The Canton has allowed medical teaching and training at some of its hospitals, as a first contribution towards helping Basle University. With Berne, the Canton has arrived at an agreement which will allow Bernese boys and girls to attend the Gymnasium, the Oberrealschule and the Handelsschule in Solothurn and Olten.

Communes

Fritz Moos-Flury left his valuable art collection to the Commune of Biberist. On 22nd July 1499, the Battle of Dornach was fought (Magdalenentag). In December last, a "Magdalenen-Zunft" was founded to which Swiss citizens whose families have lived at Dornach for 50 years, may be accepted. Its aims and objects are to promote social and cultural projects, as well as old Dornach customs.

At Ermenswil-Eschenbach, a new Catholic Chapel is now in use, conceived as a "Burg Gottes", with a watch tower with four bells. The Citizens of Hofstetten-Flueh rejected the budget for 1968 and made cuts in building projects in order to cut out the estimated deficit of 220,000 francs. "Cutting one's coat according to one's cloth . . ."

Olten's population is going back every year, a process which may become of serious consequence if it continues. On 1st January, it numbered 21,078 inhabitants. Nevertheless, planning goes on of a centre in the South-West, which is to have an intake of 8,000 people. The suburb is to include a trade zone and a special zone for "non-disturbing" industries, a cultural and school centre, etc.

On 1st January, the town of Solothurn counted 18,865 inhabitants, 2,554 of them citizens of the town and 4,145 citizens of other parts of the Canton. The number of foreigners has increased slightly to 2,641. The Städtebundtheater Solothurn-Bienne shows a deficit of 78,600 francs for the season 1966/67. According to the agreement, Solothurn is to carry 37.5% and Bienne the rest, both in addition to annual subsidies. The new director is Heinz Zimmermann at present in Lueneburg. The free political/cultural discussion and action group "Young Solothurn" appealed to the authorities to restore the one-time famous hermitage of St. Verena. If necessary, the young people are willing to help with the finances by means of a "Bettlerfest" like the Basle population organised in order to help purchase the Picasso pictures.

The Waldweiher at Starrkirch-Wil has been declared a protected area. It is intended as a school reservation where children should be able to watch the life of amphibia and marsh plants.

The latest Church Commune to give the women the vote is the R.C. Parish of Wangen near Olten. According to planning experts, Zuchwil will be the most densely populated Commune of the Solothurn district by the year 2000. It has 10,000 inhabitants now and will have a population of 21,000 by the end of the century. It is ideally situated to comprise three large centres, with the Aare and the Emme as boundaries and with plenty of green belt land.

Teachers and students assisted the expert Dr. W. Meyer, Basle, in the restoration of the Wartburg near Olten. The hill on which the ruined castle stands, was inhabited from about 1050 to 1415. It was the seat of the Froburger and was destroyed by Bernese during the conquest of the Aargau in 1415.

"GOLDEN ROSE OF MONTREUX"

Colour v. Black-and-White

For the first time, colour television will be competing on equal terms with black-and-white at this year's contest for the "Golden Rose of Montreux", the world's top award for TV light entertainment.

Colour was first seen at Montreux last year — but only in the non-competitive section. Only black-and-white programmes were allowed to compete for the "Golden Rose", which was won (for the second time) by the BBC, with its programme "Frost Over England".

This year, however, many countries are expected to be submitting colour shows. The judging panel, and the cream of the world's TV executives who will be at Montreux to attend the "Golden Rose" contest, will watch the closed-circuit — transmissions on dual sets — one showing colour and one showing black-and-white.

This year's contest is to last eight days. It opens at the Swiss lakeside resort of Montreux on 25th April.

Organised jointly by the Swiss Broadcasting Corporation and the town of Montreux, it is held under the auspices of the European Broadcasting Union, which has 28 active members — mainly on the Continent of Europe — and 48 associate members from every part of the world.

SWISS BANK CORPORATION

The 96th Annual General Meeting was held at Basle on 1st March, 1968, under the chairmanship of Dr. Samuel Schweizer, attended by 161 shareholders representing a total of 366,046 shares. The Report and Accounts for 1967 were approved as were the Board's proposals to distribute a dividend of Frs.70.— (14%) per share (as against Fr.60.— (12%) last year) or Frs.17.50 per share of the October, 1967, issue. Frs.22,000,000.— will be allocated to the Special Reserve, Frs.2,500,000.— to the Pension Fund and Frs.7,676,368.68 carried forward.

The eight retiring members of the Board were re-elected for a further period of three years, and in addition, Dr. André de Meuron, Vice-Chairman and Managing Director of "Société Anonyme de Participations Appareillage Gardy", Geneva, Dr. Jürg Gadiant Engi, Chairman of Lonza S.A., Basle, and Dr. Willi Rohner, Councillor of States, Altstätten, were elected to the Board.

SWISS INDUSTRY AND THE WINTER OLYMPICS AT GRENOBLE

Sulzer Bros. Ltd. of Winterthur and its French affiliate supplied the eight refrigerating compressors generating a total of 4,650,000 frig/h, for the network of 90 miles of refrigerating tubes used to make ice for the speed-tracks and skating rinks where the skating and ice-hockey events were held during the Tenth Winter Olympic Games in Grenoble. In addition, Sulzer Heating Co. Ltd. of Paris, installed the heating plant for propelling heated fresh air under the spectators' stands in the new hall. The French branch of another Swiss company, Escher Wyss, which five years ago supplied the refrigerating plant for a skating rink at Grenoble, was responsible for supplying the artificial cooling plant for the curves particularly exposed to the sun on the bob-run at Alpe d'Huez.
