villages sinistrés et le pays entier est réellement secoué par un élan de compassion sincère et désintéressé.

Pendant ce temps Genève tente, après maints essais qui tous "ratèrent," de jouer à la grande ville. Une fois de plus, un projet de fusion entre les grandes communes urbaines et la minuscule Ville est présenté au Grand Conseil. En attendant que les rues de la cité de Calvin se tracent à angle droit comme celles de New York et que le plus petit de ses édifices ait quarante étages, il serait louable du pouvoir dire une bonne fois combien Genève compte d'habitants sans devoir mentionner ou les Eaux-Vives ou le Petit-Saconnex. Mais vous connaissez l'esprit particulariste qui règne au pied de Saint-Pierre et ne doutez pas que la chose aboutisse de sitôt.

Dans cette même bonne ville, la libre concurrence, loyale et franche, quoique autorisée par la loi et sanctionnée il y a quelques mois à peine par un jugement du Tribunal fédéral, n'est pas du goût de toutes les mentalités. La "Feuille d'Avis Officielle," qui fut récemment transformée en quotidien, rencontre non seulement la mauvaise humeur, mais la haine de certains hommes politiques de droite qui, à tort ou à raison, estiment que leur journal, "Le Journal de Genève," perd et son importance... et surtout ses lecteurs par la transformation de la nouvelle venue. Dès lors, tout est bon à ces Messieurs pour barrer le passage et briser celle que leur mentalité surnomme l'intruse.

Récemment, "La Feuille d'Avis Officielle" publiait quelques extraits d'une œuvre de Schiller, "La Guerre de Trente ans." Vous pénétrez comme moi que ce n'est pas là vouloir défer ou braver certaines tendances politico-religieuses. On vit, malgré tout, une levée de boucliers de la part du Parti indépendant, estimant que ses idées se trouvaient gravement lésées par de semblables publications. Je vous fais juge de ces accusations.

Plus tard, un directeur de journal prit violemment à partie un article où le chef du Département de l'Instruction publique avait été "interviewé" et où il exposait les idées d'une réforme qu'il entend soumettre au corps législatif. Scandale sans précédent au dire de notre fougueux député, qui parla d'une violation du cahier des charges! Si les paroles mêmes d'un membre du Conseil d'Etat sont désormais paroles interdites, où faut-il trouver une déclaration dont on puisse tenir compte?

Malgré cela, et peut-être à cause de la publicité gratuite qu'on lui fait ainsi, "La Feuille d'Avis," traversant courageusement ce nouveau "passage à tabac," s'en va son petit bonhomme de chemin et finira bien par sortir du mauvais pas que d'aucuns prétendent lui prolonger.

Le plus grand des couturiers, le plus souriant aussi, s'est mêlé d'écrire une opérette; et la chose est comique, parce que nous ne lui savions pas une plume aussi alerte que sa paire de ciseaux. "Chiffon," en est le titre et le plus agréable des témoins, j'ai nommé Francell, s'est chargé de l'interprétation. Peu importe, après tout, ce qu'il chantera, pourvu que ce soit lui qui le chante. Et je sais plus d'une jolie femme qui raisonne comme j'écris.

Ceux de nos parlementaires qui s'en étaient allés à Rio-de-Janeiro pour la Conférence parlementaire internationale du commerce nous sont revenus. C'est M. Albert Maunoury, conseiller national, genevois, qui présidait notre délégation. Les paroles qu'il a adressées, au cours d'un banquet, au ministre des Affaires étrangères du Brésil, ont vivement frappé l'opinion publique là-bas et chez nous. Il a dit le désir de la Suisse de voir la grande République sud-américaine reprendre sa place au sein de la S.D.N. La ronde bonhomie de notre représentant et la voix affable avec laquelle il sait dire les choses les plus difficiles auront, sans doute, produit une impression profonde sur nos amis brésiliens.

Pendant ce temps, les colonies égyptiennes, dans toute la Suisse, fêtent avec joie l'avènement au trône de Fouad Ier.

Ainsi, tandis que les uns se lamentent, les autres se réjouissent. C'est l'habuelle et continue destinée de notre humanité. Vous vous êtes plaints de brouillard et hier vous avez eu du soleil. Telle est la vie à Londres, telle est la vie en Suisse!

Le fil télégraphique.

J. H.'S Weekly Letter to his Friends and Compatriots.

Ladies and Gentlemen.—The quest of youth is the quest of the future. So let me then redeem the promise which I gave recently, the promise to tell those of our young compatriots who are still thirsting for knowledge where to find the fountain at which they may assuage their intellectual thirst.

