THE REVIEWING PROCESS IN 1997: AN OVERVIEW

Since the beginning of 1995, each article submitted to the Swiss Journal of Sociology has been sent to three anonymous referees. In this issue, we provide an overview of the reviewing process for all the articles received from mid-1996 to mid-1997, excluding all those for which a decision is still pending, as well as the articles for World Sociology and Current Trends, which are not submitted to the reviewing process. We also provide a list of the persons who were kind enough to provide us with an anonymous review up to July 14, 1997. We would like to express our most sincere appreciation for their invaluable help.

With the present issue, the involvement of Professor Peter Gross and his collaborator Achim Brosziewski (St-Gallen) with our journal come to an end. Since 1992, they have taken care of the German language book reviews section. I would like to express my sincere appreciation to both of them for their precious help, and to thank them for the quality of their work and for their punctuality. I take this opportunity to welcome their successor, Dr. Beat Fux (Zürich) in our team.

The Editor

Social Science Information sur les sciences sociales

Edited by Anne Rocha Perazzo EHESS, Paris,
Elina Almasy and Véronique Campion-Vincent
CNRS, Paris

... is a major international forum for the analysis and debate of trends and approaches in social science research and teaching.

Publishing articles in both English and French, the journal offers a unique window on research currently taking place internationally and in collaboration with the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme in Paris.

Social Science Information aims to present new areas of study, focusing on theoretical debates, methodology and comparative and cross-cultural research. The following specialized sections regularly appear: trends and developments; theory and methods; biology and social life; rationality and society; anthropology of food; and social studies of science.
