Also gratified with presents were Mrs. Grob and Mrs. Knoll, to whom Mrs. Gyssler gave what appeared to be a set or records wrapped in bright-coloured gift paper as a token of appreciation for their many years of cooperation with the Welfare Office.

ERNST H. TANGEMANN: NEW PRESIDENT OF THE CITY SWISS CLUB

During its last AGM, which was held on 17th April at the Dorchester Hotel, the City Swiss Club elected its new President in the person of Mr. Ernst H. Tangemann, Manager of the Union Bank of Switzerland's City Branch. He succeeds Mr. Walter Bion, General Manager of Bally's Shoe Company in the UK, who retires from the City Swiss Club presidency after having held it for two years.

Born in Zurich in 1924, Mr. Tangemann is a citizen of that city, in which he went to school until completion of the Diploma of the Kantonale Handelschule.

After three years of training in banking and commerce in Zurich, he joined the Union Bank of Switzerland, Geneva, in 1946, and remained there until 1962. He was then transferred to the Zurich Head Office and continued his activities in Foreign Exchange and Foreign Department.

In 1964, he was transferred to the Basle Branch in charge of the Foreign Exchange Department. In 1967, he was transferred to the newly-opened London Branch, where he was responsible for Euro-currency operations and Foreign exchange. Promoted at the end of 1971 as Manager, he was put in charge of the Branch on 1st April, 1972. The London Branch of the UBS is now classified as a main branch.

Mr. Tangemann's first stay in this country dates as far back as 1948/49. It was during this time that, as a student of English in a language school, he met a young Finnish lady, Stina Meyer, whom he married in Helsinki in 1951. They have one daughter, Christine, who is studying at Basle University.

We should like to extend our warmest congratulations to Mr. Tangemann and wish him many enriching years as President of the City Swiss Club.

Swiss Rifle Association

The Swiss Rifle Association held its Annual General Meeting at the end of March at the Glendower Hotel, Kensington. For technical reasons, it was not possible to enjoy a meal at the end of the meeting and the twenty members who were in attendance had a snack.

The Committee was re-elected by acclamation under the chairmanship protem of Mr. Adolf Schmid, co-founder of the Society, and former President.

Mr. Marcel Bucherer, the actual President, reviewed a highly successful year with the usual ten competitions and two outside matches. The Association could make continued use of the Siberia Range at Bisley. More participation was urged from members, particularly as regards marking of targets, a task hitherto entrusted to a few junior and dedicated members.

The Association welcomed 17 new members but lost 22, mainly through departures, so that its membership now stands at 74. Shooting activity last year was at the same level as the previous years with not far from 6,000 rounds of ammunition being fired.

This shooting year, which began on 29th April at Bisley, will see two outside matches. The Swiss Rifle Association will meet the Kensington Rifle Club and the Surrey Rifle Association on 1st July and 16th September respectively. Shooting sessions will take place on the Long Siberia Range at Bisley on 13th May, 3rd June, 17th June, 1st July, 26th August, 16th September and 7th October.

Swiss Benevolent Society

The Swiss Benevolent Society held its Annual General Meeting on 9th April. A fair attendance accepted the Annual Report, which we re-print below, and the accounts of the Society. In the absence of the President, Mr. Schneebeli, called abroad on business, proceedings were conducted by Mr. M. Rothlisberger. The main event of an otherwise routine meeting was the resignation of Mr. J. Oertli and Mr. X. Speckert, both of whom had served on the Society's Committee for very many years.

The people with whom we are in touch either apply to us directly or they are referred to us by the Embassy, the Swiss Churches, Hospitals and Social Workers. Last year, we were in touch with 356 persons (100 men, 185 women and 71 children). Some of them we managed to see, with others we maintained contact through letters and telephone calls. A total of 687 interviews included 159 visits to people who could not come to our office owing to illness and age or because the distances were too daunting for them. In November, the Secretary spent a couple of days in Bournemouth to meet personally a number of pensioners and other Swiss people who had contacted us for various problems. This journey showed once again how important the direct contact is. In one case in particular, the correspondence had conveyed a completely wrong picture of a person's situation because, through age and illness, she had become incapable of expressing herslef adequately. Much more appropriate action could be taken once her needs were established.

