Swiss Parliament will make special provisions for conscientious objectors to military service.

Some time ago the motion, carried in Parliament by a narrow majority, placed the matter in the hands of the Government, which will draw up a Bill providing for non-combatant service for men whose conscience prevents them from serving in the armed forces.

At present no reason other than ill-health will secure dispensation, and refusal to bear arms is punishable by imprisonment.

M. Kobelt, head of the Federal Military Department, who opposed the measure, said that, out of a million men called to arms during the war, only 76 refused to serve for reasons of conscience, and of this number only those who refused to serve as hospital orderlies were sent to prison.

A modus operandi between Spain and Switzerland has been reached whereby trade between the two countries will be greatly increased. Spanish business men can now apply for export and import licences to Switzerland. Agreement has also been reached for 5,000 tons of bananas to be sent from the Canary Islands to Switzerland this year.

Two items have been dropped from the rationing list in Switzerland. Households are no longer checked on consumption of gas, but coal allocations to gas-manufacturing plants are limited.

Rationing of unsugared condensed milk, imported and domestic production was lifted.

Monsieur Jerzy Putrament, Minister Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Poland in Berne, who has been transferred as Ambassador to Paris, gave a farewell dinner to mark the occasion. Dr. Etter, President of the Swiss Confederation, Federal Councillor Petitpierre and Minister Stucki, as well as members of the Diplomatic Corps were present.

VARIED AND APPETISING

With Maggi's Aspic Jelly valuable additions may be made to war-time menus. From meat, fish and vegetable "left-overs" attractive supplementary dishes can be contrived.

INVALID ASPIC

Maggi's Aspic Jelly in a small mould daintily served with two or three small strips of toast will be a welcome change from "beef tea."

FISH ASPIC

Cod or Salmon remaining from the boiled fish can be used, also prawns or shrimps. Fill the mould  $\frac{3}{4}$  full and when nearly set put in the flakes of fish and fill up.

MEAT ASPIC

Cooked fresh sausage meat or meat left over from the joints may be used minced. Drop the meat into the jelly before setting and serve with a little watercress or cress.

ASPIC SANDWICHES

Spread the slices of bread with margarine and then with a thin layer of jelly. Add grated cheese, watercress, mustard and cress, meat or fish paste.

JELLIED BEEF SOUP

A rich jellied beef soup may be made instantly with the addition of boiling water. Greatly appreciated by Fire-Watchers.

A memorial service was held on Friday, May 9th, at the Mittelholzer monument at Dübendorf on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of his death.

Amongst those who attended the simple but impressive service, were the managers of Swissair, E. Groh, Dr. G. von Meiss, and E. Bethge, as well as the wife and son of the late aviator; and members of the staff of the company.

Colonel Edwin Schwarzenbach, a member of the Board of Swissair, and a personal friend of Mittelholzer, paid a moving tribute to the great aviator, and placed a laurel wreath on his resting place.

Traffic

"The Motor," in their issue of May 14th, gives a valuable tip to motorists visiting our country, by writing:—

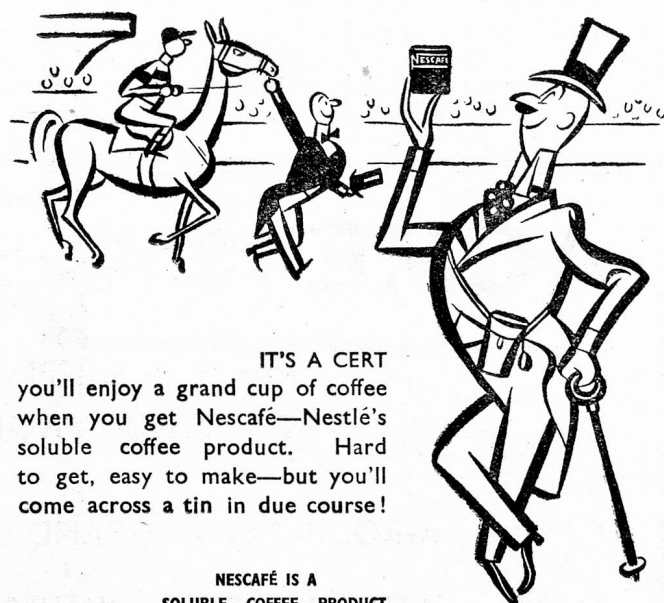

Motorists going to Switzerland this summer will find it a great help if they remember Number Eleven. By dialling this on any telephone, one can get road information, details of what passes are open, a weather report, and the results of the principal sporting events. But not only that: the omniscient young lady at the other end of the wire will also give stranded motorists the name of the nearest garage that is open, and the details of the chemist and doctor on duty in the neighbourhood in case of emergency. So dial One-One and get what you want to know.

Economics

With regard to the latest communication from the B.I.S. the "Financial Times" in their issue of the 15th inst. writes:—

"The statement of account of the Bank for International Settlements as at 31st March last shows as a separate item the funds invested in Germany. These assets total 291.2 million Swiss gold francs. All have their origin in funds which were placed on the German market in the years 1930 and 1931 in fulfilment of the obligations laid upon the Bank by the Hague Agreements. No new funds have been placed in Germany since 1931.

