Henry Werro, a Swiss violin dealer, was given a suspended sentence of one year's imprisonment and fined 5,000.— francs for selling instruments made to look like old masterpieces. The court found Werro, former president of the Swiss violin dealers' association, guilty of selling two forged instruments and falsifying the labels on 12 instruments he sold during the past 14 years, at prices ranging up to £10,000.

The president of the court said Werro was acquitted on 21 other charges of selling forged instruments — including three violins alleged to have been made by Stradivarius.

The trial first opened in February last, but was post-poned when Werro demanded that violin experts, rather than laboratory technicians, should give their opinion. On many of the charges against him the experts failed to reach conclusive agreement.

The International Ice Hockey Tournament and the International Curling Tournament were chosen for the inauguration recently of Geneva's magnificent Ice Palace. The Stadium, described by experts as "the finest in Europe", is under cover and heated. Unusually bold architecture provides seating accommodation for 4,200, standing room for 6,000, and 2,000 more could find room on particularly important occasions. No pillars or columns obstruct the view from any part of the building. Six metres above the rink cabins for five radio-commentators are suspended, whilst a special platform has been fitted up for TV transmissions. There are spacious public refreshment bars on the balcony floors, and on each floor spectators will find everything they need for their comfort.

CRONACA NOSTRANA.

La Legislatura del Cantone Ticino sta per concludersi nella frizzante arietta elettorale che già si è levata a svegliare i dormienti e a indurre parecchi — di solito magari pacati e castigatissimi — a concedere alle esigenze della platea con parole ed atti che in altra atmosfera riscuoterebbero indulgenze minori. E mentre l'opinione pubblica attende il bilancio del quadriennio, il Gran Consiglio si accinge alle sue ultime fatiche dopo un lungo periodo di attività particolarmente intensa. Ha infatti avuto inizio il 15 dicembre scorso la sessione del Preventivo, come mai ricca di trattande cospicue, a coronamento di un'azione governativa valida e intensa. Oltre al Bilancio di previsione per il 1959 sono all'ordine del giorno i crediti suppletori al Preventivo 1958, il progetto di legge per la riduzione dell'imposta cantonale delle persone fisiche nella misura del 5% per il 1959, l'acquisto del terreno per la costruzione del nuovo Ginnasio di Locarno, l'acquisto della Scuola arti e mestieri della Città di Bellinzona, il disegno legislativo per il promovimento della costruzione di abitazioni economiche, alcuni oggetti di ordinaria amministrazione e, infine, i progetti di legge per l'utilizzazione in proprio da parte dello Stato delle acque del Ticino alla Biaschina e di quelle del Tremorgio. E' quest'ultima sicuramente la trattanda più impegnativa le discussioni e le decisioni relative, dopo anni di studi e di lavoro delle diverse istanze politiche, sono attese nel Ticino con un interesse insolitamente vivo. Già da tempo il problema della Biaschina ha varcato i suoi confini tecnici ed economici per invadere il terreno politico e straripare nella polemica. Per sua natura: non era neppure pensabile che nel nostro paese un tema di siffatta importanza potesse essere discusso con la freddezza usata per un capitolo dell'economia cantonale, quando è noto che anche le nostre piccole cose finiscono spesso sul piano inclinato della politica, già perchè intorno ad esse, e spesso a torto, si affaccendano i partiti, che hanno talvolta la debolezza di assumere responsabilità che in fondo sono ad esse più estranee di quanto non siano gl'interessi di gruppi o di persone che ai partiti fanno capo non sempre con felice intuito.
