity, radically redefining notions of what a conventional art Biennial should be, the Sharjah Biennial creates fresh perspectives on artistic production, exhibition and viewing, within the context of the Middle East's thriving cultural environment. Rather than adhering to the conventional practice of sourcing works from a wish-list of participants, here artists and non-artists alike have been responding to an open call, an invitation to realise their ideas, unfettered by arbitrary requirements and theoretical limitations. Sharjah Biennial's exhibition Provisions for the Future, attempts to examine our brave new world that is transforming itself very rapidly, challenged by emerging new economic realities and cultural diversions, by referring to the concept of a forward movement as the starting point. In this ninth edition, the very fundamentals of what a Biennial should be are themselves, opened up for examination and reworking.

PARKETT 85

Featured here is the collaboration of three women, in their early thirties to late forties: Tomma Abts, Zoe Leonard, and Mai-Thu Perret. Their work covers a spectrum in which art history is invoked and independence manifested. Mai-Thu Perret's reflections and fictional set pieces take a close, unflinching artistic look at the pathos of social and artistic revolution. Zoe Leonard photographs and collects daily life with all of its unspectacular signs and traces; crucial to both activities is the subjectivity of perception—the ignited gaze. Tomma Abts makes “abstract” paintings whose vibrancy relies not only on elements that render the illusion of depth; the great subtlety of her paintings, creations based on a complex and elaborate painting process, confounds facile criteria and categories of comparison.

Mit Tomma Abts, Zoe Leonard und Mai-Thu Perret gestalten drei Frauen zwischen Anfang dreissig und Ende vierzig diese Ausgabe. Dabei öffnet sich ein Spannungsbogen, in welchem zugleich Kunstgeschichte evoziert und Unabhängigkeit manifestiert wird. Mai-Thu Perrets Aktionsfeld ist eines der Spiegelungen und fiktionalen Setzungen, in welchem das Pathos eines künstlerisch-gesellschaftlichen Aufbruchs umkreist und blossgelegt wird. Zoe Leonard ist Photographin und Sammlerin von Alltäglichem, von unspektakulären Zeichen und Spuren, wobei sich die beiden Tätigkeiten insofern verquicken, als das subjektive Moment des Wahrnehmens – der entzündbare Blick – ins Zentrum rückt. Tomma Abts «Abstraktion» ist nicht nur von illusionistischen Elementen der Tiefenwirkung versetzt, die in einem langwierigen Malprozess entstehenden Bilder verschliessen sich in grosser Subtilität den allzu wohlfeilen Kriterien und Kategorien des Vergleiches.
