TRADIZIONI BELLINZONESI SAN NICOLAO.

" Please remember

"Please remember The 5th of November..." Al mondo piccino londinese sembrerà impossibile che un tale giorno per loro così importante, si che necessita commemorarlo con tanto di colpi... pirotecnici e con tanto di fuochi... di paglia, sia completamente ignorato dal mondo piccino nostrano, ticinese. Questo non sa proprio chi sia stato Guy Fawkes e non si preoccupa neanche di volerlo conoscere, han ben altro in testa i bimbi ticinesi, specialmente i bellizonesi... Loro devono pensare a quel bravo santo che ogni anno assume, o meglio riassume, spoglie umane, e viene, accompagnato dal suo santo che ogni anno assume, o meglio riassume, spoglie umane, e viene, accompagnato dal suo docile ciucherello, a trovarli : San Nicolao che, annualmente, lemme lemme, con la sua brava barbona bianca che gli arriva sino a metà del petto, con quel suo mantello d'un bel rosso fiammante, appoggiato a un nodoso bastone, chè non può cavalcare il ciucherello essendo già stracarico di doni pei bimbi, scende in su la sera del 5 dicembre dalla romita chiesa della Madonna della Neve, situata nel "mezzo del cammin" che della Neve, situata nel "mezzo del cammin" che comodamente conduce al castello più alto bellinzonese: quello di Untervalden, e su di un poggio accanto a quel grotto ben noto quanto il castello, e forse più di questo frequentato: il famoso "Torcett," dove, nelle sere belle estive e autunnali, mentre i raggi solari giuocano allegramente, in distanza, sul lago di Locarno che dal grotto si può scorgere, il rosato nostra-nello scorre nei caratteristici boccali la bionda formagella invita a uno spuntino... ma... intanto io mi sono allontanata dal bravo S. Nicolao che è giunto così nella vicinanza del Dragonato (perchè tale nome poi? o che forse un tempo in quel letto di torrente, quasi sempre asciutto, ci fosse un drago?... proverò chiederlo a S. Nicolao, lui lo saprà di certo dato che sa tutto: e quali sono i bimbi buoni a cui portare un gluocatolo, un dolce; e cosa quel tal bimbo speciale preferisce... ma... anche questa volta devo fare una corsettina... continuo a lasciarni sfuggire avanti questo benedetto Santo?), Davanti alle scuole Sud una numerosa schiera di frugolini lo attende ansiosamente, lui, bonac-cione, sorride, li saluta con ampie gesta della mano, e prosegue placido per la città, segnito da quella schiera che fa un baccano straordinario e con campanelle, e con latte vecchie, persino con pentole... e il corteo entra, passa per le vie principali, ovunque salutato dal popolo che si raduna ai lati d'ogni strada per acclamare. Ora un tamburo marcia trionfalmente innanzi a S. Nicolao e al ciucherello.... el suo rullio annuncia ai lontani ancora che S. Nicolao sta per arrivare. E gira così, mai stanco, sempre sorridendo, percorte tutta quanta la Turrita, sino a che è bioi completo, sino a che que umidore che emana la terra incomincia a penetrare nelle ossa... allora S. Nicolao prende la via del ritorno... ritorna nel mistero, da dove è venuto... nessuno sa dire bene quale è la sua dimora... lo sa solo il ciucherello, ma questo fedelmente mantiene il segreto... però domani, il 6 dicembre, i bimbi troveranno della Neve, situata nel "mezzo del cammin " che comodamente conduce al castello più alto bellinzonese: quello di Unterwalden, e su di un mente. SWISS RIFLE ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL BANQUET AND BALL.

PRICE 3d.

