OUR PRIZE STORY.

(Following is an attempt in verse—hors concours—to finish "Auda" story (see "S.O." May 18th and June 1st.)

The Ticket.
(Conclusion.)

Time passed: that ticket won a prize,
The wife could scarce believe her eyes.
She thought, "That settles my old fellow—
His books, his temper and his 'cello
Will no more make my life a Hades;
I'll join the ranks of those fine ladies
Who figure in the Sketch and Tatler,
Whose deeds the journalistic prattler
Loves to descant on for those readers
Who take an interest in the leaders
Of fashion, beauty, rank and high life—
What a dog's life has been my life!
Marriage, 'tis said, is like a lottery.
Tied to this dago old and tottery
I drew a number far from winning
When I took him—but I'm beginning
To see new vistas spread before me,
People will flatter, crowds adore me.
But stay! I'll leave him just a keepsake
Out of my winnings from the Sweepstake;
This cottage hasn't got much beauty,
Perhaps I'll make it my last duty
To get the roof and windows mended,
To see these leaky pipes are ended."
Alas for all her dreams of glory,
Here comes the horror of the story—
She sent for a builder and a plumber,
They laboured on through Spring and Summer.
An honest soul, she paid their bill,
And she lives with her horrible husband still.
Moral (of a sort):
If you take a cottage that needs repair
Make "Repairing" fall to the landlord's share.
"AUDACIOUS."

CITY SWISS CLUB.

A la veille du Derby, combien sourient à la pluie, la puissante alliée de leur favori, vainqueur du lendemain à Epsom? Cependant que le Comité du City Swiss Club, soucieux non seulement du succès de sa première réunion d'été de l'année à Hendon, mais aussi des délicieuses toilettes que nos dames nous réservant pour ces occasions, regardait non sans inquiétude les gros nuages noirs déversant de copieuses averse, de quoi intimider beaucoup...

Malgré cette inclemence du temps, environ 80 membres du City Swiss Club, leurs dames et amis, se donnèrent rendez-vous mardi soir au Brent Bridge Hotel et aucun ne regrettera d'avoir bravé l'orage. S'il fut impossible de goûter les délices des magnifiques jardins de l'hôtel, le brio dans la jolie salle de banquet et de danse ne fit qu'y gagner, sous l'habile direction de notre incomparable M.C., Monsieur Ch. Chapuis.

L'on regretta par contre l'absence de nombreux fidèles de ces réunions, en particulier celle de notre sympathique rapporteur 'ck'; les 'surprises' qu'il nous avait si obligeamment apportées de Paris à l'intention de cette réunion firent la joie des quatre dames désignées par le sort (personnifiées, faute de mieux, par deux graves banquiers).

A part les toasts traditionnels et quelques très brèves paroles de bienvenue du Président, aux-quelles Monsieur Watson, de Singapour, répondit en termes très aimables au nom des invités, il n'y eut pas de discours; par contre, beaucoup de gaieté et les danses se prolongèrent jusque tard, bien après la fuite précipitée de ceux, y compris votre serviteur, qui—faute d'auto—durent courir à leur dernier train...

Rappelez-vous, chers lecteurs, que la seconde réunion d'été au Brent Bridge Hotel aura lieu le mardi 2 juillet. J.Z.

Louis Moritz Delaraye.

The Swiss Colony in Birmingham had a very great shock when it learned of the untimely death of a dear compatriot, Mr. Louis Delaraye, the General Manager of the Grand Hotel and the Midland Hotel in Birmingham. Mr. Delaraye expired suddenly at his residence in Shirley, Birmingham, on Saturday afternoon, the 1st of June, at the age of 53. He was attending to his business in the morning as usual and appeared to be in good health, but on arriving at his home he complained of feeling unwell and expired shortly afterwards owing to heart-trouble.

Mr. Delaraye came to Birmingham some 15 years ago from London, where he had been occupying a responsible position at the Savoy Hotel, and no doubt he is well known there amongst a large number of friends and acquaintances. Here in Birmingham he was one of the best known and most capable men in his profession, highly respected and esteemed by everyone.

Although Mr. Delaraye, for some reason or other, never participated very actively in the functions of the Swiss Club in Birmingham, nevertheless he was always ready and willing to assist quietly and indirectly. He was an ardent and keen patriot, who always had the interest of his native country at heart. He attained his position by untiring energy and merit. His memory will be cherished by all who knew him.

The remains of the deceased were cremated at Perry Bar, Birmingham, on Wednesday, June 5th. A large number of his friends and compatriots attended to pay their last sad tribute of respect. By special request no flowers or wreaths were placed on the coffin, but instead of that it was draped with the emblem of our nationality, the Swiss flag.