On the other hand, the long-term deposits received in application of the Hague Agreements are shown on the liabilities side of the statement of account at the total amount of 228.9 million Swiss gold francs. The legal position with regard to the rights and obligations of the bank under the Hague Agreements in respect of its assets in Germany and the long-term deposits entrusted to it has not been altered by the suspension of the annuity payments.

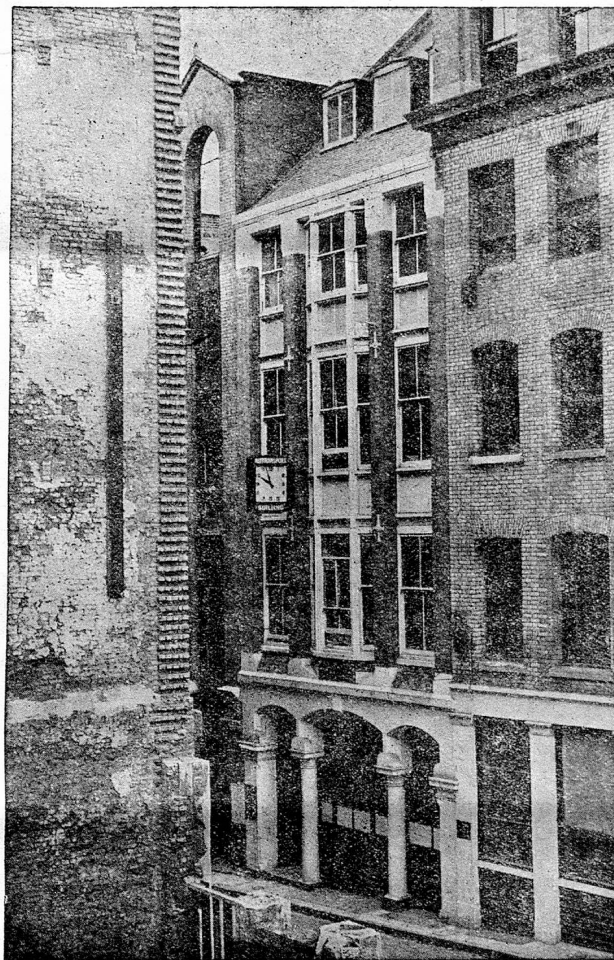

The bank has drawn the attention of the Governments concerned to its rights under the terms of the agreements in force in respect of its funds in Germany and has requested that these should be fully safeguarded.

There is no indication in the accounts or in an accompanying communiqué if, and to what extent, the bank's assets in Germany are covered by gold deposits and foreign balances owned by the Reichsbank.

The assets of the B.I.S. as at 31st March, other than the funds invested in Germany, amount to about 208,000,000 Swiss gold francs, of which 83,000,000 Swiss gold francs is represented by bar gold, held chiefly in Berne, New York and London. The remaining assets total 125 million Swiss gold francs, and almost the whole is expressed in dollars or Swiss francs, or is repayable in gold.

Our Political Correspondent writes: The future of the B.I.S. and the effect of the outcome of the war on the control of its share capital is the subject of two questions tabled by Colonel Crosthwaite-Eyre. It is now believed in usually well-informed quarters that, contrary to their original intentions, the Allied Governments do not at present intend to liquidate the Statistics for last year show a great improvement in Switzerland's demographic situation which for years has been causing considerable concern.

Last year the number of marriages was 38,747, the highest ever attained in Switzerland.

Births also show a considerable increase — 89,102 — only 8,000 less than the highest figure ever recorded, which was in 1901.

Last year the birthrate exceeded 20 per thousand, the minimum recorded being approximately 14 per thousand in 1937. The proportion of births over deaths was 38,867 beating the 1902 record by 88.

The situation is stated to be due to progressive social legislation and improved economic conditions.

During the last 30 years military statistics show that the average height of males in Switzerland has increased about two inches.

72nd FETE SUISSE.

As announced elsewhere in this paper, the traditional Fête Suisse — the 72nd of its kind — will be held on Saturday, 14th June, at 5.30 p.m. at the Central Hall, Westminster.

This ancient annual reunion, which dates from 1864, needs no introduction to the Swiss residents of London. Its popularity, its strong patriotic appeal have made it what it is. And well they know why more hundreds from year to year have flocked to it until the 1,000 mark was passed in 1935 to reach nearly 1,600 in 1939. Then came the war, which put a temporary stop to this great gathering and sent home a good many of our young people. Last year, this annual event in the Swiss colony was renewed; over 900 compatriots and friends patronised it and showed that the Fête Suisse had not been forgotten but, indeed, had remained dear to their heart.

Once again, an attractive programme has been arranged which will delight all, old and young, and will bring back happy memories, to many. Real alpine flowers freshly gathered from our mountains will, it is hoped, arrive in time to bring greetings from our homeland.

The doors will open at 5 p.m. There will be the usual long interval in the programme to enable friends to meet, and the end is timed for 9 p.m. There will be teas and light refreshments for all, and how good they always are!

So do come to the Central Hall on Saturday, 14th June. Tickets at 2/- for adults and 1/- for children can be obtained in advance or at the door on the day. Incidentally, you will help the Swiss Benevolent Society.
