open so that City Swiss Club peers could see them at work, the President asked the Secretary to make note of this suggestion.

Mr. H. Keller, the Treasurer, very rapidly ran through the Accounts. They showed a total income of £879.78 (membership fees, interest and dividends and Summer Dance profit) and an excess over expenditure of £142.80. The Charity Fund, instituted two years ago, had received £562.60 in proceeds from the Tombola of the Annual Dinner and Ball. An original item of the Ordinary Income and Expenditure Account was the item headed "purchase of ashtrays" for which a sum of £56.34 had been set. The Treasurer explained that these were "City Swiss Club" Ashtrays, bearing its emblem and date of foundation, which were to be sold to willing members. Many were indeed bought after the official part of the evening and the sale was expected to make a handsome profit.

The next three items on the Agenda, the Auditor's Report, Subscriptions for 1972-73 and the election of the Committee were speedily handled. Subscriptions remain unchanged. The Committee was re-elected by acclamation. The only change noted was Mr. Brunner's succession to Mr. P. Gut as one of the two Auditors.

The question of Donations, which was the next item on the Agenda, took the best part of the evening. The point at issue was the same as at the two previous AGM's, namely, whether or not to allocate the totality of Tombola proceeds to the four Swiss charitable organisations of London: The Swiss Benevolent Society and the three Churches. The Committee had proposed a £50 increase in donations to each of the Churches, and a £25 increase to the Swiss Benevolent Society, bringing contributions to each of them at £100. This, as Mr. L. Chappuis immediately pointed out, would leave £262.60 of excess income on the Charity Fund. What was going to be done with this money? Why should it be hoarded? Mr. Chappuis, who in previous years had already proved himself the champion of unstinting attribution of Tombola proceeds to Charity, demanded an answer.

The President recalled that one had to provide for the lean years and quoted Father Bosshard's statement of last year, when he said that the Churches were grateful for the present level of City Swiss Club donations and would rather ask for more when a serious reason arose. Mr. Brunner suggested that donations should be raised to £125, thereby exhausting most of the excess income. Mr. P. Gut thereupon intervened with the suggestion that the Tombola's decreased profits (from £691.71 in 1971) were due to the shabbiness of the prizes, the intolerable boredom of the speeches, the expense of Tombola tickets, the sickening croon of the entertainers, the antiquity of the band and the indifference of the Menu at the Annual Dinner and Ball.

Mr. Gut intimated that if the City Swiss Club hoped to raise more with its Tombolas, it had better improve the standard of its Annual Dinner and Ball. "Every year I ask my wife, shall we go to the City Swiss Club Annual Dance this year? I finally go there, invite several guests and spend a tremendous amount of money. But I'm afraid that it's not money well spent".

We were then to witness a series of heartfelt Swiss exchanges. Mr. Eddie Tobler, Member of the Committee and chief organiser of the Dinner Dance, somewhat peeved at the reference to the skimpiness of the prizes, cried out that if members were not satisfied with the prizes they won at the Tombola, they could jolly well contribute towards acquiring them. It was always the same people who paid for the prizes. Mr. Tobler said that he was "insulted" every year by people complaining that they hadn't won a Tombola prize. Mr. Gut jumped up from his chair with a flushed face and shouted "Well then, take £50!", and promptly signed a cheque for the said amount, which was joyously carried by Mr. F. Fraefel to the Treasurer before a startled audience.

Mr. Chappuis reverted to the subject by suggesting that all the proceeds of the Tombola should be given to charity since the reserves, currently at nearly £1,200, were sufficient to allay the President's worst fears about the Club lacking emergency funds. Mr. Chappuis therefore suggested that reserves should be frozen at £1,000 and every income bringing the fund above that level spent on Swiss charity.

There ensued lengthy palavers, proposals and counter-proposals. The Committee's original suggestion and those of Mr. Chappuis and Mr. Brunner were put to the vote, but there was disagreement on the outcome. The suggestion which gathered the most "in favour" show of hands, actually nearly produced the most "no" votes. One member questioned whether the City Swiss Club shouldn't have a closer look at the way its donations were being used, whereupon the members representing the Swiss Catholics, the Swiss Benevolent Society and the Consistoire of the Protestant Churches spontaneously rose, telling the attendance that they had nothing to hide and that their expenses were published in the Annual Accounts, copies of which were regularly sent to the City Swiss Club.

Eventually, after much talking, the AGM resolved to give £140 to each of the charities, which more than used up the 1971 Tombola proceeds and left over £1,000 reserves in the Charity Account.

Mr. Bion, who was awarded a vote of thanks for the "admirable way" in which he had handled this verbal turmoil, reminded members of two forthcoming events, the Card Evening on 23rd May and the Summer Ball on 16th June (tentative date) at the Thatched Barn, north of London.

The Stanhope Room was deserted at about 10 p.m.

To all sufferers from claustrophobia Swissair dedicates this advertisement and the newest Swissair planes.

SWISSAIR has remarked often enough, and at some length, what an enjoyment flying is. Not to mention that we go 17 times a week to New York, 3 times to Boston, 7 to Chicago, 4 to Montreal—facts by now sufficiently well known to connoisseurs.

Today, for once, we would like to address the people who have always read our splendid ads with a mixture of envy and regret (not because they can't afford the ticket or haven't the time for a holiday; not that at all).

We mean the people who simply can't bear to enter a lift, an underground train, or an aircraft, because they suffer from claustrophobia: a lift, an underground, or a plane is simply too confined for them. Anyone who doesn't know what it's like should be grateful; anyone who does know, knows for sure.

Thousands of people do, which makes this a problem for Swissair too. Up until now, sufferers from claustrophobia have had only the option of not flying, or if there was no help for it, of taking a double whisky against the time they must spend in a confined space.

Now things have changed.

Swissair has planes you can sit down in even when you can't bear cramped quarters. We mean our jumbo jets. They are big enough not only to seat 353 passengers, but to give each passenger ample space before, behind, around and above him. In a jumbo jet you have as much room as in a big hotel lobby, a restaurant, or a theatre.

The fact that Swissair can now fly, from the old world to the new, people who could never have flown before seems to us justification enough in itself for this advertisement.

And of course it's another opportunity to emphasize how splendid flying is (this time for everybody). And an opportunity to say that the jumbos fly 14 times a week from Switzerland to New York and 14 times from New York to Switzerland.

For all the people who feel cramped in Switzerland or even in enormous New York or wherever it may be.