The frequency of the festive gatherings in has, in some quarters, given rise to our Colony the wish of co-ordination or even curtailment though it can hardly be disputed that such celebrations are one of our national characteristics, nowhere exhibited with greater insistence than in our Homeland. It is, therefore, a matter for congratulation that the committee of the Swiss congratulation that the committee of the SWiss Rife Association succeeded in mustering about 130 members and friends for their seventh Annual Banquet and Ball, which took place last Friday, December 12th, at the First Avenue Hotel under the chairmanship of Monsieur C. R. Paravicini, the Swiss Minister. This creditable achievement is enhanced in view of the admittedly adverse economic conditions and of the fact that the mem-economic conditions and of the fact that the mem-bers of our Colony have during the last six weeks nobly—and we venture to say with con-siderable personal sacrifice—supported four other banquets held by sister societies. The company sat down to dinner at 8 p.m. the preceding hour having agreeably been spent in the reception hall where the multitude and originality of the prizes reserved for our friendly suppers evoked everybody's admiration. The two loyal toasts having been proposed by the Chair-man during the dinner, Mr. Henry Senn, the president of the S.R.A., rose at its termination and addressed the gathering as follows : —Monsieur la Ministre Ladies & Gentlemen ·___

whilst to every President of the Swiss Rifle Association, although it's tenor may not have the same significance, it is nevertheless a sound that gladdens his heart for he only then realises the relief of the stand at ease from his responsibility.

grateful to his loyal supporters. He only wonders now whether the cross fire of comment has found him an easy target or whether he has offered no chance of a palpable hit. The battleground of the Swiss Rifle As-sociation this year has been at Hendon. With the exception of our yearly visit to Bisley where two teams of four went into action with very commendable results, we have not left its precincts. We were delighted to arrange, as in past years, shooting contests open to all mem-bers of the Swiss Colony in London for the Swiss Sports and for the 1st of August cele-bration and are gratified that these competi-tions were keenly contested. The beautiful array of prizes to be presented presently is perhaps the most convincing proof of the excel-lent "esprit de corps" which has prevailed amongst our members in the inter-members competitions during the past shooting season. I would like to take this opportunity of thank-ing all donors most heartily for their generous support of our to-night's prize table. The Swiss Rifle Association is still in its

I would like to take this opportunity of thanking all donors most heartily for their generous support of our to-night's prize table.
The Swiss Rifle Association is still in its youth but it has successfully weathered the storms of the 7 years it has been in existence. We are at present experiencing great anxiety in the world of commerce and it is only to be expected that universal depression in trade will leave its mark on sports and, whilst I have no wish to appear pessimistic, I do feel that never in the history of this Association has it been more necessary for our members to realise the great need of working together with good hearts and mutual goodwill in order to ensure the continued prosperity and success of the Swiss Rifle Association. Differences of opinion and difficulties there will always be but no matter how black the clouds may appear, every cloud has a silver lining and if the will to succeed is there, success will follow.
Shooting is one of the greatest of our National sports and I earnestly appeal to all members to focus their attention on that fact and to determine to uphold such an honourable tradition of our dear Homeland.
To-night we are gathered here to celebrate the 7th Anniversary and on behalf of the Swiss Rifle Association and myself to Monsieur

Ing round to look upon all familiar faces. I am specially grateful both for the Swiss Rifle Association and myself to Monsieur Paravicini, our honorary President, for having accepted the Chair. I wish to thank you Sir, for the keen interest you have taken and always take in the welfare of our Association. We feel very honoured by the company of our guests to night. We are grateful for your presence here and sincerely hope that you will take away with you the memory of happy hours spent with us.

I now come to the more delicate but never-thelows ubacomet togst. that is of the swiss Riffe

I now come to the more delicate but never-theless pleasant task, that of thanking the ladies for their presence to-night. I use the ex-pression delicate because only 12 days ago to the hour at a similar function I was suddenly asked to fling myself into the breach to propose the nour at similar interton I was subtlenly asked to fling myself into the breach to propose the toast of the ladies as the gentleman origin-ally nominated to do so gave in at the last moment. I thought I had prepared a very com-plimentary little speech but unfortunately some other gentleman who replied for the guests also took it in his head to reply for the ladies. He rather spoilt my effort as he con-sidered my endeavour to be crude. This "he" lady acquainted us gentlemen with the surpris-ing news that you ladies sometimes shingle your hair, soften your checks, redden your lips and even pluck your evebrows. You can imagine, therefore, that I approach the ladies with something of the hesitation Daniel must have felt before he realised the friendliness with which the lions entertained him. In order to consolidate my position I must say that we with which the lions entertained him. In order to consolidate my position I must say that we are charmed with your company. We cannot afford to lose your support as when the army is away it is just as necessary to keep the home fires burning whether your hair is cut to fashion's regulation or whether you have re-tained your school girl complexions. It will suffice for me to say that anywhere, any time, anyhow, you are essentially the objectives of the spotters of a good target and thoroughly adorable whether you strenuously resist advances or capitulate immediately at the first presenting of arms. With these few words, Gentlemen, I call

With these few words, Gentlemen, I call upon you to drink the health of "The Ladies."

