FEDERAL. AN ITALIAN PROTEST.

The Italian Government has lodged a protest with the Swiss Minister at Rome in connection with the "Bassanesi" affair. The facts are shortly the following : An aeroplane, in charge of a man named Bassenesi, dropped one day last week a large number of political pamphlets directed against Fascism over the town of Milan. On its return journey the machine crashed in the neighbourhood of the St. Gotthard, resulting in heighbourhood of the St. Gotthard, resulting in slight injuries to the aviator. It has subsequently been established that the machine originally started from Paris on its anti-fascist mission but made a brief halt in a field at Lodrino in the canton Ticino from which place the actual "raid" into Italy was effected. The aviator Bassanesi is at present under provisional arrest in Switzerland pending the formulation of a definite charge. definite charge.

She made use of an in-flated motor-tyre, which, through some defect, exploded when she was about half-way across the lake. The woman who was 36 years of age and unable to swim sank, without help being able to reach her in time. The body has not yet been found. N.Z.Z.

The Statistical Department of the town of Zurich announced that the natural growth of the population in June this year was finished up with an increase of 99 as compared with 94 last year. The immigration was slightly smaller—3,302, whereas the emigration was a little greater 3,108 so that the difference of 194 represents not quite half of last years figures. A total increase there-fore of 293 has brought the population to 242,394.

BERNE.

BERNE. A Childrens' Republic has established itself at Dürrenast. On Saturday, July 5th, 1,400 holiday-making children of both sexes rang-ing from 9 to 16 years of age and coming from all districts in Germany settled down on the shores of the lake of Thun in a well-organ-ised community. They are spending four weeks' holiday in the lovely air of the Bernese Oberland to fit them again for school and everyday life. One-hundred-and-fifty tents have been pitched, divided into nine villages, each village electing its own mayor and delegates to parlia-ment. Each of the 15 or more tents which form the village, again has its head-man who also is

The total, which forms the Republic, again has its own Authorities. For important questions Parliament is not sufficient, they have to be decided by a Plenary meeting. The children are not entirely left to them selves, as there are 200 "Helpers," young grown-ups who have been specially trained to guide and advise, but not to hinder perceptibly their decisions. The Republic is self-supporting, a large hut has been erected in which the community assembles in two shifts for meals, which are pre-pared in the adjoining kitchen and to which the Council of Thun has kindly agreed to lay on the gas. BIEL.

BIEL. In a wood between Sonvillier and St. Imier the body of a woman hawker who apparently hanged herself was found. The woman had her bodgings with a married couple named Messerli in St. Imier. When the police made enquiries a wit-ness came forward who saw Messerli wheeling a cart towards the woods on which was a form that looked like a body. Messerli was arrested. Since then three more witnesses have come forward con-firming the statement of the first witness. The autopsy of the body suggests murder. V.

VAUD.

The police Department of the Canton of Vaud has been augmented in its personnel by one dog —"Wigger." The attachment of Wigger is an official act duly recorded in the police archives of Lausanne. It is also a recognition of a dog whose exploits are already equalling in fame those of "Barry," the famous St. Bernhard who did such marvellous rescue work in the high Alps a few

" barry," the famous st. Definited who do such marvellous rescue work in the high Alps a few decades ago. " Wiggers " police work had a quite nonflicial origin. A farmer lost his purse, " Wigger," after suffiling some of the owners clothes, dug it up from beneath a six inch plough furrow after a three hours' search. The dog's fame spread still further when he located a woman who had disap-peared for three days from her home in the Jura mountains. Her family and the local police had searched in vain. Then " Wigger " was called in. The dog picked up almost instantly the seventy-two hour old scent which had been still further obliterated by the police he led a gruelling trail into the heart of the mountains, where, deep in a heavy snow drift, the woman was found, unconscious but still alive. OBERWALLIS.

OBERWALLIS. On Monday evening some observers on the Gornergrat could see a group of people on the Gorner glacier, who looked as if they had lost their way. A column was formed from the Hotel Riffelalp under the leadership of Guide Birren. When the column reached the group it was estab-lished that actually they were Italian fugitives who had amongst them a woman and a twelve-year-old boy. They were able to pass unnoticed that the column was formed for their relief they were deeply grateful. On Tuesday morning the whole party arrived back at Riffelalp. On being questioned for the inducement of this risky enter-prise they answered that they wanted to go to friends in France to look for work. N.Z.Z.

THE NEW BUILDING FOR THE LONDON Y.W.C.A.

To the EDITOR of the Swiss Observer

To the EDTOR of the Swiss Observer. Sir,—In your issue of October 13th, 1928, you have been kind enough to publish two letters ex-changed between Mrs. Baldwin, wife of the then British Prime Minister, and myself, regarding the erection of the new Y.W.C.A. Building, in Tottenham Court Road, which is to be the home of the Central Club for Girls and Women under the direction of the "Y.W.C.A. Blue Triangle For-ward Movement." Mrs. Baldwin wrote that, in view of the large number of Swiss girls who are view of the large number of Swiss girls who are using the Club, a contribution from Switzerland would be highly appreciated, and it was suggested

Word be highly appreciated, and it was suggested that such contribution should take the form of a Swiss room in the New Building. On publication of this correspondence in your paper, I have been encouraged by members of the Swiss Colony to recommend the enterprise of the Y.W.C.A. Committee to the charitable attention I we construct the characteristic to the characteristic attention of my countrymen in England and Switzerland. Before making a general appeal to the Colony, I have thought it advisable to bring the problem, in a personal and informal way, to the notice of a small number of Swiss concerns, institutions and smain number of Swiss concerns, institutions and private citizens here and in Switzerland and I am happy to-day to inform you that this measure, which was really meant to be only a preliminary one, has had the unexpectedly gratifying result of covering the full amount of the sum to be col-

In acknowledgement of this donation, the Committee of the Central Club has kindly con-sented to put permanently a certain number of bedrooms at the disposal of Swiss girls wishing to use the Club, at standard prices and in accord-ance with the general rules of the Club. This arrangement is all the more welcome as there are always no small difficulties in finding accorded always no small difficulties in finding accomoda-tion for Swiss girls passing through London.
