NEWS AT RANDOM

Federal

Monsieur Walter Hofer, Counsellor of Legation, has been appointed Swiss Minister to Bulgaria, in succession to Minister Ch. de Jenner, who has been transferred to China.

Minister Hofer was born in 1901 in Berne. After having qualified as an advocate, he entered the Federal Military Department (Insurance Section) and in 1929, was transferred to the Political Department where he occupied various important offices.

The budget of the Federal Railways for 1949, recently approved by the board of administration, envisages working receipts totalling fr.671,700,000, and working expenditure amounting to fr. 500,500,000. The resulting working surplus of fr. 171,200,000 is fr. 41,900,000 less than that for 1947. The increase in the working expenditure derives, in the main, from a larger staff, increased cost-of-living allowances, and greater construction expenditure not comprised within the building budget. An expenditure of fr. 137,000,000 in respect of new rolling stock is envisaged. Of this amount, fr. 32,200,000 is a charge to the working budget. The profit and loss account for 1949 is expected to close with a credit balance of fr.2,300,000 after allowing for all statutory commitments.

The new Three and a-Quarter per Cent. Federal loan of Frs.300 millions, running for ten years and issued at par, has not been fully subscribed, the Confederation having had to take over one-fifth of the loan to serve as investment for Government institutions.

Financial circles are not unduly worried at this result at a time when issues are being arranged at 3½ per cent. and when this rate is even being offered by banks for short-term cash bonds.

* * * * * On October 24th, 1648, the Westphalian Peace Treaty was signed in Münster-Osnabrück, which assured the independence of Switzerland, thanks to the eminent services rendered by the diplomatic representative of Switzerland, Joh. Rud. Wettstein, Mayor of the town of Basle.

To commemorate the 300th anniversary of this event, members of the "Rebleuten" guild, of which Wettstein was Master, placed flowers on his grave at the Minster. [A.T.S.]

* * * * * The Nobel Prize for medicine has been awarded to Dr. Paul Müller, of Basle, for his discovery of the effects as an insecticide of D.D.T. (The Prize is valued at about £11,000.)

Dr. Müller was born in Olten in 1899, and hails from Lenzburg. Already as a young man he was an ardent student of chemistry and in 1925 obtained the degree of doctor phil. summa cum laude. Leaving the University he entered the firm I. R. Geigy, A.G., in Basle. When in the early '30's, Geigy became interested in systematic research into synthetic insecticides, it was Dr. Müller who established the basic result that dichloro-diphenyl-trichlorethane possessed insect-killing properties.

In 1942 the first insecticides based on D.D.T. were marketed, and were soon fighting typhus in Naples, waging war on the African tsetse fly and the bollweevil — and even protecting the Headingly wicket from the attacks of leather jackets. (In 1909, the Nobel Prize for medicine was awarded to the famous Bernese surgeon, Professor Theodor Kocher.) [A.T.S.]

* * * * * The death is reported from Waldenburg (Basle-County) of Dr. Herman Straumann, medical practitioner, at the age of 87. The deceased was for 42 years a member of the "Landrat" of the canton of Basle-County. He sat in Parliament (National-Council) from 1911-1919. In the army he reached the rank of Colonel (Army-Medical-Corps). [A.T.S.]

* * * * * The late manufacturer, Johannes Eisenhut-Schaefer, of Gais (Ct. Appenzell a-Rh.), has left an amount of 15,600.—frs. to several charitable institutions in Gais, Trogen and St. Gall. [A.T.S.]

* * * * * On Sunday, October 30th, the boat traffic between Germany and Switzerland on the "Bodensee" was opened for the first time, since the war started. 3,700 German passengers landed at Romanshorn (Thurgau) and 1,200 at Rorschach (St. Gall), all were taken back again in the evening. They were allowed to bring ten marks each, which they could exchange for two Swiss francs. [A.T.S.]

With Maggi Aspic Jelly valuable additions may be made to war-time menus. From meat, fish and vegetable "left-overs" attractive supplementary dishes can be contrived.

INVALID ASPIC

Maggi Aspic Jelly in a small mould daintily served with two or three small strips of toast will be a welcome change from "beef tea."

FISH ASPIC

Cod or Salmon remaining from the boiled fish can be used, also prawns or shrimps. Fill the mould  $\frac{1}{2}$  full and when nearly set put in the flakes of fish and fill up.

JELLIED BEEF SOUP

A rich jellied beef soup may be made instantly with the addition of boiling water.

MEAT ASPIC

Cooked fresh sausage meat or meat left over from the joints may be used minced. Drop the meat into the jelly before setting and serve with a little watercress or cress.

ASPIC SANDWICHES

Spread the slices of bread with margarine and then with a thin layer of jelly. Add grated cheese, watercress, mustard and cress, meat or fish paste.

