Federal

The two Federal Chambers (National and States Council) assembled on the 14th of this month, as one body (Vereinigte Bundesversammlung) in order to elect a successor to Federal-Councillor Dr. Celio, who is shortly assuming the post of Swiss Minister in Rome.

The Assembly was presided over by J. Schmid, President of the Swiss National Council. The Federal Chancellor read out the letter of resignation of Dr. Celio, in which he announced his nomination as diplomatic representative of the Confederation to Rome, and in which he expressed his thanks to the members of the two Chambers for the always ready support which they had given him during the tenure of his office, concluding with his best wishes to the country and its people.

The President of the National Council expressed the thanks of the Assembly to Federal-Councillor Celio for the good and faithful services which he had rendered to the country during the last ten years as a member of the Federal Government, extending to him their best wishes in his new mission to preserve and develop the friendly relations between Italy and Switzerland.

Dr. Celio then expressed his thanks to the Speaker, in his native tongue, for the friendly tribute paid to him, and concluded his address with his best wishes for the future welfare of our country.

The Assembly then proceeded with the election. A joint proposal by the catholic-conservative, radical-democrat, socialist, peasant and bourgeois and liberal parties favoured the candidature of National-Councillor, Dr. h.c. Josef Escher (Brig).

219 voting papers were distributed and 219 were returned of which 22 blank, 197 were valid and the necessary absolute majority was 99.

Dr. J. Escher was elected with 165 votes.

Thirty-two votes were recorded in favour of the following candidates: Maspoli (Ticino); 17; Condrau (Grisons); 8, Various: 7.

Amidst great applause, Dr. Escher declared that he would accept the election, thanking the Assembly for the honour thus bestowed on him. He said, that he considered his nomination primarily as a compliment to his native canton (Valais) which for the first time in the history of the Confederation was allotted a seat in the Federal Government. After having declared his intention to serve the country to the best of his ability in his high office, he took the oath.

Federal Councillor, Joseph Escher, was born on the 17th of September, 1885, in Simplon-Dorf (Ct. Valais). He studied juris prudencia at the Universities of Berne and Berlin after which he established himself as a lawyer and notary in Brig. From 1912 — 1920, Escher was a member of the Municipal Council of Brig and from 1920 — 1928 he occupied the post of President of the Urban Council of Glis-Brig. He sat from 1915 — 1932 in the Grand Council of the canton of Valais as a representative of the catholic-conservative party.

In 1931, he entered the cantonal government, and three years later (1934) Dr. Escher was elected President of the government of the canton of Valais. In 1925, he was elected a Member of Parliament (National Council) in which he sat from 1925 — 1932 and again since 1936. In 1948/49 he presided over the National Council. Escher has been since 1946 President of the Conservative Popular Party of Switzerland, and is a doctor honoris causa of the University of Fribourg.

Federal Councillor, Dr. J. Escher, is no stranger to the Swiss Colony in London; on the occasion of a visit to this country as a Member of the Swiss Parliamentary Delegation in May of last year, he attended a dinner given to the said Delegation by the City Swiss Club, on May 6th at the Dorchester Hotel, he was also present at a luncheon held in honour of the Swiss Parliamentarians by the Anglo-Swiss Society at the Dorchester Hotel on which occasion the Rt. Hon. Philip Noel-Baker, P.C., M.P., presided. During his stay in Switzerland and Mexico have signed a two-year agreement to give each other most-favoured-nation treatment in their trade exchanges.

Economics

Switzerland imported Mexican goods last year to the value of about 16.8 million francs (about £1,400,000), mostly cotton and lead. Mexico took Swiss goods to the value of some 31.3 million francs (about £2,600,000), mostly watches, medical supplies and dyes.

The pact has still to be ratified by the two Parliaments.

The Department of Education of the Canton of Neuchâtel has recently adopted rather severe and unusual measures in an effort to tighten up discipline among children and young persons.

It has drawn up a model type of regulation affecting the out-of-school behaviour of all young people under the age of 18 years which can be accepted by the school committees as it stands or modified to suit local circumstances. According to this regulation all children of compulsory school age must abstain from attending or participating in boxing competitions or exhibitions and other similar shows. During the winter months, from November 1st to the end of the school year in spring, they must not stay out of their homes after 8 p.m. or after 9 p.m. during the rest of the year, except in very special cases. Children under nine years of age are not to be allowed to join youth groups or similar organizations.

The Swiss Federal Government approved measures that are to be put into force immediately to weed out "doubtful" officials and workers from the Civil Service and from Government undertakings. The measures will affect those employees who might be induced by their political beliefs to support the action of a fifth column.

Recent cases have proved that there are such people in State employment, and in a period of insecurity such as the present one the Government can no longer tolerate their presence. They will be discharged as soon as possible, but those who, though of doubtful loyalty, are not dangerous for the time being will be provisionally maintained in office with short contracts.

By skillfully transplanting skin from one boy to another, fifty-year-old Sir Archibald McIndoe, the British plastic surgeon, has helped to establish beyond doubt that six-year-old "twins" were mixed up as babies in Switzerland. As a result two mothers have "swopped" sons.

The astonishing story began when a Swiss and his wife were proudly watching their six-year-old twins, Victor and Pierre, marching hand in hand in a procession of Swiss children. They suddenly noticed that a boy named Eric who was walking a short distance behind the twins was extraordinarily like Victor.

But it was when Eric grinned that they began to think seriously about the resemblance; for Eric had a wide gap between his lower front teeth — and so had Victor. Then they discovered that Eric had been born on the same night and in the same maternity home as their own sons.

The terrible thought flashed through their minds: "Is Pierre somebody else's child who was accidentally substituted for Eric by the nurses?" When they showed Victor to Eric's mother, a widow, she began to worry also. Authorities and experts got busy.

The fingerprints, eye colours, hair characters and teeth arrangements of the three boys were carefully recorded, and results supported the belief that Victor and Eric were the real twins. Blood tests of the boys and their parents followed. But as the man whom Eric called father was dead, obviously these tests could not be regarded as conclusive.

Then one of the scientists had a brainwave. He recalled that although human skin differs so much that it cannot normally be grafted from one person to another, grafting was usually possible between twins. The services of a British plastic surgeon were enlisted.

He removed a small square of skin from Victor's right arm and replaced it with a skin graft from Eric.

This left no doubt in the minds of the authorities that a terrible error had been made. For the skin transplanted from Victor to Eric and vice versa quickly grafted on, leaving no scar; its texture and hair growth were retained. But attempted grafts between Pierre and the other youngsters failed.

The authorities ordered that Eric and Pierre should be exchanged at once. All three parents experienced the terrible wrench of parting, but the boys have adapted themselves astonishingly well to this strange change in their young lives.