I suppose that most of us are chiefly interested in studies connected in one way or other with trade and 'bread-and-butter' careers. As is to be expected, it is exactly in this branch of education that here in London great facilities are offered. Most of you will have seen the placards of the L.C.C. Educational Department inviting people to join the various courses bearing on such subjects as Accountancy, Auditing, Mathematics in general, Economics and kindred sciences, etc. These courses are open to almost anyone and are very cheap when we consider that the teachers are in most cases really experts in the particular line they teach. It is preferable, however, to join such a course at a School or Polytechnic which is within the borough of the student's domicile. Otherwise the charges are sometimes increased. It is possible at most of the L.C.C. Evening Schools and also at all the Polytechnics to work an external student for the qualifying examinations as Bachelor of Commerce, Science, Science (Economics), Law, these all being subjects which in some way have to do with our trade or calling. The examinations have, of course, to be taken at one of the Colleges belonging to the University. One has to register when starting the course. This has to be done at the office of the Registrar (for External Degrees), University Building, South Kensington, who, on application, will send all particulars.

Those among you who have enough energy and who would very much like to take the M.A. or other Degree, would, however, be debarred from the external courses because for all degrees above the Bachelor a full course of internal study at a recognised College is necessary. The length of such a course varies between 3 and 4 years, but here comes in the great advantage Londoners have. All the courses for the above-mentioned subjects are worked double. Full courses for the above-mentioned degrees and subjects are worked in the evening, so giving a man or woman who is dependent on his or her earnings the opportunity of availing themselves of the facilities for higher education.

It wants some courage and determination, but having worked it through it gives a feeling of success, of power, and last but not least of satisfaction. There are two colleges, especially, which come in question for this line of study: The London School of Economics and Political Science for Economics, Statistics, Mercantile Law, Banking and Journalism, and King's College for Law in general. The first-named college also houses a Library which is very valuable for any student of Administration, Economics and Political Science, and the Trustees are ready to grant permission to use the Library also to non-students, if the applicants are bona fide Research Students and can find a well-known person or a lecturer of the University to introduce and recommend them to the Director.

Now at all the Schools and Colleges mentioned, as well as at others, it is always possible to pursue only one small line of study, or one or two special subjects. While for any degree the applicant has to bring a certificate of having passed the London Matriculation, or other accepted examination, or failing this, has to sit for a preliminary examination, in the case of partial study (as a so-called 'occasional student') no such qualification is needed. So it is always possible to take, for instance, the Law of Banking, or Higher Accountancy, or again, Banking and Currency, etc., and so just fill up the gap in one's knowledge.

The competition in all branches of trade and in whatever vocation we choose, is daily becoming more severe and only those who have, in addition to practical experience, a good theoretical knowledge, will have the chance of getting a bit higher than the average.

One could also mention the many possibilities in the way of passing special examinations such as that of the Institute of Bankers, of Chartered Secretary or of Accountant, but all this is not very interesting to read for our friends who have all the knowledge they require, and I should advise prospective students to write to me for more particulars. Write to John Henry, c/o Swiss Observer, 23, Leonard Street, E.C.2., and state the line of study you want to pursue. I shall be pleased to help anyone either by advice or by telling him exactly where to get that advice.

Now then, I hope you will forgive me for only talking to one particular group of friends, but I am quite sure that you would have given the advice yourselves if it had been asked of you.

Yours sincerely, JOHN HENRY.

SWISS GYMNASTIC SOCIETY.

The first Display of the Season, followed by a Grand Dance in the evening, in aid of the Lucerne Fund, will be held on Sunday afternoon, the 23rd October, 1927, at 3 p.m. and 8.30 p.m., respectively, at the Union Helvetia Club, 1, Gerard Place, Shaftesbury Avenue, W.1., by the Senior and Junior sections of the above Society. The programme will consist of Individual work at the Horizontal and Parallel Bars, Simultaneous work at the Pommelled Horse, Indian Club Swings, Drill Exercises, Wrestling Exhibition, Pyramids and Tableaux, as well as songs and musical interludes.

In view of the fact that the Society contemplates competing at the next Federal Gymnastic Festival in Lucerne in July, 1928, it is hoped that the Swiss Colony will turn up in large numbers on the 23rd October, especially as everything will be done to give them a really good show.

A LADIES SECTION is in course of formation. Will Swiss ladies or ladies born of Swiss parents desirous of joining same, send their names and addresses to the Hon. Secretary, C. L. Schläppi, 47, Ebury Street, S.W.1. Practice at a Drill Hall of a L.C.C. School in the Western district.
