PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. F. Delaloye, of 15 Bartholomew Villas, London N.W.5, are celebrating their Golden Wedding Anniversary on 27th July. We send them our hearty congratulations and best wishes on this happy occasion.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

On Thursday, 12th July, a Memorial Service for Mr. Alfred Brauen took place at the Eglise Suisse. It was attended by relatives and friends, amongst them the Swiss Ambassador, Monsieur A Daeniker. The Rev. Ph. Nicole officiated and Mr. O. Béguin, Chairman of the Consistoire of the Swiss Church, gave an impressive and moving account of the rich life of the deceased, who died on 14th June, a few days before his 100th birthday.

FETE SUISSE 1963

The next Fête Suisse will be held on Wednesday, 8th May 1963. This was decided at a meeting of the committee at the Swiss Embassy on 12th July last. A programme of special interest is being devised to mark the centenary of one of the most important as well as popular Swiss gatherings in London. The Swiss Colony has reason to be grateful to the Ambassador, Monsieur Daeniker, who took the initiative in conjunction with the chairman of the committee, Mr. Alfred Renou, and other members, in making sure that the next Fête Suisse will be one to be specially remembered. Details of the programme will be published in the "Swiss Observer" later.

THE "SWISS OBSERVER" THIRTY YEARS AGO

When we look at a copy of the "Swiss Observer" of 2nd July 1932 we find that the format was different, much larger; in fact as wide as it is long today and its length twice today's width, but it consisted of only four pages. It appeared every week and Mr. Stauffer was editing it.

On that day thirty years ago we read about 100 arrests during Communist troubles in Zurich. There was a proud announcement that "Swissair is operating fastest air lines in Europe" with two Lockheed Orion engines, 223 m.p.h. maximum speed and flown at a cruising speed of 161 m.p.h.

In the same copy we also found a report of the 63rd Fête Suisse, at which the Swiss Orchestral Society, the Choral Society and the Gymnastic Society took part — three societies which are now either extinct or dormant.

A week later we read that the Swiss delegation to the League of Nations Session included Federal Councillor G. Motta, Prof. Max Huber and Mr. William Rappard.

There was an interesting report on a Swiss Rally at Whipsnade, in which, through the initiative of Mr. Brun of the Swiss Club Birmingham, a contingent of 150 Swiss from Birmingham, Leicester and Manchester took part. They came by charabancs and cars and we were told that between 450 and 480 tickets were sold for both luncheon and tea at the pavilion. I wonder how big the party would be if we could repeat the venture today?

In the issue of 16th July the retirement of the Swiss Second Chef at Buckingham Palace, Gabriel Tschumi, was announced. He had been working for 34 years in the Royal Kitchens, where he was known as "Chummy".

The City Swiss Club announced their summer dinner and dance at Brent Bridge — price 6/6.

A week later readers were informed of the great success of the London team of Swiss gymnasts at the Centenary Federal Gymnastic Festival at Aarau, where they scored 142 points with "laurel first class".

The last issue in July 1932 told of Swiss unemployment figures of 41,441.

Every issue of the "Swiss Observer" at that time carried a report on football activities in Switzerland.

Mariann.

REMINDER

A number of our subscribers are in arrears with their subscriptions. We should be most grateful if they would kindly send in their renewals as soon as possible. With the rising cost of printing and material we depend more than ever on the support of our readers. We shall gladly send specimen copies of "The Swiss Observer" to friends and relatives who might be induced to become subscribers. May we also suggest that the paper would make an attractive present to Swiss living in this country as well as to English friends who are interested in Switzerland and in the happenings in the Swiss Colony here.
