ITALY EXPELS SWISS JOURNALISTS.

M. Paul Gentizon, since 1927 Rome correspondent of the French paper "Le Temps," has been ordered to leave Italy before March 5th. M. Gentizon was consistently friendly to the Fascist regime, but in spite of his political sympathies he ranked as the best informed of the French journalists in Rome, and his messages in the "Temps" were an extremely valuable source of information.

The ideal foreign correspondent in Rome, according to the Italian Government, is apparently a person who provides neither views nor news, but only transmits communiqués. M. Gentizon had a different conception of the functions of a journalist, and that apparently has been enough to cause his expulsion.

M. Gentizon is of Swiss nationality. Two other Swiss journalists, both of whom have lived nearly all their lives in Italy, have been ordered to leave. They are Dr. Hodel, the distinguished correspondent of the "Neue Zürcher Zeitung," and M. Pedrazzini, correspondent of various Swiss papers.

SWISS GOVERNMENT INQUIRY.

M. Motta, Chief of the Political Department, informed the Federal Council of a preliminary report received from the Swiss Minister in Rome. According to this, the Italian authorities declare that the measure does not imply disapproval of the attitude of Switzerland or of the Swiss Press, but is based on personal motives. As a matter of fact, however, the three journalists have always been considered in Switzerland as very favourable to the Fascist régime.

The Federal Council, therefore, did not consider the reply satisfactory and instructed the Swiss Minister to inquire of Count Ciano on his return to Rome the real reasons for the Italian decision. M. Motta will discuss the matter with the Italian Minister in Berne.

WILLIAM TELL OPEN-AIR PERFORMANCES.

Open-air performances of the William Tell drama will again be a feature of Interlaken, on Sunday afternoons, from July 9th-September 10th. For the convenience of spectators the auditorium is covered. The program will, as usual, start at 1:30 p.m. with fees of admission ranging, as heretofore, from 3.30 Swiss Francs to 12 Swiss Francs each, including ticket tax.

At Altdorf, fondly described as William Tell's home town, the Tell drama will be presented during the same period in summer, also on Sunday afternoons, in the William Tell Playhouse.

TOSCANINI TO CONDUCT IN SWITZERLAND.

In view of the extraordinary success which the first International Music Festival at Lucerne registered during the summer season 1938 plans are now being made for a repetition of this event from middle of July to beginning of September, 1939. Toscanini, the great maestro, who directed the special Wagner Festival concert in Tribschen Park near Lucerne last August has definitely consented to direct several symphony concerts, also Verdi's "Requiem" with choir, soloists and orchestra. Negotiations are also being made with several eminent conductors and soloists.

BASLE FAIR.

At the Swiss Industries Fair in Basle from March 18th to 28th, 1939, a special section "Wholesome Food" will display a variety of samples of the many food products manufactured in Switzerland. The organisation of this exhibit by the Fair Management will be carried out in close collaboration with theoretical and practical experts.
