THE SWISS AT THE OLYMPIAD 1968

Hard work marked the preparatory period for the participants at the Olympic Games in Mexico-City. 93 Swiss are taking part; nearly a quarter of these are members of the Swiss Federal Gymnastic Society: 13 athletes, 7 gymnasts (Kunstturner) and two wrestlers.

Altogether, Switzerland is represented by 23 athletes. These include a husband and wife, E. Ammann, Zurich (hammer), and his wife Sieglinde Ammann (long jump and pentathlon). Another interesting thing is that the small Half-Canton of Baseland has no fewer than three competitors out of a total of 23. There are also 18 oarsmen, 8 sailing experts, 5 horsemen and 3 women riders, 10 marksmen, 7 gymnasts, 5 cyclists, 5 fencing competitors, 4 swimmers, 3 wrestlers, one boxer and one modern pentathlon champion.

The Swiss Olympic team are in action in one way or another on each day of the Games, beginning with Sunday, 13th October and ending on Saturday, 26th, plus some riding on the closing day. Good luck!
