Federal

The Federal Chancellery has issued a report in connection with the £8 million Centurian tank deal.

As mentioned in our last issue (January 25th) the Federal Attorney's Office (Bundesanwaltschaft) was asked by the Swiss Government to investigate whether illegal profits have been obtained by third parties on war material procured by the Federal Military Department and whether such people are liable to legal penalties.

The 1,500 word communiqué from the Attorney's Office has now been published, and states that Colonel Hans Rieser, Military and Air Attaché in Washington — who was suspended and recalled to Berne during the course of the investigation — could not be prosecuted under the Swiss penal code, but disciplinary procedure would be opened for alleged violation of the Swiss civil statute.

According to the communiqué Colonel Rieser, who was Military and Air Attaché in London till April, 1952, claimed that he was asked by the makers of Centurian tanks, Vickers-Armstrongs Limited, to propose a representative for them in Switzerland. Colonel Rieser proposed his brother Hubert (a contractor) with whom Vickers-Armstrongs came to an agreement in June, 1950. Hubert was to receive one per cent commission from Vickers-Armstrongs if the Swiss Parliament voted credits to buy Centurians, as it did in 1955. It stated that Hubert Rieser said he intended to pay his brother one-third of the commission for acting as intermediary in his appointment by Vickers-Armstrongs. Hubert Rieser received 395,000.— frs. and placed 50,000.— frs. in a special cash account for Colonel Rieser.

The Federal Military Department has entrusted Federal Judge Schoenenberger with the task of investigating whether Colonel Hans Rieser can be charged with "blameworthy and reprehensible" conduct. In the meantime Colonel Rieser is relieved of his post as Military and Air Attaché without pay.

Colonel H. Rieser was well known in the Colony whilst en poste in London. He was born in 1901 in Berne, and is a citizen of Berne and Wuppenau (Ct. Thurgau). He attended schools in Berne and St. Gall and studied languages in Rome, Cambridge, London, Paris and Berlin. He then attended the Federal Institute of Technology (ETH) Zurich, where he passed his examinations as an architect.

After several years in this branch, he was until the beginning of the last war for five years General Secretary of the Swiss Aero Club. During the war he was commander of various units and joined the Federal Military Department in 1942. On March 1st, 1947, he was appointed as Military and Air Attaché at the Swiss Legation in London.

The receipts for the month of December, 1956, of the Federal Customs Administration amounted to 80.8 million francs. The Confederation (Bund) receives from this amount 60.4 million francs, or 6.4 million francs more than in December, 1955.

For the whole year of 1956 the receipts amount to 666.6 million francs. (1955: 585.0 million francs.)

Cantonal

VARIOUS.

Traffic accidents in Switzerland are still on the increase and in many cases such accidents have been caused by drivers who were under the influence of alcohol. Whilst in this country such cases are very seriously dealt with (and rightly so) Swiss courts seem to be very lenient. A driver of a motor-cycle, who was found guilty of being drunk when driving and causing an accident, received a sentence of 8 days' imprisonment and fined 30.— frs. (! ! !)

The Police Court of La Chaux-de-Fonds sentenced a motorist, who was found guilty of being drunk whilst driving to 3 days' imprisonment and a fine of 10.— frs. (! ! !)

A motorist, who three years ago received a sentence for driving whilst under the influence of alcohol, was caught again, and this time was sentenced to a month's imprisonment. (No wonder accidents are on an increase. Ed.) [A.T.S.]

New automatic weapons are to be issued this year to members of the Swiss army, each of whom keeps his rifle at home ready for instant mobilisation.

Distribution of the first 25,000 "assault rifles", something between a sub-machine gun and a carbine, will start soon. The new weapons as light as carbines but with magazines holding thirty rounds and effective at ranges of up to about 320 yards can also fire anti-tank grenades.

The bore of 7.5 millimetres is the same as that of the present rifles and light and heavy machine guns of the Swiss Army, so the same ammunition can be used for all.

The first men to be issued with the new gun will be the so-called Grenadiers of the Infantry, specially trained in fighting at close-quarters.

Pictures like this that can't be posed—the living, breathing, moving happenings that make the best pictures of all can only be taken with a cine camera. And the beauty of it is that cine films are far from expensive. With this Bolex B8 you can take 24 or more good length action sequences for just over £1, including processing charge. At under 11d. a shot this compares very favourably with ordinary still photography. See the Bolex B8 at any good photo shop. Note its precision construction—so vital in a cine camera. That's because it is made in one of the great watch-making centres of Switzerland.

The main road over the 7,000-foot Klausen Pass, in Central Switzerland, has been closed because the village of Spiringen is being gradually carried towards it in a monster landslide.

The village is slipping down the mountainside at the rate of about a quarter of an inch a year.

It is now possible to make the trip up the Rhine from the North Sea to Switzerland by the modern Swiss motorship Basilea (Italian name for Bale, its home port). The ship can carry 55 passengers, principally in double cabins.

A Swiss film called Rythmique has been produced in Zurich to demonstrate the pedagogic application of the Jaques Dalcroze system of teaching. It is already being shown in the cinemas of the German speaking part of Switzerland. A French version is in preparation and the film will doubtless be made available soon in other languages.

The longest cable railway in Switzerland, covering the $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles between the Bernina Hauser (6,720ft.), in the Engadine, and the Diavolezza (9,766ft.), was opened recently. Its two cabins can transport 250 passengers an hour over the Morteratsch glacier.

Switzerland will soon do away with her last steam engines.

The few miles in thinly populated sections of the country still served by steam will be electrified within the next months.

The Federal Military Department has issued a directive authorising tourists to bring arms into Switzerland for their personal defence. Each tourist is allowed one revolver or automatic pistol and 15 rounds of ammunition.

Whether the visitor will be able to carry the weapon on his person depends on the police regulations in each canton.

A standard test for mountain-climbing ropes has been agreed on by an expert commission representing seven nations set up by the International Union of Mountaineering Associations. It consists in attaching a weight of 187lb to the end of a rope and letting it fall freely from a height of 19ft 8in. A rope that stands up to two pulls is deemed trustworthy.

During experiments made at the Swiss Federal Institute for material testing, one French nylon rope stood up to 16 pulls. Climbers favour nylon ropes because they are light and dry quickly, but they fray easily.

Foreign workers in Switzerland now number 326,000. This is 13% of the population.