Twenty-seven cowboys and girls, have been deported from Switzerland. "The Scotsman" (issue 28th October) writes under the heading "Horse Play" the following amusing account of the happening which led to the expulsion:—

"When fighting breaks out in happy Switzerland the world indeed must be in a sorry mess. Yet from Geneva, where doves of peace have nested amid im-memorial olive branches, comes news of mortal combat, of man belabouring man in savage fray. What makes the story even more poignant is that the instigators like those attacked were federalists. They and a horse named "Income Tax" were jointly responsible for a threat, even if a minor one, to the peace. A company of cowboys and cowgirls from the United States had been demonstrating the Wild West way of life to the inhabitants of Geneva, and among other things had challenged any member of the audience to straddle a bucking bronco named "Income Tax." Thereupon one of the locals — if one may so call a native of Geneva — rode with perfect composure round the ring. This feat angered the cowboys and the cowgirls, who speedily reached the opinion that the horse was an impostor, impersonating "Income Tax." One thing led to another, and soon the Wild Westerners and the Swiss mountaineers were shooting it out with petrol tins and iron bars. Eventually the rodeo troupe were taken into custody by the police, and later, as a result of diplomatic pressure, were released. So bitter were the feelings and passions aroused, however, that a young cowgirl, fresh from the cattle country around Chicago, announced that she was finished with Europe, that she would not set foot in it again for a million dollars.

There is a discouraging element about the story. The imagination recoils from the thought that a handful of policemen were able to round up twenty-one cow hands. One always thinks of a cowboy as a match, any day, for twenty-one policemen. According to all precedents the cowboys ought to have leapt into the saddle and pursued the dastardly police along the crests of Alpine peaks, shooting extravagantly at them from behind their horses' flanks, until they were all slaughtered. On the other hand, the incident couldn't have happened in a better place. Geneva must be full of experts on the problem of preserving unity among the nations. What happened must be a challenge to their rusting powers of analysis. If they have any sense they will hold a post-mortem in one of the dis-used palaces of peace and, with this perfect example before them, they may be able to reach some notable conclusions on the origins of strife. At all events it is clear that one ought not to take a horse called "Income Tax" to Europe at this moment in history. It would probably not be wise to transfer any investigation to Paris. As yet the Security Council is hardly experienced enough in the art of reconciliation to issue a useful ruling. No good, for instance, would come from a resolution declaring that the belligerent cowboys ought to have been apprehended by an international police force instead of a Swiss one. As things are it looks as though the whole business could be settled amicably by a conference of Ambassadors."

The firm Messrs. Geo. Fischer, Ltd., of Schaffhausen, has borne the cost of sending a food parcel to every employee of its associated company in England, the Britannia Iron and Steel Works, Bedford, and also to every employee of Britannia's selling agents, the Le Bas Tube Co., Ltd., in various parts of the country. Altogether, over 850 parcels are now being distributed, of which about 700 are for the Bedford firm's employees.

The parcels, which contain tinned meat, honey, milk, dripping, hot-pot, pastry, and sweets, have been flown to this country from Australia through the Australian "Express Gift Parcel" scheme, the arrangements for which were made on behalf of Messrs. Fischer's by a firm in Sydney. The weight of the parcels is about 6lb.

ARRETE DU CONSEIL FEDERAL

concernant l'obligation des Suisses à l'étranger de rejoindre leur corps en cas de mobilisation de guerre.
(Du 10 septembre 1948).

Le Conseil fédéral suisse, vu les articles 198 et 200 de l'organisation militaire, arrête :

Article premier

En cas de mobilisation de guerre partielle, les hommes astreints au service et le personnel des services complémentaires en congé n'ont pas à se présenter s'ils sont à l'étranger.

Art. 2

En cas de mobilisation de guerre générale, les hommes astreints au service qui sont en congé à l'étranger ont l'obligation d'entrer au service, cette obligation durant jusqu'à la fin de l'année dans laquelle ils atteignent l'âge de quarante ans.

Le département militaire fédéral désigne les pays où cette obligation existe pour les militaires suisses.

Art. 3

Sont en toute circonstance tenus de se présenter, dès qu'est mise sur pied l'unité (état-major) dans laquelle ils sont incorporés ou détachés, les hommes astreints au service et le personnel des services complémentaires :

- Qui se sont rendus à l'étranger sans congé et auxquels l'autorité en Suisse n'en a pas accordé ultérieurement;
- Qui sont au bénéfice d'un congé, mais se trouvent en Suisse.

Art. 4

La mise de piquet ou la mobilisation de guerre générale sera portée immédiatement à la connaissance des représentations suisses (légations et consulats) dans l'arrondissement consulaire desquelles les hommes en congé, tenus de se présenter, sont touchés par l'ordre de piquet ou de mobilisation.

Les représentations suisses en sont informées par le Département politique, à la demande du Département militaire.

Art. 5

En cas de mobilisation de guerre générale, les militaires en congé à l'étranger qui doivent se présenter conformément à l'arrêté de mobilisation ou sur ordre spécial rentreront en Suisse par la voie la plus rapide. Ils se présenteront à l'autorité militaire du canton d'incorporation ou, dans l'impossibilité, au commandant territorial le plus proche, qui les fait rééquiper.