In the unavoidable absence of Mr. A. F. Suter (President of the Nouvelle Société Helvétique), who had taken charge of replying for the official guests, Monsieur Ch. Chapuis, President of the City Swiss Club, stepped into the breach and said :

Monsieur le Ministre, Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen,

I really deeply sympathize with you that your ever alert President did not carry further afield his search for a more eloquent substitute for Mr. F. A. Suter.

We sincerely regret to hear that ill-health prevented Mr. Suter from attending this Banquet. I am sure you will all join me in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Last evening your President telephoned me to ask me if I would help him out of a hole, and serve as stop gap at this function. Somehow he already had then some qualms of conscience, because he said, "I know its not much in your line, but I hope you will help me out."

Now, I had looked forward to this Banquet with intense pleasure, the very thought that I should sit at this top table as your guest, with heaps to eat and drink and nothing to do but enjoy your company was something to live for. On hanging up the telephone receiver, I felt like the clergyman who was playing golf, and playing it very badly. Everytime he foozled a shot he remarked "Assouan!" At length his opponent could bare the mystery no longer. "Why," he asked, "do you say Assouan?" "Becunse," answered the cleric, "it's the biggest dam I know."

There are two kinds of speeches to be made in replying for The Guests, a short speech (which your President recommended me to make), and a long speech, which I intend in-flicting upon you. But do not be alarmed, the make), and a long speech, which I intend in-flicting upon you. But do not be alarmed, the short speech is, thank you, and the long speech is, I thank you, Mr. President, for the splendid way in which you gave this toast and on be-half of all the guests, I thank the Committee and members of the S.R.A. for their magnifi-cent hospitality.

I ask my fellow guests to join me and to drink to the prosperity and the further succes-ses of the Swiss Rifle Association.

When the unprofessional-though all the more efficient—toastmaster gave the word to Monsieur Paravicini there was a relieving ap-plause among the company who began to wonder why our Minister had not been allowed to speak before. Monsieur Paravicini began by paying tribute to the two previous speakers whose humorous allusions he had enjoyed very much. Unlike other orators, he endured no qualms or trepidation and, not sharing the feelings of Monsieur Chapuis' clergyman friend, he felt no necessity to refer to the great water-work in Upper Egypt. He felt, however, and he was sure his listeners were with him, that it was time to say something about the Swiss Rifle Association itself. True, the order of toasts had been reversed but courtesy was one of the outstanding characteristics of their President, "ladies came first anywhere, any time and anyhow" and this was, therefore, an honourable tradition with him. He—the Minister—regretted that he could not claim much of a share in the success of the As-sociation; the only thing he had done—and done well—was to regularly partake of the luxurious repast placed before him at their annual dinners. He heartily congratulated the Association on hav-ing left seven successful years behind it, success-tri, he thought, in spite or on account of the "differences of opinion and difficulties" referred to by the President. He rejoiced that the S.B.A. was approaching the tenth year of its existence for he could assure them from personal experience that a tenth anniversary was a delightful affair more efficient—toastmaster gave the word to Monsieur Paravicini there was a relieving apwas approaching the tenth year of its existence for he could assure them from personal experience that a tenth anniversary was a delightful affair to celebrate (laughter). Nobody realised more than himself the heavy burden borne by the former presidents, Messrs, DeBrunner, Strübin and Schmid, and the responsibility and devotion of Messrs, Lampert, C. O. Brullhard and P. Hilfiker, who personally superintended shooting upwation at the rife range. He nearrised the Hilfiker, who personally superintended shooting praiseworthy manner in which our foremost nat-ional sport, fraught with such grave danger, was carried on under conditions not altogether ideal. It also filled him with pride that the prestige of the Legation had been saved, one of his colleagues (P. Hilfiker) 'having managed to secure the twelfth prize in the final shooting competition (laughter). The Minister terminated his address by proposing the success and further prosperity of the Swiss Riffe 'Association, coupling with it the name of its President, Mr. Henry Senn opro-longed applanse). longed applause).

