Federal

The Swiss Government has announced details of the federal budget for 1958, which provides for an expenditure of 2,267 million francs (£184 m.) and a revenue of 2,715 million francs, thus leaving an estimated surplus of 448 million francs. Defence expenditure is estimated at 897 million francs, 190 million francs more than in the previous year.

Expenditure on armaments, 143 million francs higher than the 1957 figure, will be increased by the purchase of military equipment, training aircraft, and helicopters. It is possible that the higher pay for the Army recently voted by Parliament, the purchase of new fighters and bombers, and the cost of some land bought in the Bernese Jura for use as a training ground for armoured cars may increase the estimates by a further 200 million francs.

Customs receipts for the month of September 1957 totalled 75 million francs, of which the Confederation received the amount of 53.2 million francs or 1.1 million frs. less than in September 1956. For the first nine months of the current year the receipts amounted to 524.0 million francs or 38.7 million frs. more than during the same period in 1956.

The Federal Council has appointed Mr. Ludwig Schnurenberger, at present Director of the Aarau Postal District, to the Basle Postal District, in the same capacity.

Monsieur Hermoz Gharib, the newly appointed Ambassador of Iran, has presented his credentials to Dr. H. Streuli, President of the Swiss Confederation, and to M. Max Petitpierre, Swiss Foreign Minister, at the Palais Fédéral in Berne.

The Federal Council has raised the Swiss Legation in Indonesia to the status of an Embassy, and the Minister, Monsieur Sonderegger to the rank of Ambassador.

Xmas Greetings

Following former years' practice we propose to publish again in our December issue a collective greeting.

The high costs of Xmas cards, should induce many of our subscribers to make use of this facility to extend to their friends the compliments of the season.

Those of our readers and friends wishing to be included should forward name and address to our office not later than Friday, November 22nd, 1957, together with remittance for 10/-.

The 15-million-franc loan at 4½ per cent of the canton of Basle Country was heavily over-subscribed; allocations had to be reduced. [A.T.S.]

Two tourists from Zurich, members of the Davos section of the Swiss Alpine Club, on the ascent to the Saentis from the Wildhaus, lost their way owing to a heavy snow-fall and failing light. One of them fell into a ravine breaking a leg. His companion did not dare to leave the spot of the accident to secure help, and the men had to spend the night amidst snow and a cold wind. By daybreak the uninjured man was able to reach a hut from where he got in telephone communication with the Saentis station. A rescue party was organised by members of the Saentis section of the Swiss Alpine Club. After a few hours they were able to find the two tourists, who by this time were half frozen and in very poor condition, and brought them to safety. Both were taken to the district hospital at Herisau. [A.T.S.]

The OLMA exhibition in St. Gall has closed its doors after a duration of eleven days. 292,000 persons visited the exhibition, exceeding last year's figure by 2,000. [A.T.S.]

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS.

In spite of intense propaganda by the police and municipal authorities to reduce traffic accidents, the number of these is still increasing alarmingly:

Two brothers in a small sports car collided with a locomotive of the Bremgarten-Dietiken railway at a level-crossing in Bremgarten. Bruno Notter (18), of Zufikon (Ct. Aargau), was killed, whilst his brother was seriously injured.

Five persons were seriously injured, and one was killed, when two motor-cars collided at the Staatsstrasse in Gossau (Ct. St. Gall). The deceased was Anton Egger (43), nurseryman, of Hitzkirch-Richensee (Ct. Lucerne), father of several children.

VARIOUS.

The Nobel Prize for Physiology and Medicine has been awarded to Professor Daniel Bovet, head of the pharmacological section at the Institut Superiore di Sanità in Rome, for his production of a synthetic form of curare, the substance used by the South American Indians to poison their arrows.

Professor Bovet was born in Neuchâtel in 1907. He studied science in Geneva and later transferred his scientific activity to the Pasteur Institute in Paris, where, in 1946, he became head of the laboratory for therapeutical chemistry. Professor Bovet is at present working to find something against asthma and migraine.

SWISSAIR INCREASES FLEET.

Swissair has ordered a fifth Douglas DC-7C "Seven Seas" long-range airliner for delivery in early 1959. Four DC-7Cs ordered previously were delivered last autumn and this summer and are now operating on the company's North and South Atlantic routes.

In view of its rapidly expanding freight traffic Swissair has also ordered a Douglas DC-6A freighter aircraft for delivery towards the end of 1958.

The additional DC-7C is intended to provide yet more long-haul capacity until the introduction into service of DC-8 jetliners in 1960.
