Federal

Revenue from Swiss Customs duties during the first nine months of this year amounted to Frs.290,000,000 (£16,700,000), against Frs.194,000,000 (£11,200,000) in the same period in 1946. This reflects the rising trend of imports, which from January to September last are expected to exceed exports by as much as Frs. 1,000,000,000 (£57,600,000). Should this movement continue, Switzerland's balance of payments will shortly be adverse. Hence the drive for attracting tourists and for an understanding with Britain with a view to lifting the travel ban.

* * *

The damage caused to Swiss peasants by this year's drought is estimated at Frs.200,000,000 (£11,500,000). Federal and cantonal help should supply about Frs.60,000,000 (under £3,500,000) of this.

* * *

The Swiss cost-of-living index (August, 1939, equals 100) was 158.7 on 30th September. Prices for milk products have been raised recently, so the index should be a few points higher at the end of October.

It is argued in many quarters that the index no longer reflects the actual cost of living and the Federal authorities have been invited to adapt it to present-day requirements.

* * *

During the first week of October the Swiss National Bank's gold reserve rose by Frs.45,000,000 to Frs.5,352,000,000. Bank notes in circulation and other obligations at sight were covered by gold on 7th October, to the extent of 101 per cent.

* * *

Britain's exports to Switzerland in September amounted to Frs.34,100,000, against Frs.25,900,000 for the previous month. By this rise Britain now occupies third place among Switzerland's suppliers. Swiss exports to the U.K., during the same period, were Frs.3,700,000 higher at Frs.10,200,000.

The United States retained its traditional post-war position as Switzerland's biggest supplier and customer, its exports and imports during the month amounting to Frs.97,700,000 and Frs.31,000,000, respectively.

Despite Sweden's import restrictions, Swiss exports to that country rose, from end-August to end-September, from Frs.11,200,000 to Frs.25,000,000.

Switzerland's total imports in September amounted to Frs.386,000,000 and exports were Frs.282,000,000.

* * *

The purchase of 75 British Vampire aeroplanes, recently approved by the Swiss Parliament, will involve a deal of Frs.52,500,000. A corresponding credit has just been opened by the Swiss Federal Council, by special decree. The said sum exceeds by far the total monthly U.K. exports to this country.

* * *

Switzerland is to pay in dollars for 2,000 tons of unsalted Danish butter. The price to be paid is $138 per 100 kilos, corresponding to 6.61 kroner per kilo. This compares with the 6.50 kroner per kilo which the United Kingdom was asked to pay.

The quantity of butter involved is about a week's production.

* * *

A new trade pact just concluded between Switzerland and Belgium and Luxemburg aims at consolidating the satisfactory trade relations between the countries. Switzerland is to receive more coal, and tourist traffic is to be facilitated.

* * *

The results of the Swiss general elections announced showed that the Social Democrats, for four years Switzerland's strongest party, have been overtaken by the Progressive Democrats, a centre party. The pro-Communist "Labour Party," outlawed from 1940 to 1945, has seven seats in the new Parliament.

No change is expected in the composition of the Government — a coalition of Conservatives, Progressives, Social Democrats, and the Farmers, Workers, and Middle Class Party.

countries, has been concluded between Switzerland and Italy. Despite many inadequacies, it was deemed appropriate under present circumstances to retain the compensation system for the exchange of goods, payments to be effected by the Swiss National Bank and the Ufficio Italiano dei Cambi, respectively.

For a number of goods the Italian exporter will receive 50 per cent. in Swiss francs, entitling him either to buy goods in Switzerland or to change them into dollars at the official rate.

In some instances, the capital transfer will be resumed by Italy and will comprise interest service for some Italian loans, dues in respect of certain property, educational outlays, pensions, certain transit profits, etc.

Incidentally, a normal trade pact was entered into with Italy as far back as August, 1945, but did not take effect due to the veto of the Allied occupation authorities. The ban was lifted in June, 1946, but the agreement was not put into operation.

Britain has refused Switzerland's request to withdraw the ban on tourists from Britain.

The British Government's refusal, dated October 15th, was friendly and understanding in tone, and showed full appreciation of the difficulties its decision will cause to the Swiss hotel trade, it was stated.

The refusal was based on the precarious foreign exchange situation in Britain, and on the general economics undertaken to surmount it.

Offenders against the security of the roads are unfortunately very leniently dealt with in Switzerland. It is about time that motorists, who endanger the safety of road users, should be treated with more severe sentences. [A.T.S.]