longed applause). Mr. G. E. DeBrunner, the honorary Vice-President, thanked the Minister for his splendid words of encouragement. It was entirely due to his keen interest and ever ready support that the banner of the S.R.A. was flying so proud and lofty. The speaker was dwelling upon the sym-bolic meaning of the menu card (reproducing a notel statue in Switzerland), affirming that if ever bolshevism should threaten the Legation the Swiss Minister would find every member of the Association, rifle in hand, guarding the territory of 32, Queen Anne Street which was so sacred to them. them.

The Swiss Minister then rose in order to per form, as he said, some extremely gratifying duties. They had already heard the great importduties. They had already heard the great import-ance the Association attached to the co-operation of the ladies. He was asked to say that the S.R.A. owed them all a huge debt of gratitude but that in the present had times it was beyond their means to make a suitable presentation to every lady (laughter). They had decided, therefore, to single out the good lady who during the inter-vals of their arduous firing bouts had so graci-ously and successfully rekindled their flagging spirits in the refreshment pavillion. He presented Mrs. Wullschleger with a silver cup suitably in-scribed. scribed

The Minister was also handed a shield, de-picting Wilhelm Tell, which he delivered into the hands of Mr. Henry Senn, the President, as a token of the high esteem of the members of his committee. Mr. Senn in accepting the gift, said it was a complete surprise to him and if he had filled his office to their satisfaction it was due to the loyal support he had received at all times from his collaparene and the members of the Anneit from his colleagues and the members of the Association.

The names of the three principal winners of this year's final competition were then called out by Mr. DeBrunner who handed to Mr. Edward

LE CHEF ET LE HOMARD.

Vons vous rappelez, chers lecteurs, cette aventure extraordinaire l'affaire des 80,000 hottes de foin, si délicieusement racontée par Monsieur France. Il n'y a pas bien longtemps, nous étions menacés, paraît-il, d'après la presse quotidienne, d'une nouvelle affaire aussi retentissante, celle des 80,000 homards ébou-illantés, car notre société humanitaire nationale descrit faire la gmerre aux maîtres quenes oui names, car nore socre humanitare nationale devait faire la guerre aux maîtres queues, qui, saisissant les queues des crustacés, les plongent dans l'eau bouillante pour mettre fin à leur existence avant de les transformer en ce mets cher aux gourmets, le homard à l'américaine.

Ceci, paraît-il, est une opération fort cruelle. Or, il faudrait placer le patient dans l'eau froide et le chauffer doucement pour arriver à l'étouffement car ceci est un trépas plus doux que le plongement dans l'eau bouillante.

Au moyen-âge, quand l'église miséricordieuse livrait ses victimes au bras séculier pour subir la mort à petit feu, l'exécuteur des hautes oeuvres voulut bien parfois les occire par un coup de grâce préalable.

Je ne voudrais pas cependant que les âmes compatissantes s'alarmassent du sort de ces pauvres êtres, ni qu'elles crussent que les princes de l'art culinaire ne fussent pas animés de sentiments humanitaires. C'est pour cette raison que je tiens à préciser que, chez les crustacés décapodes macroures ainsi que chez les batraciens et autres membres subalternes du règne animal, memorgene no vent pas dime considiuité. Lorenne retrainers mouvement ne vent pas dire sensibilité. Lorsque Pétals jeune, je me rappelle avoir assisté, un jour de marché à Dieppe, au spectacle d'un joyeux drôle, qui vendait des bagues mirifiques contre les shumetiones les rhumatismes.

Prenant une grenouille vivante, d'un geste digne de Monsieur Deibler, il décapita le batracien et d'un second geste aussi vif, il le dépouilla de sa peau.

Repliant les membres de la bête, il la plaça sur une plaque métallique et amoncela sur son dos un petit tas d'écus. Alors, à la fin d'un discours enflammé et explicatif, il toucha le moignon du cou avec la bague miritique.

Sursaut de l'animal et cascade de gros sous !

Voilà, dit-il, si ma bague peut faire sauter une pile de sous du dos d'une grenouille décédée, car elle n'a plus de tête, n'est-elle pas assez puissante pour faire sauter vos douleurs?

