Swiss Sports.

We particularly wish to draw the attention of our readers and their friends to the Swiss Sports Meeting which will take place next Saturday.

The Committee of the Swiss Sports has spared neither time nor money to make this event a great success, and we hope that many of our compatriots and their friends will make the journey to Herne Hill.

We feel sure that they will not be disappointed, it will be an afternoon well spent. Therefore make up your mind now, and do not fail those who have given their time and money freely, that you and your friends should have an enjoyable afternoon. Don't say "I may come along," say "I will be there," and we are certain you won't regret it.

FEDERAL.

RAILWAY UP THE MATTERHORN.

The Matterhorn, conquered 71 years ago by the faith, courage, and tenacity of man, is now gradually surrendering to the machine. Whymer would be surprised, perhaps disagreeably, at the slow but fatal submission of the superb mountain which in his day appeared to defy every earthly power.

Until only a few years ago the guides used to tell us that the road which rises from Châtillon ended at Valtournanche, and that from there the route could only be taken to Breuil either on foot or on the back of a mule. Since 1934 it has been possible to go from Valtournanche to Breuil by motor-car over a fine road, and Breuil itself has become a village with several fine hotels and a large subterranean garage. The Italians have changed the name of Breuil to Cervinia, and Cervinia will soon become a commune.

But tourists at Cervinia next season will find a novelty of much greater interest than the new road. In a fortnight there will be opened the first stretch of a rope railway, which in time will be continued as far as Zermatt and make the Matterhorn ascent a matter of a few hours, without nailed boots, without guides, and without ropes.

It was no easy task to transport from Châtillon to Cervinia (Breuil) the two steel ropes, which are each 2,600 yards long and weigh altogether 68 tons. They have now been placed in position, and the work is almost finished. The first section goes from the hollow of Cervinia to the Maison plain, with a rise of about 1,700ft. The stations at the two extremities are ready. The first span will be 1,300 yards long; altogether two kilometres will be covered in less than seven minutes and the cages will be able to carry 37 persons.

The second section (which it is estimated will be ready by next summer) will go as far as the Theodule Pass and end near the Altogether six kilometres (3½ miles) of aerial journey on the longest and highest rope-railway in the world will be covered. The third stretch will reach to Zermatt, in Swiss territory.

Meanwhile this first section will be of singular interest for the noble panorama which the way will offer to tourists, who will have a sight at close range of the Matterhorn in its majestic lines and fantastic lights, and for the 10 magnificent skiing runs on the Maison Plain, six of them downhill.

CHARGE AGAINST NAZI AGENT.

It was officially announced that an agent of the German secret police, the Gestapo, has been arrested in Zurich on a charge of conspiring against the safety of the Swiss Confederation.

The Social Democratic newspaper, the "Volksrecht," states that the accused man is alleged to have spied upon German anti-Nazi refugees in Switzerland.

RECOGNISING RUSSIA.

The Federal Council is expected to reconsider the question of diplomatic relations between Switzerland and the Soviet Union this month.

There have been complaints recently from Swiss merchants that they have been passed over when the Soviet Government was placing contracts abroad, because of the lack of official relations between Berne and Moscow.

It is expected that the Swiss authorities will shortly remedy this state of affairs.

Switzerland and Holland are the only two European countries which so far have not recognised Russia.

SWISS MILK WITH.

How do the Swiss do it? Not only did they compel Germany to hand back Dr. Jakob, the anti-Nazi, kidnapped on German soil, but now they have sent the Nazi spy, Dr. Wesemann to quod for 3 years. Could France or Italy have done that? I doubt it. Could Britain? The Germans would have laughed in our faces. We have not even protested against Wesemann being employed by the German Embassy here to spy on German refugees in London.

It is easy to understand why no Power wants to antagonise Switzerland. There must be an international sanctuary somewhere and Switzerland is temperamentally and geographically cut out for the part. An impregnable oasis of hotel keepers in the middle of an ocean of quarrelsome and mutually suspicious nations! A spiritual home for all the Ashendens in Europe! On top of that there is a sturdy independence about the Swiss that makes it more profitable to let them have their way than to quarrel with them.

VIOLENT THUNDERSTORMS IN SWITZERLAND.

A violent thunderstorm swept over Central Switzerland last Sunday, causing much damage, particularly in the Cantons Lucerne and Berne. Hail fell for over half an hour and in some places a depth of 3in. of hailstones had not melted by next morning. Rail and road communications were interrupted for several hours by floods, some bridges were swept away, and the fruit trees now in blossom were much damaged. No casualties are so far reported, but the material loss is great.

BOY KING'S NEW WATCH.

A wonderful wrist-watch has been presented to young King Farouk, Egypt's new ruler.

It was the gift of the Swiss colony in Cairo.

Said to be the most exquisite specimen of its kind in the world, the watch requires winding only once a month.

It shows the date, the position of the sun and moon, the altitude, the temperature, and, of course, most accurately, the time.

The watch was made by a Swiss who lived for a considerable time in Egypt, and the task took him nearly five years.
