Zurich's much travelled musicians

THE Zurich Chamber Orchestra began as a professional body in 1954 and belongs to one of the distinguished groups of its kind. Its reputation is established all over the world. The main area of its activities is Europe.

Its travels have taken it from Finland to North Africa, from Oslo to Athens, and places including Vienna, Berlin and Sevilla – not to forget the United States as far as San Francisco.

In 1968 the orchestra appeared with great success at the Israel Festival. In 1970 they toured the USA for the fourth time. In April and May of 1971, they visited Japan, Australia and New Zealand for the first time.

In the Far East the concerts were so successful that the orchestra has been invited again. In 1974 they toured the Soviet Union giving concerts in four cities. The orchestra has also appeared at many international music festivals.

The orchestra's repertoire includes works of the baroque and early classical era. It has made many recordings.

Among the soloists who have appeared with the orchestra the following are worth mentioning: Yehudi Menuhin, Maria Stader, Teresa Berganza, Sir Clifford Curzon, James Galway, Norma Procter, Sir Peter Pears, Ernst Häfliger, Wilhelm Backhaus, Arturo B. Michelangeli, Maurizio Pollini, Claudio Arrau, Wilhelm Kempf, Martha Argerich, Ruggiero Ricci, Paul and Maud Tortelier, Maurice André, Jean-Pierre Rampal, Nikita Magaloff, Aurèle Nicolet, Heinz Holliger, Igor Oistrach, Pierre Fournier, Itzhak Perlman, Georg Malcolm.

The orchestra has commissioned some important works of contemporary composers, in particular Frank Martin's "Polyptique" for solo violin and two orchestras and Penderecki's "Lukas Passion".

Both are dedicated to the Zurich Chamber Orchestra and Edmond de Stoutz. The first is also dedicated to Yehudi Menuhin who gave the first performance. The latest work which was finished in 1979 is a "Suite à l'Image du Temps" by the Swiss composer Norbert Moret.

This work was recently performed in North America by the orchestra and proved to be successful. In Switzerland it has also aroused much interest.