Un argument aussi probant porta ses fruits et la vente fut fructueuse. Or, la plaque étant en zinc et la bague en cuivre, notre bonhomme avait tout simplement une pile voltai'que, et nous savons que, chez les batraciens et les crustacés, on peut obtenir une réaction au stimulus électrique, même de nombreuses heures après la mort.

Les chefs disent qu'ils percent la moëlle épinière avec une aiguille avant de procéder à la cuisson du homard et, en effet, cette opération assure la mort d'une facon aussi efficace que la décapitation.

Il est dangereux de s'aventurer trop loin sur cette voie. Si nous sommes logiques avec nous-mêmes, il ne faut pas manger les huîtres, car si on verse quelques gouttes de jus de citron sur bivalve succulent à l'état frais, on verra la chair se contracter.

Une huîtres possède-t-elle de la sensibilité

On peut se demander si les sensitions d'une huitre, descendant doucement le gosier d'un gourmet, ne sont pas plus désagréables (pour elle) que le plongeon momentané du homard dans l'eau bonillante Les chefs seraient menacés des foudres de la loi et cela pourrait fournir un spectacle émouvant de voir discuter par d'éminents juristes renforcés de moult batteries d'experts physiologistes, humanistes, biologistes et autres, le problème de la sensibilité crustacéenne.

On pourrait insinuer que tout cela semble un peu illogique dans un pays du on honore tant la chasse à courre mais—j'oublic—dans un cas il s'agit du sport, dans l'autre simplement de l'art.

FASHIONS FOR MEN. By W. PRITCHETT.

In my two previous articles I have discussed this winter's new fashions in overcoats and suits and so, in the present article, I intend to give some idea of the correct formal day wear and some idea of, the correct formal day wear and formal and informal evening wear, together with the latest styles and cloths. Formal day dress is used at Royal, Govern-ment and Official receptions, Weddings, Funerals, Luncheons, Afternoon Parties, at Ascot and such like occasions. The suit used is what is generally known as the Morning Coat Suit and comprises a tail coat made from fine black or grey worsted, cheviot or vicuna cloth. A single or double breasted waistcoat to match the coat or of a washing material or cloth in white, grey or buff washing material or cloth in white, grey or buff colours. The trousers will be chosen to suit the occasion when they will be worn and will be of striped effects in neat narrow or wide patterns, checks or herringbone designs in black and white or grey. The smart coat is cut with a broad chested effect and fits well into the waist and over the hips and has one bone button to the front and the units and mass one bottom to the front and the cuffs fairly narrow and finished with three smaller bone buttons. The waistcoat must be well fitting and sharply defining the waist. The trousers will be long and full with plain bottoms and finished with four pleats at the tops. This and infinited with four pleats at the tops. This suit can make or mar a man's appearance, especially as it is worn when he should be looking his very best, so particular care must be taken to see that it is well tailored and cut. The position of the fashionable waistline as applied to each individual is one of the chief factors a clever cut-

The Frock Coat is very seldom seen nova-days, although the King still favours it, and its return to popularity is very remote. On those formal occasions in the evening such official receptions, House and Theatre parties the tail coat suit is the correct wear. On such other occasions as in your Club, Bachelor Dinner parties, at the seaside, on board ship, when hadies are not present or other informal times the Dinner Suit is worn. A rule that can be generally applied is, if in doubt, don the tail suit for it is always correct. The tail suit is a particularly pleasing gar-ment if well made and during the last few years many improvements have been made in its style to increase its smartness. This year, broad shoulders, short square fronts, longer tails, broader lapels all tend to give that appearance of height and breadth which is characteristic of masculine fashions at the present time. The white waisteoat has received more attention at the hands of "Dame Fashion" whan any other article of evening dress. The latest styles of waistcoats of evening dress. The latest styles of waistoats are cut with a slightly wider opening than formerly and have a square shaped collar in both the single and double breasted styles. The double breasted model is cut with two or three buttons and come to one or two points at the centre and the bottom of the waistcoat is sharply cut away to conform to the short fronts of the tail coat.

A ROMAN FACTORY TOWN NEAR BERNE.

