CORRECTION

An unfortunate error appeared in our report (14th February) on the departure of two members of the Embassy. Dr. Juerg Iseline, who was until early February, First Collaborator of the Ambassador, married in 1950 and not in 1955 as was erroneously stated. Mr. Fritz Adams, our departing Consul General has two boys and a girl, Daniele, 11, and not three boys as stated.

Another member of the Embassy shall be leaving London shortly, he is Dr. Franz Birrer, Cultural Attaché. We shall be reporting more in detail in a forthcoming issue.

CONCERT AT WIGMORE HALL BY WELL-KNOWN YOUNG MUSICIANS

Alfred Knüsel (cello), and Russell Lomas (piano), will be performing at Wigmore Hall, 36 Wigmore Street, London W1, on Tuesday, 11th March, 1975, at 7.30 p.m.

Alfred Knüsel

Alfred Knüsel, born in Lucerne, is a popular artist in Switzerland and broadcasts regularly. His studies of his chosen instrument have been in great depth and from reports he has obtained great intensity of tone and he possesses extremely expressive 'cantilena' and virtuosity which enables him to tackle the trickiest of passages with elegance.

Russell Lomas (piano), was born in Manchester. He studied at the Royal Manchester College of Music and from there has progressed through diplomas and specialised courses to become one of the top-flight young accompanists.

Their programme will include: Sonata No. 3 in G major by Boccherini; Suite No. 2 for solo cello by Bloch; Sonata Op. 255 (first London performance) by Alan Hovhaness; Sonata in F major Op. 5 No. 1 by Beethoven.

Seating enquiries: Telephone: 01-935 2141.

SWISS MERCANTILE SOCIETY

The Swiss Mercantile Society held its Annual Dinner and Dance on Saturday, 1st February, at the Orchid Suite of the Dorchester Hotel. It was, as usual, a friendly function with many known faces. Attendance seemed to be slightly down on previous annual dinners with eight or nine tables spaced out across the Orchid Suite, the scene of so many Swiss functions over the years. Dr. Albert Weitnauer, our Ambassador, who is Honorary President of the Society, honoured the evening with his presence and greeted the guests, together with Mr. A. Jaccard, President, and Mrs. Jaccard at the entrance of the opening reception.

The menu was excellent and had a distinct Dorchester flavour with a traditional fish dish as starter. The menu read as follows: La Bordure de Sole au Pernod, Le Riz Pilaff, Le Fricandeau de Veau à la Moutarde, Les Nouilles à l'Emmental, Le Brocoli au Beurre, Le Savarin à l'Ananas au Kirsch, Le café, Les Petits Fours. This description in French gives the idea of a rather fancy and exotic meal, but like all restaurant menus it tends to enhance on paper something that was not all that different from an ordinary Sunday lunch.

Shortly after the toasts to the Queen and to Switzerland, Mr. Jaccard rose for his welcoming address and spoke as follows:

"With the exciting events which attended the ceremonial re-opening of Swiss House last November still fresh in our minds, I think it is most pleasant to meet again in a less formal atmosphere and it is, therefore, in a relaxed mood that I welcome you tonight on behalf of the Swiss Mercantile Society.

"The explanation for the fall in attendance in contrast to last year's bumper presence of members and friends, far from being due to lack of effort on our part to attract support, may be found in the economic uncertainties besetting us at present and we can only express the hope that these will be resolved in the not too distant future.

Before turning the page on the subject of Swiss House I must, however, refer once again to the part played by the Ambassador, our Honorary President, who has kindly agreed, once again to honour us by his presence.

"It has fallen to me on more than one occasion to express our thoughts on Dr. Weitnauer's share in our enterprise, which testifies to his close and warm interest, not only in our aims but also in the rising generation whose broadening of experience will assist them in the shouldering of their responsibilities as future leaders of the Swiss economy.

"The support which Dr. Weitnauer has felt able to give us in bringing to fruition a desire, long dormant but finally brought to realisation will link his name indissolubly with Swiss House and our deepest gratitude is therefore due to him for his valued assistance.

"This function, which is usually marked by good spirit and fellowship is tonight tinged with a certain melancholy due to the imminent departure from this country of two very popular members of the Embassy staff, Monsieur J. A. Iselin, Ministre Plénipotentiaire and Monsieur F. Adams, Consul-General, which will leave a great void in the colony.
