EDITOR'S POSTBAG.

Grafton House,
12, Grafton Street,
London, W.1.

9th July, 1957.

Editor,
Swiss Observer.

Dear Mr. Stauffer,

You ask me to give you some details about the Jubilee Jamboree which is to take place at Sutton Park, near Birmingham from the 1st — 12th August 1957.

This Jamboree, which is called "JIM" meaning that it combines the Jamboree, the Indaba and the Moot — the Jamboree being the gathering of the Scouts, the Indaba the gathering of the leaders and the Moot that of the Rovers (elder Scouts) — will mark the B-P Centenary celebrations.

"B-P", as he is known all over the world, was born on the 22nd February 1857, and it was in 1907 that he held the first Scout Camp on Brownsea Island thus starting the movement which was so soon to become a world movement of which he was made the World Chief Scout in 1920.

This JIM will be attended by some 35,000 members of the movement, representing 83 countries. It will be visited by Her Majesty The Queen, accompanied by The Duke of Edinburgh, on Saturday, August 3rd. I am sending you herewith a booklet which gives you most of the details and I am at your disposal to let you have any data which is not clear to you.

As far as Switzerland is concerned, no less than 1,200 Scouts and Rovers will be coming over with, at their head, the new Swiss Chief Scout, Hugues de Rham, who was appointed on the 5th May of this year. What is very interesting is that several hundreds of these young people will be coming already ten days before to enjoy what is known as "Hospitality Week", which means that each one will go to a private family so as to make new friends, learn to know how people live in this country thus avoiding the very often erroneous impression of the tourist. This Hospitality Week is extended to some 30,000 of these boys which is, indeed, a very wonderful effort. In 90% of the cases this Hospitality scheme will work after the Jamboree and more than half of them will stay even a fortnight. Owing, however, to the exceptional time of holidays of the Swiss schools, the British accordingly arranged to have the Swiss before the JIM.

The Opening Day of the Jamboree coincides with our Swiss National Day. We have been privileged by having the arena put at our disposal just before the Opening so as to celebrate our National Day in the presence of a very large number of guests. In the evening our little country has organised a reception and dinner in the true Swiss fashion, to which all the heads of Delegations and the leading personalities of the Scouting world have accepted to come. It is indeed a very great honour because at a meeting so tremendously large it is almost impossible to gather so many important people.

Lady Baden-Powell, the World Chief Guide, accompanied by her family as well as Mrs. Wade who was B-P's secretary for over 30 years, will be present. So will Lord Peter Baden-Powell, the son of the Chief. Enthusiastic acceptances have also been received from The Lord Rowallan, Chief Scout of the British Empire who has just received the Order of the Thistle at the last Birthday Honours; General Sir Robert Lockhart, Chairman of the Jubilee Committee; General Dan Spry, Director of the International Bureau; Colonel Wilson, no doubt the closest collaborator of B-P and Founder of Gilwell Park; as well as all the members of the International Committee which is the supreme authority of World Scouting.

Members of the Government, Ambassadors of all countries, have been invited. All over the world special stamps are being issued, including Switzerland.

The JIM will be followed by an International Conference which is taking place in Cambridge where Trinity College has been put at the disposal of the Delegates so that they can all reside together. Very important decisions will have to be taken at that Conference which will be attended by over 80 nations, at the rate of six Delegates per nation. The British Government has invited them to a dinner, presided over by the Prime Minister, which will be only one of the important functions which have been organised.

This very great Jamboree is bound to have a tremendous influence and the Conference will be, in fact, the only world gathering where 83 free nations of all races and religions are able to get together on an equal footing with no other purpose but to pledge themselves to their utmost to establish Friendship among Scouts of all nations, thus preparing the way for more tolerance and greater confidence.