Valuable discoveries have been made about four miles to the north from Berne. The historical Museum in Berne has undertaken alrendy some years ago diggings in the Reichen-bachwood and lately it was found out, that nearly 2,000 years ago there must have been a factory town of the Roman Helvetian.

This extended Roman settlement was very likely of Celtic origin, for twenty to thirty pits were found, which are the typical dwellings of the Celts. This Celtic settlement was probably one of these twelve towns called Oppidum, of which Caesar, the Roman fieldmarshal, spoke a great deal deal Already a few years ago quite near to the Reichenbachwood three Celtic churchyards and a great Roman cemetery with 170 graves were dug out. Since that time various Roman and Celtic objects found there proved that a large settle-ment must have existed, which had become a Roman town one century after Christ.

By further digging they came on a By further digging they came on a street 4 yards broad and made the exceedingly interesting discovery of a Roman factory centre. Amongst pottery ware five furnaces were found, one of them even contained twelve casks potted together. The utensils showed an improving technical development. Some of these potteries can be traced back to the third and other decorated ones to the fourth century. The impressed trademarks enabled one even to make out the names of different potters, one was called " A teus" different potters, one was called "Ateius" another "Acutus" and a third "Modestus." At that time the clay was worked on potters" wheels as it is done nowadays. Articles of pot-tery from this unknown town were discovered in Soleure and in the west of Switzerland, a good proof of trade activity of these Roman potters. Also slate pencils had been manufactured of which several hundred were found. With those the Romans used to write on waxboards.

the Romans used to write on waxboards. Another triade was the manufacturing of a kind of safety pin. The Romans did not know of buttons and fastened their long pleated garments with such pins.¹ In this branch two names of tradesmen of the first and second century after Christ were still visible, "Secos" and "Sabinus." Even a pharmacentical industry must have existed. It is known that 220 occulist stamps belonged to the old Roman Empire of which seven were in Helvetian and from those seven three have were in Helvetian and from those seven three have been found in the Reichenbachwood. With these stamps the Roman occulists used to mark their pharmaceutical products and very likely the potters supplied them with little pots for unguent.

In another Celtic pit which was reached by a few steps, some fragments of glass, bones of animals and a Roman saddler's or tanner's knife were dug out, therefore it is quite probable that the leather trade flourished at that time.

Last year a foundry was discovered and lately a furnace. Owing to the fact that there was fine sand and good clay in this part, the Roman chose this place for a commercial centre in the Roman Helvetian.

This discovery gains in interest every year and will be of great value for the work of exploration of prehistorical Switzerland.

UNIONE TICINESE.

The "Festa Famigliare," in aid of the Fonds de Secours, which took place on the 9th inst., at Pagani's Restaurant, proved a really fine success both as regards attendance as well as enjoyment. both as regards attendance as were as enjoyment. Every available place for the Dinner in the Queen Alexandra Hall had been booked in advance but seasonal ailments kept a few away. It was a party of 150 which sat down to the banquet, and by the time the dance was in full swing the com-pany numbered over 200.

pany numbered over 200. We were treated, as usual, to the good food and service of Pagani's, and right from the begin-ning the assembly acquired a festive mood, in which Christmas crackers were allowed to play a part. The traditional toasts were honoured in due course and then Mr. W. Notari, President, rose to thank the numerous members and friends who had riven site sconteneous members and friends who had given such spontaneous memoers and ritends who had given such spontaneous support to the call of the society. He mentioned in particular Mr. G. Marchand, who has been a very con-sistent friend for many years and read out a com-municition received from Signor Clemente Rezzonico. Secretary of Legation, expressing re-cret of laive mergical blocks. munication received from Signor Chemenie Rezzonico, Secretary of Legation, expressing re-gret at being unavoidably prevented from being with us, but wishing us every success. One very pleasant task of Mr. Notari was to inform the gathering that the offer he made on behalf of the Society at our Annual Banquet, last March, with the view of helping the Fond Dimier had met with an excellent response, both from the other Swiss Societies as well as from the Swiss colony in general, and it was certain that terms would be amply fulfilled. The response from the Ticinesi had been quite fair, but there was still time for anyone to identify himself with the good cause, if he had not already done so. To Mr. O. Gambazzi, Secretary, fell the task of welcoming our friends, and he expressed the pleasure of the Society at having with us such
