Federal

This year the First of August was celebrated throughout Switzerland with more than the usual solemnity. The theme of all the patriotic demonstrations was one of national unity which bordered on a sacred union of all the political forces of the country.

As usual, bonfires were lit even in the smallest villages, and the inhabitants listened standing and bareheaded at the lecture of the federal pact of 1291.

The day ended with everyone returning home with the same ideal — that of upholding in any circumstances the integrity and the independence of the motherland.

Dr. Ernst Feiss, Swiss Minister in Hungary has resigned from his post.

Minister Feist was born in 1897 at Riehen (Ct. Basle). He studied at the Federal Technical University in Zurich, where he obtained the degree of doctor of science.

In 1928 he entered the Grand Council of the canton of Aargau in the capacity of Secretary to the " Bauern und Bürgerpartei " in Brugg. Six years later (1934), he entered into the service of the Federal Economic Department in Berne reaching in 1939, the post of Director of the said administration. In 1946, he was appointed Swiss Minister in Budapest.

The newly appointed Minister of the Kingdom of Afganistan, Prince Mohammed Daoud Khan, has presented his credentials to Monsieur Celio, President of the Swiss Confederation. The new Minister is a nephew of the King of Afganistan.

A steady increase in receipts of the Swiss Federal Railways is shown in statistics relating to exploitation in June, 1948, compared with June, 1947. These show that the number of persons transported increased by 145,000 to 17.41 millions, receipts advancing by one million Swiss francs, thus reaching Frs.22.5 millions (about £1.2 millions).

Goods sent by rail went up by 141,000 metric tons to 1.66 million tons, and receipts, Frs.29.89 millions (£1.72 millions), were Frs.2.95 millions higher.

On the whole, receipts of exploitation amounted in June to Frs.56.42 millions (£3.25 millions), an increase of Frs.4.72 millions. Expenses, meanwhile, only increased by Frs.4.08 millions, thus reaching Frs.41.83 millions (£2.4 millions).

Monthly profit was thus stepped up to Frs.14.59 millions (£.84 millions), against Frs.13 millions. This denotes a figure now exceeding the monthly charges (redemptions, loan services) of the profit and loss account, namely Frs.14.1 millions.

Switzerland's foreign trade deficit has almost doubled within the first six months of this year. For June the deficit, just announced, was 188 million Swiss francs (about £10.8 millions), imports being Frs.477 millions (£27.5 millions) and exports Frs.289 millions (£16.7 millions).

Swiss imports in the first half-year were Frs.2,811 millions (£162 millions), compared with Frs.2,223 millions (£128 millions) in the like period of 1947, while exports remained practically unchanged around Frs. 1,592 millions (£92 millions). Thus the Swiss deficit so far is Frs.1,219 millions (£70 millions), being almost twice as much as in 1947. In June the rise was Frs. 100 millions (£5.8 millions).

The Swiss National Bank, discussing this situation, states, " Appropriate measures to deal with serious and permanent difficulties " have been contemplated.

But financial circles consider that the situation is not so alarming. They point out that Switzerland has always had to deal with foreign trade deficits in post-war periods and that this traditional excess of liabilities is met to a considerable extent by invisible revenues of tourism, of Swiss investments abroad, and of insurance services.

Moreover, the gold and currency reserve of the Swiss National Bank amounts to Frs.5.000 millions (£288 millions) and the bank can easily obtain gold by absorbing on the free market at advantageous prices all dollar bids which are very important at present.

Such a deficit in Swiss foreign trade does not influence the dollar rate since only financial operations are authorised on the free market, whereas all commercial operations must be dealt with through the Swiss National Bank at the official rate of 4.28.

After unforeseen difficulties in completing the Lötschberg Tunnel (9 miles 140 yds.), the section of the Berne-Lötschberg-Simplon Railway between Frutigen and Brigue was opened just over 35 years ago, on July 15th, 1913. The railway placed Berne on a new international route from Paris to Italy via Brigue and the Simplon Tunnel, as well as providing a through connection with Interlaken by the Branch from the main line at Spiez. In the current summer time-table, through carriages are operated from Paris to Milan and from Calais to Interlaken by this route, while through services originating on the Berne-Lötschberg-Simplon Railway itself run from Berne to Rome, Milan, and Genoa. The through trains use the Swiss Federal Railways main line between Berne and Thun, although the company has its own route between these two points by virtue of the fact that it operates the associated Gürbetal Railway via Belp. The latter line, however, is used mainly for local traffic, being single-track.

From Thun to Frutigen the B.L.S. incorporated an existing railway into its main route. The distance from Thun to Brigue is 52.3 miles, and in the 37.8 miles between Frutigen and Brigue there are 35 tunnels and 22 bridges and viaducts. The B.L.S. was the first of the standard-gauge trans-Alpine railways to be worked electrically from the outset, and has been prominent in the adoption of electric locomotives representative of the latest developments, such as the 4,000-h.p. Bo-Bo machines.
