Blackwell's Sociology Series

1. Politics in Everyday Life

H. VICTOR WISEMAN

The author moves easily from examples of everyday concerns to the broadest theoretical approaches to the study of politics. He makes common sense of politics for the layman, whilst compelling the specialist student of the subject to open his eyes to new facets of his chosen field of study.

2. Methods of Sociological Enquiry

PETER H. MANN

Beginning with a consideration of sociology as a scientific study the author goes on to the general principles involved in any sociological investigation. Special sections deal with the use of documentary sources, the design of interview schedules and how to carry out and analyse surveys.

Office Automation in Social Perspective

H. A. RHEE

The main purpose of the book is to clarify the implications for the individual, groups and society as a whole, of the use of an entirely new kind of machine, in an environment which hitherto has not lent itself well to mechanization.

Urbanization and its Problems

Edited by R. P. BECKINSALE and J. M. HOUSTON

The work forms an interesting and authoritative reflection of the geographer's approach to urbanization and yet the material lies well within the grasp of the general reader. The text is carefully illustrated with 31 plates, and 91 diagrams or maps.

The Elements of Probability and Sampling

FRANK FRIDAY

Edited by E. BREWER

with a foreword by P. W. S. ANDREWS

«The book deserves to be read by everyone who has the task of making sense of raw data or of interpreting the myriad sample surveys that pour across the executive desks of almost every modern organization these days». — FAR EASTERN ECONOMIC REVIEW