The number of pensioners remained fairly stable at 57 against 54 the previous year. They still receive the largest share of financial help and, in addition, for some of those in receipt of the Swiss Old Age Pension, we continue arrangements whereby we pay them regular two or fourweekly instalments, depending on circumstances and needs. To them it is a much appreciated help, especially if, during their working lives, they were used to weekly incomes and find that managing comparatively large amounts can be frought with difficulties.

To pensioners and others, we have had to give more casual grants for specific needs than in the past, as the cost of living kept rising steadily. The elderly in particular are finding things very difficult and during the year we have realised that a number of them, some of whom we used to know as quite cheerful people, were battling against a strong feeling of futility and depression.

It may be coincidental, but more people are considering returning to Switzerland. Whilst understanding that desire, we feel obliged to discuss all this

The International Bank for International People.

Lloyds & Bolsa International Bank is strongly established in Western Europe and the Western Hemisphere.

LBI has a wide direct representation in the EEC and Switzerland, and is also the only British bank with a branch network covering virtually the whole of Latin America.

LBI plays an important role in the Eurocurrency market and has arranged finance for many major projects world wide.

The LBI Group, through its branches, associates and representatives in New York, Nassau, Paris, Frankfurt, Brussels, Amsterdam and Zurich, has a direct access to principal sources of foreign currencies in all the world's great financial centres.

To these established features should be added LBI's experience and reputation gained in Eastern Europe, Japan, the Middle East and Australasia, and the Bank's valuable links with Lloyds Bank Limited and the Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh.

The Bank's multi-currency capability, its skill in tailoring the use of funds to meet specific requirements, its spread of branches and representatives throughout the world, all combine to make LBI of essential interest to any business operating across national frontiers.

LBI has branches in Zurich, Geneva and Lugano. Contact the specialists:

very fully with them and warn them that life in Switzerland is not what it used to be either when they were last there, in some instances a good many years ago. In addition, close relatives and friends have mostly died or the contact with them was so loose that they have become strangers and the reunion might not be the happy event hoped for. Also, our compatriots who have been abroad for many years tend to be more fluent in English than their mother tongue which some have all but forgotten. In our experience, after a stay abroad of more than about 20 years, the return is a difficult thing unless very regular contact has been maintained with relatives and friends and the country and its evolution.

This whole question of deciding on the best way of spending the last few years is a vexed and painful one to many of our clients. They are loathe to give up their independance but have to come to terms with being less able to fend for themselves. Voluntary and statutory services provide more and more help but the time comes when even this is no longer sufficient

Another way in which we can help our pensioners and others is by financing, partly or totally, holidays which give them a break from the humdrum of everyday life. Quite a number have availed themselves of our offer and spent a week or two either in a guest house or with some friends or relatives. For the latter, we provide the fares and a little extra spending money.

Christmas was, as usual, a very busy 129 parcels were sent to 200 time. The Frauenverein and the people. Reunion de Couture supplied us again with a great number of beautiful garments made with much loving care and, thanks to the generosity of a number of Swiss firms and individuals, we were, once more, able to make the parcels attractive as well as useful. Their contents varied according to needs from the very large ones to families to small tokens for people whose needs were not really material, but who are lonely in this country and appreciate the thought of someone bothering about them. Mmes. Raulin and Kaluza were in charge as usual and in the packing and distribution were ably assisted by Mmes. Burri, Gyssler and Harhalakis and Mr. Buol. All parcels in the London area were once more delivered personally. Our grateful thanks go to all those who, in one way or another, have helped to make Christmas a little bit happier for our friends.

We had about the same number of youngsters stranded in London who had to be assisted to return to Switzerland but, owing to the fact that they now refund the money to the Police Department in Berne, the workload appeared a lot smaller and less frustrating than in the past.

There was another considerable increase in the number of children whom we helped to go to Switzerland for a holiday, mainly under the Pro Juventute scheme. Through the circulars sent out by the Embassy, more families of modest means come to know about it and are eager for their youngsters to have this chance to spend a few weeks away from home. Judging by the happy mob who returned at the end of August, a good time was had by all, although there are always one or two who have difficulty in adapting to the new way of life and who are a little disappointed.

