FRED NYFFELER †

We have learned the sad news of the death of Mr. Fred Nyffeler, one of Europe's best-known artists in decorative chocolate work. Mr. Nyffeler, a former reader of our publication, died at his home in Harlesden on Good Friday. He had recently returned home from hospital and passed away in his sleep.

Mr. Nyffeler, who was in his late seventies, came to this country as a young man. In his youth he worked in hotels and was at one time a patissier at the Dorchester. Subsequently he was with the Nestle Co. and with the famous Floris establishment and for some years past he had been a consultant with the Mars organisation.

In this country he was universally known as Mr. Fredericks and under that name he won many medals and awards in the chocolate classes at Hotelympia in the '50s.

Swiss Railways represented at Model Railway Exhibition

The most elaborate display to be seen at the 48th National Model Railway Exhibition, which was held at Central Hall, Westminster, from 24th to 28th April, was a remarkable model of a fictitious Küssnachtseebahn. This model displayed an elaborate standard gauge network, connected to a narrow gauge line leading to a mountain resort. A station, a depot, lines criss-crossing on the mountain-side and a set of tunnels made this railway microcosm as complicated as the real thing. Two of its designers, sporting Federal Railways conductor caps, were controlling this tangled network by pressing buttons on a control panel and co-ordinating their decisions with an intercom while a crowd of spectators pressed around them.
