PEOPLE IN NEED

During the autumn holidays (7th to 18th October), the Basle school boys and girls have undertaken work of all kinds to help people in need, whether Czech refugees, hungry Biafrans or earthquake victims. The initiative was taken by the youth group of a Basle Church Parish, and the whole campaign is based on the principle of "no begging". They work in shops, agriculture, hospitals, do baby sitting, car washing, carpet beating, window cleaning and any other job.

The Federal Council has granted another 1.5 million francs towards assistance schemes for Tibetan refugees in India. It will enable the campaign to settle some 9,000 Tibetans and to set them up in a trade or other suitable occupation.

The Swiss Red Cross keeps two stationary teams of medical and paediatric experts in South Vietnam. At Da Nang, they have their own children's pavilion built from money given by the Swiss Confederation and the Red Cross. This kind of help is not possible in North Vietnam, therefore, an X-ray plant and 2,000 surgical instruments were sent.

The Bernese Commune Councillor, Dr. G. Schuerch, Red Cross Delegate in Lagos, reported that thanks to the help of the International Red Cross in Nigeria, several hundred thousand children had been saved. The five Red Cross charter planes use the air corridor continuously and deliver food and medical equipment to Biafra — 2,677 tons since April. All help in Switzerland has been co-ordinated, and monetary contributions from all parts of the country total many million francs. The "Glückskette" Campaign of the Swiss Radio alone brought in nearly 4 million francs.

With regard to the Czechoslovak refugees in Switzerland, their number is estimated at 7,000. Over 1,000 applications for political asylum have been made to the Federal Police Department and 200 to cantonal authorities. Some 600 refugees have so far decided to go further afield, and the authorities are in contact with Canada and Australia, as well as with the International Committee of Migration in Geneva. There is still a transit camp at Buchs run by voluntary Red Cross helpers, where new refugees are looked after until they can be sent on. Most of the refugees are educated and trained people, and as they are excluded from the foreign workers' ceiling, there is no difficulty in finding work. Of 200 doctors, 150 are already working in Swiss hospitals. Housing is more difficult. 400 Czech refugees have registered at the Gewerbeschule in Zurich, mostly for German lessons. At Frauenfeld, the education authorities have decided to form a special class for the ten Czech school children, seeing that there was a teacher amongst the immigrants.

The Valais writers and authors organised a fast day on 13th October in solidarity with their Czech colleagues. The International Jury at the Film Festival in Locarno retired unanimously, as they were not willing to do the judging without their Czech colleague Miss Jiri Menzel. A Jury from amongst the "Jury des Jeunes" took over to everybody's satisfaction.

The Federal Council confirmed that the former Czech Minister of Economy Mr. Ota Sik has arrived in Switzerland with his family, probably to ask for asylum.