During the year, the house at Conway Street was given a complete facelift on the outside. Its rooms have been satisfactorily occupied, partly by students staying for a period of time and partly by youngsters needing emergency accommodation for a few nights. In summer, the previous caretakers left and there was a somewhat difficult period when we had no help, but now we are very happy with a young couple who have brought a new atmosphere to the place.

Our property at Belsize Grove continues to be occupied by the Swiss Hostel for Girls, which still fulfills its important function amongst the young coming here for studies, work or holidays.

The Committee met regularly once a month to deal with any business needing its attention. This formula of monthly instead of twice-monthly meetings seems to answer present needs.

We regret to report that during the year, we lost two members of the General Committee through death, Mr. Olivier Beguin and Mr. Alfred Schmid.

We are very grateful indeed to our Honorary President, His Excellency the Swiss Ambassador, Dr. A. Weitnauer, for his continued interest and support of our activities. The Counsellor M. C. H. Bruggmann and the Consul M. F. Adams again represented the Embassy at our Executive Meetings.

Our thanks go to all those whose support has helped us in some way to carry out our work: the Swiss Federal the Swiss Embassy in Authorities, London, the Swiss Churches, the Swiss Societies in London, the Swiss Observer, English Social Workers of both private and statutory bodies and very specially our many individual friends and supporters without whose interest and generous gifts we could not hope to exist. We also wish to express particular appreciation to the Finance Committee in whose able hands rests the handling of the Society's investments. And to terminate, we thank the British Authorities for their hospitality and assistance. We would not wish to close this report without thanking our Secretary, Mrs. A.-R. Sharp for the work accomplished during the year.

On behalf of the Executive Committee

CORRECTION

We have been asked by the Secretary of the Benevolent Society to correct the impression which readers may have gathered from our account on the life of the Swiss in Morocco and Algeria (9th March). As an aside, we wrote that one of the most frequent tasks of the Swiss Benevolent Society in London is the assistance to youngsters who get stranded in Britain. In fact, of the 356 people on the Society's books in 1972, only 68 were in connection with help for repatriation.

Parliamentary group examines British tourism

A reception was given by the Embassy on 4th May in honour of a visiting delegation of Swiss Parliamentarians and officials on a fact-finding visit to Britain. The 36-strong delegation was led by Mr. Enrico Franzoni, Speaker of the National Council. Mr. Franzoni was in London in his capacity of Chairman of the "Swiss Parliamentary Group for Tourism and Traffic". For a week, members of this group and thier wives, including its Secretary, Dr. Teuscher, and the Vice-Director of the Federal Transport Office, Dr. Burki, toured Britain to see what the UK had to propose in the way of tourism and traffic.

They began their visit by a tour of the Houses of Parliament and the Swiss Centre. They were put in the picture of British tourism by Mr. L.G. Lickorish, Director General of the British Tourist Authority. From the 5th to the 10th of May, the Swiss team visited the provinces, namely, Bristol, Worcester, Stratford on Avon, Coventry, Derby and Manchester. They returned to Zurich from Manchester.

ANGLO-SWISS SOCIETY

Well over a hundred members were in attendance at the Dorchester on the evening of 2nd May to hear Dr. Fred Luchsinger, Editor of the Neue Zürcher Zeitung and guest of the Anglo-Swiss Society, develop the theme "Switzerland and the European Challenge".

For the first time, an Anglo-Swiss Society after-dinner speech was followed by a session of questions, which in fact lasted up to 11.00 p.m. As dinner had begun at 8.00 p.m., some members had already started to leave towards the end of this extended question-time.

Dr. Luchsinger's speech was outstanding for its truly perfect and most distinguished English. Answering the many questions that his talk had aroused, the Speaker showed that he did not require the support of notes to speak in his distinguished manner.

His speech touched on a well-worn subject, but probably less so for many British members of the audience. Dr. Luchsinger was strongly in favour of better ties between Switzerland and Europe, but with the habitual Swiss proviso that neutrality should not be impeached in any way. Fully in step with the Swiss Government, he discounted prospects of full membership to the EEC as a threat to our sovereignty and complete neutrality.

Many of the questions raised later referred to Switzerland's link to the Comecon, or Soviet-block Common Market. Dr. Luchsinger recalled that