The following couples have celebrated their Diamond wedding anniversaries (60 years): Mr. & Mrs. Kung-Huwiler, Muri-Dorf (Aargau); Mr. & Mrs. J. & K. Studhalter-Haas, Kriens, (Lucerne); Mr. & Mrs. J. Beul-Züger, Lachen, (Schwyz); Mr. & Mrs. F. Bachmann-Scheiwiler, Degersheim, St. Gall; Mr. & Mrs. J. M. Wiget-Steiner, Brunnen, (Schwyz); Mr. & Mrs. F. Schwander-Howald, Nidau, (Berne), parents of Mr. H. Schwander, of 14, Lansdowne Court, Purley, have celebrated their Iron wedding anniversary (65 years).

The appearance of the Swiss Alps has changed during the past summer. The heat has been so great and so continuous, and the drought so serious, that many glaciers are now hanging like old rags on the naked collars of the highest peaks.

This is particularly so in the case of the Rhône glacier, which a few years ago sprawled lazily in the Gletsch glen and now shrinks at the level of Belvedere, or of the small glacier on the south-eastern flank of Les Diablerets, which is now reduced to a small white speck on the grey rocks. Some summits have lost their snow caps, while on others the bare rock is everywhere protruding where once snow and ice existed.

A general retreat of Alpine glaciers has been going on since 1850 — with occasional forward dashes — but it has never reached such proportions as during the present year. Before 1850 observations were scarce and rather inaccurate, but it is known that Alpine glaciers made their last big offensive between 1820 and 1850.

There was also a time towards the end of the seventeenth century when Alpine glaciers were receding and when, according to tradition and to certain documents, their retreat exceeded the present rate. Last summer your Correspondent came across some old papers in Zermatt which stated that the Bishop of Sion had allowed the people of Zermatt to go to Sion to attend the June procession by crossing the Col d'Hérens, as it was free of ice and snow and was the shortest route to the capital. Local tradition also says that at the same time a man could walk up to the Théodule Pass without setting foot either on ice or on snow, and that herds of cattle, pack mules, and oxen frequently crossed from Switzerland to Italy and vice versa. The Matterhorn museum at Zermatt possesses some mule shoes, cattle chains, and other relics of that period found on the Théodule and Tiefenmatten glaciers.

DEBROUILLARDE.

Une petite fille de trois ou quatre ans était penchée sur le chat et lui donnait quelque chose à manger que le chat, visiblement, n'avait pas envie d'avaler, c'était des Graines pour canari. "Voyons, lui did son oncle, maman ne t'a certainement pas dit de donner ces graines au chat?"

"Non, elle m'a dit que c'était pour le canari."

"Alors va le trouver dans la cage."

"Il n'est pas dans la cage, il est dans le chat."

UN APPEL AUX SUISSESSES D'ANGLETERRE.

Depuis le début de 1947, plus de 2,000 Suisses ont débarqué en Angleterre.

Préoccupées vous-mêmes de votre foyer, des difficultés économiques que vous rencontrez chaque jour, peut-être n'avez-vous jamais songé à ce que devenaient ces jeunes compatriotes !

Vous souvenez-vous encore de votre arrivée en Grande-Bretagne et des obstacles que vous avez dû surmonter : la langue étrangère, la vie si différente, le mal du pays, l'ennui de la maison qui rendent la solitude parfois intolérable ?

Alors, voulez-vous tendre une main amicale à ces jeunes filles qui se trouvent isolées, peut-être en danger moral ? Nous ne prendrons que peu de votre temps si précieux. Nous vous prions seulement, en devenant une Amie de la Jeune Fille, de voir ce que vous pourriez faire dans votre entourage immédiat pour aider une ou deux Suisses. La campagne hivernale semble triste à qui s'éloigne de sa patrie pour la première fois et l'après-midi de congé passée dans un Londres maussade et brouillardoux n'a rien de distrayant . . . à moins qu'on ne s'égare dans des lieux peu recommandables. En devenant une Amie, n'ayez crainte : il ne vous sera rien demandé que vous ne puissiez offrir. Plutôt qu'une aide matérielle, c'est un soutien moral qu'il s'agirait d'offrir à nos Suisses, celles qui sont éloignées dans la campagne, celles qui craignent les Y.W.C.A. à cause de la langue, celles que n'attirent pas les clubs d'une Eglise et qui sont justement les plus exposées !

Vous savez peut-être que les Amies de la Jeune Fille, fédération internationale, ont pour principe d'aider toute jeune fille, sans distinction de religion, condition sociale ou nationalité. Si nous vous demandons de tendre la main aux Suisses, c'est que "charité bien ordonnée commence par soi-même" et que nous savons de source sûre que nombre de nos jeunes compatriotes sont en difficulté en Angleterre.

Pensez à ce que vous aimeriez que l'on fît à vos filles, à vos sœurs à l'étranger et faites-le pour d'autres, en nous écrivant que vous devenez une des nôtres.
