The museum is to feature vehicles of all kinds in the original size, replicas, informative shows on travel, transportation and communications by rail, road, air and sea, etc., as well as a conspicuous library of books, trade magazines, documents, photos, etc., accessible for studies in the field of travel and tourism.

In Switzerland some 4,800 surgeons are practising to-day. In the canton of Geneva, one surgeon is counted for every 656 inhabitants, whereas in the canton of Appenzell, Ausserrhoden, the proportion is one to 2,680. More than 3,000 students of medical sciences have been enrolled at Swiss universities during the winter term of 1957-58, about 60 per cent of whom were Swiss.

The 14th International Music Festival "Septembre Musical" at Montreux has been scheduled for 2nd to 24th September 1959. The performing orchestras will be the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra, the Paris Orchestre National and the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande; the list of the soloists includes such famous names as Yehudi Menuhin, Nathan Milstein, Wilhelm Backhaus, Clara Haskil and Artur Rubinstein.

* * *

The Casino Kursaal at Interlaken will celebrate its 100th anniversary this year. The Kursaal is a centre of entertainment and cultural activities in this charming Swiss lakeside resort in the Bernese Oberland.

* * *

The 12th International Film Festival of Locarno, Southern Switzerland, will take place from 9th to 19th July 1959.

* * *

World-famed violinist, Yehudi Menuhin, will probably settle down at the Swiss mountain resort of Gstaad, Bernese Oberland, where he is having a chalet built this spring. It is supposed, therefore, that the Yehudi Menuhin Festival of Gstaad, which will be organized, for the third time, this summer from 3rd to 9th August is going to be a permanent feature of Gstaad's calendar of events. This "personal" festival of Menuhin can only be compared to the one of Pablo Casals at Prades.

* * *

The Swiss mountain resort of Pontresina in the Engadine has been steadily growing in the past few years, and the water supply may soon prove insufficient. The local authorities recently decided to construct a storage and supply system for subsoil water, in addition to spring-water. It will be the first of its kind in Europe, at an altitude of 5,900 feet above sea level.

* * *

An envious but joyful bunch of schoolmates were recently waving farewell at the Swiss mountain resort of Mürren, Bernese Oberland, to nine-year-old, fair-haired Trudi von Allmen, leaving for South Africa, where she will be starring in a 30-minute publicity film for a British sea carrier. Little Trudi, who never in her life had travelled farther than Interlaken, some 15 miles north of Mürren, had been picked out of her class earlier to do some bit-playing for the final shootings in the Bernese Oberland. Her completely natural way of acting fascinated the British filming team, who stated that she is "a genuine talent" and hastily changed the whole script. One strange coincidence: The title of the film, right from the beginning, had been "Trudi".

* * *

Swiss industrial circles recently established a new committee aiming at a generous project of the training of technicians, engineers and skilled workers in economically backward countries throughout Africa, Asia and Latin America. This committee is at present "scouting" for a future Swiss foundation to maintain training schools for apprentices run by Swiss experts in these countries. It is hoped that the costs, which are estimated at one million Swiss francs per year, can be covered by Switzerland's private industry. Swiss newspapers have always been requesting that Switzerland as a prosperous and neutral country should intensify its assistance to underdeveloped nations in such fields as training and education.

The world's largest replica of a famous railway is now being projected at the glamorous mountain resort of Pontresina, in the Engadine, tourist officials have announced. This model will show the Bernina railway, which connects the Engadine with the Italian town of Tirano, on two reliefs 170 feet long. The Bernina railway, which is run by the Rhaetian Railway, is one of Switzerland's technological miracles, as it is the only Alpine railroad which connects Northern and Southern Europe really over the mountains and not through a tunnel.

All the Joys for Girls and Boys

Switzerland holds a magic charm for children and for the young in heart, and you who know this so well should tell your friends over here about it. Tell them of the mountains, the snow, woods, chalets, cowbells, fairy tale towns and villages, of the kindly people who love and understand children, making it a land of enchantment for children as well as a playground for grown-ups. On Railways, Steamers and Alpine Coaches children travel free up to six years of age and at half rate up to sixteen. Hotels usually reduce pension terms for children up to twelve. For about £30 your TRAVEL AGENT can arrange a 12-day all-in holiday including the fare from London. Further information concerning holidays in Switzerland is available from the Swiss National Tourist Office, 458 Strand, London, W.C.2.
