TOY

SINCE opening to the public in September 1981, the Zurich Toy Museum has received 25,000 visitors.

Entrance to the museum, with its fascinating displays of toys and dolls, is free, so it could be a real highlight for anyone on holiday in Switzerland with children.

The exhibits are drawn from all over Europe, with enough trains and trucks, to keep the boys happy while their sisters gaze at the beautifully made and costumed dolls.

And for the youngsters back home - you can bring back some of the attractive postcards which feature the exhibits.