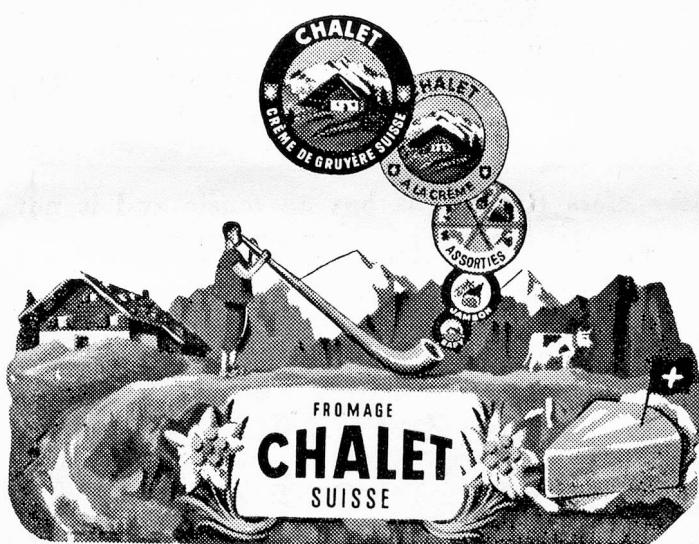

Unfortunately, the Russians and some of their satellites will not be present because Scouting has rightly and very firmly refused to recognise Scouts who are not free and independent of Government control. B-P laid down, very wisely, that Scouting must be absolutely independent of any State control as the whole movement is based on the free and willing acceptance of the leadership of those elected by its members, leaders who have taken the Scouts oath and undertaken to live accordingly. We know, of course, that there are still thousands of Scouts in satellite countries at present and regular contact is maintained with them, but it cannot be forgotten that it was strongly through Scouting that the Resistance Movement in the last war was formed, and the participation of the Scouts in the fight for freedom is probably one of the most heroic pages of the movement. Little has been said about it because this was just one of those jobs which had to be done, but the ideal inspired by Baden-Powell has carried the flame for freedom all through the world and it is still well alight in this Jubilee year.

And so from all parts of the earth, at the opening of the Geophysical Year, young people will come to pay homage to their Founder and renew their promise, "To Serve".

Sincerely yours,

Alfred Renou.

THE "DUBOIS AFFAIR".

We herewith reproduce a letter from the Swiss Ambassador to the Editor of the "Sunday Times" (with the latter's note) which appeared in the issue of July 14th, 1957.

The Dubois Affair.

From The Swiss Ambassador.

Sir,—I refer to the article by Stephen Coulter headed "The Dubois Affair".

In that article the author alleges that M. Dubois passed confidential information obtained by him to the representatives of a foreign Power and suggests that this was done with the consent of his departmental chief, Dr. Markus Feldmann, Minister of Justice, and M. Max Petitpierre, Swiss Foreign Minister. He continues by asserting that the Swiss Government approved of espionage by its own officials for the benefit of a foreign country and violated its own Neutrality Statute.

I am instructed to state that neither Dr. Feldmann nor M. Petitpierre had any knowledge of M. Dubois's alleged conveyance of such information. The statement in the article that the Swiss Government approved of espionage by its own officials for the benefit of a foreign country is quite untrue.

A. DAENIKER.

London, W.1.

[We are happy to publish this statement by the Swiss Ambassador, which we and our correspondent fully accept, and regret any reflection which might seem to have been implied on his Government or individual Ministers. — EDITOR.]

"SWITZERLAND STRENGTHENS HER DEFENCES."

In our issue of 28th June 1957 we reproduce an article which appeared in "The Times" on May 29th under the above heading.

We are informed from a competent source that this article contains a number of inexact and mistaken statements.

Our informant, a member of the Swiss General Staff, writes: "No responsible Swiss army authority would consider that it was possible that we could defend ourselves for a year in the redoubt".

"No hospitals are installed in glaciers."

"The leaders of our army are against the view that we could lead a war with guerilla detachments."

"The artillery is to-day fully motorised, but has no anti-tank guns."

"Switzerland possesses no heavy bomber planes."

"The Swiss army has not twenty Divisions."

"The recruit schools do not last seven to nine months."

"The highest rank in the army is not that of a Colonel."
